JFK Defends Berlin Talks

Senate Rejects Bid To Cut Off Debate

Move To Kill Literacy Bill Loses, 64-33

Mansfied Plans Another Cloture Attempt Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate smacked down an effort Wednesday to limit debate on the Kennedy administration's voter literacy test bill, then gave the bill itself a rousing vote of support.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, heartened by the second vote, quickly set the stage for a second try Monday at shutting off debate.

The effort to invoke cloture — limited debate — was voted down 53 to 43, failing even to win a favorable majority. It needed approval of two-thirds of those voting — 64 votes in this case.

64-33 Against Tabling

The second test, forced by Mansfield with a move to table the bill, brought a solid endorsement with a 64-33 vote to keep it alive. A vote to table kills a bill.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the refusal to kill showed that 67 senators — more than two-thirds of the Senate membership — favored the measure. He included three absentees known to favor it.

But Dirksen added the Senate would not vote to limit debate so there is no choice but to go on.

Senators are traditionally reluctant to cut off debate.

The Senate has not voted cloture since 1927 when it was used to pass a bill creating a bureau to enforce prohibition. It has never been used successfully to break a filibuster against civil rights legislation.

Bill Debated Two Weeks

The bill has been debated by the Senate for two weeks. It would exempt persons with a sixth-grade education from having to pass a literacy test to vote in federal elections. The bill's supporters say the tests have been used in some Southern areas to keep Negroes from voting.

On the cloture vote, Democrats divided evenly on the issue 30 to 30, with Republicans voting 23 to 13 against limiting debate.

On the move to table, which Mansfield made only to guage sentiment, 38 Democrats and 26 Republicans voted against tabling, and 23 Democrats, mostly Southerners, and 10 Republicans in favor.

Debate Continues On Literacy Bill

Laotian Reds Again Ready To Talk Unity

But Rebels Balk At Investigation Of Truce Violation

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The latest Laotian crisis has swung full circle back to the familiar ground of political deadlock. The pro-Communist rebels were reported Wednesday ready to return to unity talks again but the Reds balked at an investigation of their violation of the truce.

British informants said the Soviet Union and Communist Poland stymied efforts by the United States and Britain to promote an international investigation of the cease-fire violation by pro-Communist troops who captured Nam Tha from its royal government garrison Sunday.

Ball, Soviet Envoy Confer

The Soviet Union is cochairman with Britain of the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos. Poland is a member of the three-nation control commission which has yet to win authority to make an on-spot inquiry into any field violation of the cease-fire proclaimed May 3, 1961. India and Canada are the other members.

In Washington, Acting Secretary of State George W. Ball summoned Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin to discuss the case.

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman said no agreement was reached on any specific point in a talk between British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Though barred from Nam Tha, the control commissioners made a flying visit to rebel headquarters at Khang Khay.

Rebel Leaders Absent

They accompanied Malcolm MacDonald, British cochairman of the Geneva conference, who happened to be in Laos on an unofficial visit when the pro-Communist offensive drove a 5,000-man garrison from Nam Tha, a royal government stronghold 20 miles from the frontier of Red China.

The rebel leaders—neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and his Red half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong of the Pathet Lao—were absent. Souvanna is visiting in France. Souphanouvong was reported in rebel-held Sam Neua province, nursing an eye ailment. The party talked with their subordinates and with the Soviet charge d'affaires at Khang Khay, where the Soviet Union has established an embassy.

President Hopes Soviets Will Back Laos Truce Effort

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Wednesday the United States intends to continue its Berlin talks with Russia — even though they may fail — because it is better to "jaw-jaw than war-war."

Citing Sir Winston Churchill's famous phrase on the need for diplomatic discussions, the President said that every effort must be made to resolve the dangerous Berlin situation.

"We shall continue to jaw, jaw," he said, "and see if we can produce a useful result.

"We may fail, but in my opinion, the effort is worth it when we are dealing with such dangerous matters, and when we have seen the history of this century, when statesmen, leaders and others have brought about failure, and brought about war as a result."

He made the comment at his news conference when asked about the objections to U.S. Berlin policy now being increasingly voiced by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who has said the U.S.-Soviet talks have gotten nowhere and will get nowhere.

Hopes For Soviet Aid In Laos

Questions on Berlin and Laos highlighted the international aspects of Kennedy's meeting with reporters. In discussing Laos he said he hoped Russia would throw its support behind efforts to restore the Laotian cease-fire so that conferences aimed at making the country neutral could continue.

But the major part of the questions concerned Berlin, and the attacks made by Adenauer on U. S. Berlin policy in recent days.

Kennedy said it was "quite natural" that Allies such as West Germany might differ with U.S. plans. But he said the differences were not as great as they might appear.

But, in an apparent reference to Adenauer's news conferences and previous news leaks on U.S. plans from Bonn, Kennedy said that public debate on such matters "makes it very difficult to negotiate with the Soviet Union."

If another government wanted to object to a U.S. proposal, he said, it should simply inform Washington.

Much of Adenauer's criticism has centered on the US.. plan for an international commission to control access routes to West Berlin. Under this proposal, Communist East Germany would have a hand in the commission's decisions.

Wouldn't Mean Recognition

Kennedy said this would not mean U.S. recognition of East Germany, however. He said that since the United States bears the main responsibility for the defense of Germany, this country ought to have the right to explore various possibilities for reducing tension with Russia.

The President also:

—Said many people were being "badly misinformed" by savings and loan associations and other opponents of his proposal to have a withholding tax on interest and dividends. He emphasized this would not be a new tax, merely a new method of collecting one.

—Said he was pleased at the results of state primaries in the last few days, particularly Florida and Texas. Asked if he would make any endorsement in the Texas runoff, he said he would not because Texans would resent any outside interference.

—Reiterated his position that the government would not intervene in labor disputes that do not substantially affect the "health and safety" of the nation. He made the statement when asked about a spreading construction

Employment Up, Jobless Total Below 4 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment soared last month to a record high of 67,027,000 for April and unemployment dipped below four million for the first time this year.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, announcing the gains Wednesday, said this is an encouraging sign and stated he was optimistic the nation would reach President Kennedy's goal of not more than four per cent unemployment by mid-1963.

He said the economy can and will do better.

Joblessness dropped by 430,000 to 3,952,000 during the month and the number of employed mounted simultaneously by 711,000 making the April employment total of 67,027,000 an increase of 1,293,000 over the number holding jobs a year earlier.

However, improvement was normal for the season and the unemployment rate, which is adjusted to take this into account, remained at 5.5 per cent of the civilian labor force, the same as in March but well below the 6.9 per cent of a year ago.

Those out of work 15 weeks or longer, called long-term unemployed, remained unchanged at 1½ million.

But there was encouragement in the fact that 450,000 of the 711,000 increase in employed was in nonfarm jobs, sending nonagricultural jobs to an April record of 61.9 million—1.2 million more than a year earlier.

Launch Of Flashing Satellite Set Today

Secrecy Lid Lifted By Defense Dept.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Defense Department lifted a secrecy lid Wednesday, announcing that it will attempt to launch a flashing beacon satellite Thursday to help map the earth more precisely.

Officials said the unusual move was made to enable the world's scientific community to participate in the experiment. All foreign nations, including the Soviet Union, are invited to help observe the satellite's flashes and share their measurements.

The blinking lights will not be triggered initially until trackers have had three days to make exact determination of the satellite's path.

The announcement was a victory for a group of U..S. scientists who argued before Congress last month that the Defense Department should remove security wraps from the satellite project, named Anna, an acronym for Army, Navy, NASA and Air Force.

Defense planners said worldwide dissemination of Anna's data might permit the Soviet Union to aim its missiles more accurately at U.S. targets. It also could help U.S. military strategists more effectively plot Soviet targets.

Scientists like Dr. James Van Allen of the University of Iowa and Dr. Fred Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said the precise location and distance to targets in America already is known with sufficient accuracy for the large payloads of long-range missiles. They contended that in order to obtain maximum geodetic data from the satellite, observations should be made from hundreds of stations in many countries.

By giving scientists a known point in space to be photographed against a background of stars, it will allow them to make better measurements of distances between far-apart points on the earth's surface. Distances between cities on ocean-separated continents now are known only to within an accuracy of about 500 feet while some remote island positions are off by a mile or more.

Officials say Anna could reduce the errors to within 50 feet.

Inquiry Scans Mutual Funds Sales Gimmicks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some tricks taught mutual fund salesmen were read from a training manual Wednesday at a Securities and Exchange Commission inquiry into whether there should be more federal control of securities selling.

SEC attorney Meyer Eisenberg questioned whether sales tactics suggested in a manual by Kalb, Voorhis & Co., a New York Stock Exchange brokerage firm, matched the standards avowed by the blossoming mutual fund industry. A partner in the firm, Ferdinand Nauheim, said he saw nothing unethical in the suggested techniques.

Nauheim's firm deals primarily in stocks. But he said it gets business from mutual funds in return for supplying them with special services designed to help train salesmen and promote customer interest in mutual funds.

Nauehim said his firm last year had sold more than $75,000 in training and sales aids but received cash payments for only about 13 per cent of the total.

The funds place orders and instruct his firm to credit the resulting commissions to various dealers pushing fund shares, Nauheim explained. The dealers then use their credits to buy the special material prepared by the brokerage house, he said.

In most cases, Nauheim said, it takes twice as much commission business to buy one of the special aids as would be required for a cash purchase. This mark-up is necessary, he said, because it costs money to execute orders on the exchange.

This was another of the reciprocal back-scratching selling arrangements between sellers of stocks and mutual funds described in the public hearing, now in its third day.

In this connection, the inquiry also heard of a not-very-successful nationwide publicity campaign financed by a New York Stock Exchange brokerage house to promote mutual fund sales. William G. Damroth, president of Templeton, Damroth Corp., New York, explained that A. G. Becker & Co. undertook the campaign in hope that mutual funds would give it their stock exchange business.

Damroth said some funds did divert business to Becker but that the amount was insufficient to justify the continued expense. In addition, he said, the publicity drive for the mutual funds was not satisfactory.

Adenauer Aide Seeks To Spike Rift Impression

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German press chief Felix von Eckardt interpreted Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's statements on American probing talks with the Soviet Union on Berlin as nothing more than an effort to deflate unjust fied optimism.

"The chancellor said nothing that U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has not already said several times, that the U.S.-Soviet talks have made no recognizable progress," Von Eckardt told a news conference Wednesday.

Adenauer told newsmen in Berlin Tuesday he saw no ground for continuing the talks, and indicated he saw a danger in going on with them unless they showed results. Rusk never has suggested a breakoff of the talks and intends to resume them on his return to Washington from the Far East.

Coming soon after a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting at Athens Greece, at which West Germany indicated satisfaction with the way Rusk has conducted the talks, Adenauer's remarks created an impression of a Western rift in Washington and London.

Informed sources here speculated that Adenauer was displeased that NATO took no action about creating an independent NATO nuclear force, and was taking this means to show that President Kennedy's administration cannot lightly disregard his wishes. Adenauer strongly favors an independent nuclear force.

Von Eckardt said he felt, however, that the chancellor's Berlin remarks were not reported fully enough to give the correct impression.

"The chancellor stressed the great confidence West Germany has in the United States and the gratitude of West Germany for the Berlin policy the Americans have followed over the last 12 years," he said.

He said Rusk's talks with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin in Washington had been reported with an optimism not borne out by the facts, but he added this does not mean that the talks should not continue.

Levy Is Made Against Estes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced Wednesday it is assessing Billie Sol Estes $554,162.71 in marketing penalties on 1961 crop cotton.

This cotton was grown on acreage allotments which the department said Estes, west Texas financier, had obtained illegally. The cotton was grown in three Texas counties.

The Estes cotton was grown on 3,123 acres of allotments which have been the center of charges that Estes received favored treatment from the department.

They were allotments which belonged to farmers whose land had been obtained by government agencies under the right of eminent domain. Estes and the others claimed they had sold land to these displaced farmers—land on which farmers reclaimed their old cotton allotments.

Estes contended he had leased the land and allotments from these farmers. The department said an investigation had shown the transaction were not bonafide land sales but a scheme to obtain valuable allotments in violation of law.

Divorce Ends Dinah's Marriage Of 18 Years

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Dinah Shore, whose most famous song is "It's So Nice to Have a Man Around the House," testified Wednesday that she didn't.

She got a divorce decree, ending her 18-year marriage to cowboy actor George Montgomery in six minutes.

French Move To Stamp Out OAS Terror

ALGIERS (AP) —Deportations, citywide searches and total curfews in sealed-off areas were decreed by authorities Wednesday in a new drive to stamp out the European Secret Army Organization terror in Algiers and Oran.

Massive police reinforcements to enforce the new measures will be moved into the two seething cities.

The crackdown was announced as Moslems began kidnaping Europeans in retaliation for the terrorist attacks, which showed no sign of abating.

Sixteen Moslems, including one woman, were killed and 15 wounded in Algiers. Two Europeans were wounded.

In Oran seven persons were slain, two of them Europeans. One of the victims, eyewitnesses said, was a European woman killed by another European woman.

The measures were announced by the French high commissioner, Christian Fouchet, after a conference with the French commander in chief in Algeria, Gen. Michel Fourquet.

Police sealed off a new section of Algiers, as they have done in other areas in recent days, and began searching it for secret army members, arms and explosives.

Authorities announced the confiscation and destruction of 160 cars parked illegally near Moslem quarters. This is to stop the booby-trapping of automobiles. One such vehicle killed 62 Moslems on the dockside last week.

Ribicoff Brands AMA Charges As "Silly"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff called Wednesday for the American Medical Association to quit "hurling silly charges" at him and "make up its mind about the doctors' revolt in New Jersey."

Ribicoff's statement was a reply to charges by Dr. F. J. L. Blasingame, AMA executive vice president, that publication last week by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare of a booklet on the health care of the aged was a violation of laws against lobbying with public funds.

Blasingame contended the booklet lobbies for the President's proposal for health insurance for the aged through social security. He asked for an investigation by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Diver Finds Indications Munitions On Lusitania

LONDON (AP)—A young American skin diver who plunged 300 feet to the wreck of the Lusitania has uncovered indications the Germans may have been right in saying the liner carried munitions when they sank her 47 years ago.

The famous British passenger ship sank in the Atlantic on May 7, 1915, 20 minutes after being struck by a German torpedo. Of the 1,950 people on board, 1,198 died.

Among the drowned were nearly 200 Americans and the sinking, as much as any other single event, set the mood for U.S. entry two years late into World War I.

Later, the Germans claimed they were justified in treating the Lusitania as a ship of war because she was carrying munitions and may have been armed.

In an attempt to clear up the mystery, John Light, 23, of Elmhurst, N.Y., led a team of divers to investigate the wreck 10 miles off the south coast of Ireland.

Underwater shots of his expedition were shown on British television Tuesday night by the British Broadcasting Corp.

Light's findings led him to believe the wreck of the Lusitania has been tampered with. A section of steel deck appears to have been cut away with torches.

Reuther Wins Ninth Term As UAW Boss

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Wednesday re-elected Walter P. Reuther by acclamation to his ninth consecutive term as president and elevated a Negro to national office for the first time.

The 54-year-old Reuther, who has led the 1 million-member union since 1946, swept his slate of candidates into office unopposed.

Among them was Nelson (Jack) Edwards of Detroit, a Negro staff representative of the UAW who was chosen a member-at-large of the union's 26-man executive board

Six Die In Flaming Crash Of Air Tanker

LIMESTONE, Maine (UPI)—Six airmen were killed Wednesday when their KC 135 jet Stratotanker faltered seconds after takeoff and plunged into a swampland in a burst of flames.

The craft, bound on a routine refueling mission, crashed about 1,500 feet from the end of a runway at Loring Air Force Base here.

JFK Says Dividend Tax Plan Aimed At Evaders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, in a nationwide appeal for one of his key programs, said Wednesday that many Americans are being "badly misinformed" by opponents of his plan to withhold taxes on income from dividends and interest.

He told his news conference in an opening statement that the proposal was designed merely to collect taxes already required by law, and would hurt no one except those who are not paying them now.

"That's tax evasion," he said, and is costing the government about $800 million a year in lost revenue.

Letters to the White House and Senate indicated that many people had been badly misled by savings and loan associations and other opponents of the proposal, Kennedy said, and he wanted "to set the record straight."

Withholding of dividend and interest taxes is a main feature of the big administration tax reform bill now before the Senate Finance Committee.

The President said mail on the subject was the result of advertisements and circulars sponsored by savings and loan firms and banks.

He rejected as invalid suggestions in the letters that the levy would be a new tax; that it would take money unjustly; that it would produce "a mountain of red tape;" or that it would harm elderly people whose income is from dividends and interest.

The taxes would be collected just as are the levies on wages and salaries, he said.

Seventh Atom Device Exploded In Pacific

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States detonated a plane-dropped nuclear device over the Pacific Wednesday, the second blast in as many days and the seventh in its new test series.

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said in a joint announcement that the explosion took place near Christmas Island, site of all tests so far, at about 1 p.m. EDT.

It was of intermediate yield, presumably a force equal to about 100,000 tons of TNT. Tests of this type are reported to be part of an effort to develop more nuclear punch per pound of weapon.

This was the first time since the new series began April 25 that weapons have been set off on consecutive days.

He said the economy can and will do better.

Joblessness dropped by 430,000 to 3,952,000 during the month and the number of employed mounted simultaneously by 711,000 making the April employment total of 67,027,000 an increase of 1,293,000 over the number holding jobs a year earlier.

However, improvement was normal for the season and the unemployment rate, which is adjusted to take this into account, remained at 5.5 per cent of the civilian labor force, the same as in March but well below the 6.9 per cent of a year ago.

Those out of work 15 weeks or longer, called long-term unemployed, remained unchanged at 1½ million.

But there was encouragement in the fact that 450,000 of the 711,000 increase in employed was in nonfarm jobs, sending nonagricultural jobs to an April record of 61.9 million—1.2 million more than a year earlier.

Launch Of Flashing Satellite Set Today

Secrecy Lid Lifted By Defense Dept.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Defense Department lifted a secrecy lid Wednesday, announcing that it will attempt to launch a flashing beacon satellite Thursday to help map the earth more precisely.

Officials said the unusual move was made to enable the world's scientific community to participate in the experiment. All foreign nations, including the Soviet Union, are invited to help observe the satellite's flashes and share their measurements.

The blinking lights will not be triggered initially until trackers have had three days to make exact determination of the satellite's path.

The announcement was a victory for a group of U..S. scientists who argued before Congress last month that the Defense Department should remove security wraps from the satellite project, named Anna, an acronym for Army, Navy, NASA and Air Force.

Defense planners said worldwide dissemination of Anna's data might permit the Soviet Union to aim its missiles more accurately at U.S. targets. It also could help U.S. military strategists more effectively plot Soviet targets.

Scientists like Dr. James Van Allen of the University of Iowa and Dr. Fred Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said the precise location and distance to targets in America already is known with sufficient accuracy for the large payloads of long-range missiles. They contended that in order to obtain maximum geodetic data from the satellite, observations should be made from hundreds of stations in many countries.

By giving scientists a known point in space to be photographed against a background of stars, it will allow them to make better measurements of distances between far-apart points on the earth's surface. Distances between cities on ocean-separated continents now are known only to within an accuracy of about 500 feet while some remote island positions are off by a mile or more.

Officials say Anna could reduce the errors to within 50 feet.

Inquiry Scans Mutual Funds Sales Gimmicks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some tricks taught mutual fund salesmen were read from a training manual Wednesday at a Securities and Exchange Commission inquiry into whether there should be more federal control of securities selling.

SEC attorney Meyer Eisenberg questioned whether sales tactics suggested in a manual by Kalb, Voorhis & Co., a New York Stock Exchange brokerage firm, matched the standards avowed by the blossoming mutual fund industry. A partner in the firm, Ferdinand Nauheim, said he saw nothing unethical in the suggested techniques.

Nauheim's firm deals primarily in stocks. But he said it gets business from mutual funds in return for supplying them with special services designed to help train salesmen and promote customer interest in mutual funds.

Nauehim said his firm last year had sold more than $75,000 in training and sales aids but received cash payments for only about 13 per cent of the total.

The funds place orders and instruct his firm to credit the resulting commissions to various dealers pushing fund shares, Nauheim explained. The dealers then use their credits to buy the special material prepared by the brokerage house, he said.

In most cases, Nauheim said, it takes twice as much commission business to buy one of the special aids as would be required for a cash purchase. This mark-up is necessary, he said, because it costs money to execute orders on the exchange.

This was another of the reciprocal back-scratching selling arrangements between sellers of stocks and mutual funds described in the public hearing, now in its third day.

In this connection, the inquiry also heard of a not-very-successful nationwide publicity campaign financed by a New York Stock Exchange brokerage house to promote mutual fund sales. William G. Damroth, president of Templeton, Damroth Corp., New York, explained that A. G. Becker & Co. undertook the campaign in hope that mutual funds would give it their stock exchange business.

Damroth said some funds did divert business to Becker but that the amount was insufficient to justify the continued expense. In addition, he said, the publicity drive for the mutual funds was not satisfactory.

French Move To Stamp Out OAS Terror

ALGIERS (AP) —Deportations, citywide searches and total curfews in sealed-off areas were decreed by authorities Wednesday in a new drive to stamp out the European Secret Army Organization terror in Algiers and Oran.

Massive police reinforcements to enforce the new measures will be moved into the two seething cities.

The crackdown was announced as Moslems began kidnaping Europeans in retaliation for the terrorist attacks, which showed no sign of abating.

Sixteen Moslems, including one woman, were killed and 15 wounded in Algiers. Two Europeans were wounded.

In Oran seven persons were slain, two of them Europeans. One of the victims, eyewitnesses said, was a European woman killed by another European woman.

The measures were announced by the French high commissioner, Christian Fouchet, after a conference with the French commander in chief in Algeria, Gen. Michel Fourquet.

Police sealed off a new section of Algiers, as they have done in other areas in recent days, and began searching it for secret army members, arms and explosives.

Authorities announced the confiscation and destruction of 160 cars parked illegally near Moslem quarters. This is to stop the booby-trapping of automobiles. One such vehicle killed 62 Moslems on the dockside last week.

Ribicoff Brands AMA Charges As "Silly"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff called Wednesday for the American Medical Association to quit "hurling silly charges" at him and "make up its mind about the doctors' revolt in New Jersey."

Ribicoff's statement was a reply to charges by Dr. F. J. L. Blasingame, AMA executive vice president, that publication last week by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare of a booklet on the health care of the aged was a violation of laws against lobbying with public funds.

Blasingame contended the booklet lobbies for the President's proposal for health insurance for the aged through social security. He asked for an investigation by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Levy Is Made Against Estes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced Wednesday it is assessing Billie Sol Estes $554,162.71 in marketing penalties on 1961 crop cotton.

This cotton was grown on acreage allotments which the department said Estes, west Texas financier, had obtained illegally. The cotton was grown in three Texas counties.

The Estes cotton was grown on 3,123 acres of allotments which have been the center of charges that Estes received favored treatment from the department.

They were allotments which belonged to farmers whose land had been obtained by government agencies under the right of eminent domain. Estes and the others claimed they had sold land to these displaced farmers—land on which farmers reclaimed their old cotton allotments.

Estes contended he had leased the land and allotments from these farmers. The department said an investigation had shown the transaction were not bonafide land sales but a scheme to obtain valuable allotments in violation of law.

Reuther Wins Ninth Term As UAW Boss

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Wednesday re-elected Walter P. Reuther by acclamation to his ninth consecutive term as president and elevated a Negro to national office for the first time.

The 54-year-old Reuther, who has led the 1 million-member union since 1946, swept his slate of candidates into office unopposed.

Among them was Nelson (Jack) Edwards of Detroit, a Negro staff representative of the UAW who was chosen a member-at-large of the union's 26-man executive board

Six Die In Flaming Crash Of Air Tanker

LIMESTONE, Maine (UPI)—Six airmen were killed Wednesday when their KC 135 jet Stratotanker faltered seconds after takeoff and plunged into a swampland in a burst of flames.

The craft, bound on a routine refueling mission, crashed about 1,500 feet from the end of a runway at Loring Air Force Base here.

Diver Finds Indications Munitions On Lusitania

LONDON (AP)—A young American skin diver who plunged 300 feet to the wreck of the Lusitania has uncovered indications the Germans may have been right in saying the liner carried munitions when they sank her 47 years ago.

The famous British passenger ship sank in the Atlantic on May 7, 1915, 20 minutes after being struck by a German torpedo. Of the 1,950 people on board, 1,198 died.

Among the drowned were nearly 200 Americans and the sinking, as much as any other single event, set the mood for U.S. entry two years late into World War I.

Later, the Germans claimed they were justified in treating the Lusitania as a ship of war because she was carrying munitions and may have been armed.

In an attempt to clear up the mystery, John Light, 23, of Elmhurst, N.Y., led a team of divers to investigate the wreck 10 miles off the south coast of Ireland.

Underwater shots of his expedition were shown on British television Tuesday night by the British Broadcasting Corp.

Light's findings led him to believe the wreck of the Lusitania has been tampered with. A section of steel deck appears to have been cut away with torches.

Light also photographed a heavy steel door bent like cardboard, sheared from its fastening.

JFK Says Dividend Tax Plan Aimed At Evaders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, in a nationwide appeal for one of his key programs, said Wednesday that many Americans are being "badly misinformed" by opponents of his plan to withhold taxes on income from dividends and interest.

He told his news conference in an opening statement that the proposal was designed merely to collect taxes already required by law, and would hurt no one except those who are not paying them now.

"That's tax evasion," he said, and is costing the government about $800 million a year in lost revenue.

Letters to the White House and Senate indicated that many people had been badly misled by savings and loan associations and other opponents of the proposal, Kennedy said, and he wanted "to set the record straight."

Withholding of dividend and interest taxes is a main feature of the big administration tax reform bill now before the Senate Finance Committee.

The President said mail on the subject was the result of advertisements and circulars sponsored by savings and loan firms and banks.

He rejected as invalid suggestions in the letters that the levy would be a new tax; that it would take money unjustly; that it would produce "a mountain of redtape;" or that it would harm elderly people whose income is from dividends and interest.

The taxes would be collected just as are the levies on wages and salaries, he said.

Seventh Atom Device Exploded In Pacific

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States detonated a plane-dropped nuclear device over the Pacific Wednesday, the second blast in as many days and the seventh in its new test series.

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said in a joint announcement that the explosion took place near Christmas Island, site of all tests so far, at about 1 p.m. EDT.

It was of intermediate yield, presumably a force equal to about 100,000 tons of TNT. Tests of this type are reported to be part of an effort to develop more nuclear punch per pound of weapon.

This was the first time since the new series began April 25 that weapons have been set off on consecutive days.

Results Of Primaries Pleasing To President

By United Press International

All Democratic and Republican incumbents running nailed down renomination in Tuesday's primaries in five states.

Voters in Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Florida and New Mexico picked candidates for two governorships, two Senate seats and 54 House seats.

President Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday he was pleased by the results of primaries in the past few days, particularly in Florida and Texas.

The Chief Executive declined to endorse either former Navy Secretary John Connally or Don Yarborough, an administration supporter, in the runoff for the Texas Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Ohio's Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle had the closest squeak of any major candidate. He won renomination with 52 per cent of the vote over State Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy. State Auditor James A. Rhodes, winner of the GOP primary, was expected to give DiSalle a stiff race in November.

Two candidates personally endorsed by Kennedy Sen. George Smathers and Rep. Dante Fascell, easily won renomination in Florida's Democratic primary.

Former Sen. Claude Pepper, starting a comeback by winning the Democratic nomination for a new House seat in Florida, said his victory was "the first bellwether "that the American people are in favor of the Kennedy administration.

The President's name also apparently helped Richard Kennedy to a surprise victory in an 11-man race for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large in Ohio.

State Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr., son of the late senator, easily won the Republican primary to determine Richard Kennedy's November opponent. Taft defeated state Sen. Lower Fess, son of the late Sen. Simeon D. Fess.

Ohio's Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche easily captured renomination. He will be opposed in November by Toledo attorney John Briley, who won a four-man GOP race.

In New Mexico, Democratic Rep. Joseph Montoya won renomination by three-to-one majority over Albuquerque salesman Joseph E. Montoya, who is no relation to the congressman.

Hechler, Kee, Pinson Win West Va. Race

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—West Virginia's congressional contests in the primary election Tuesday yielded no surprise unless it was the heavier-than-expected vote.

Favorites won all three contested nominations for the U.S. House of Representatives. Rep. Ken Hechler of Huntington in the 4th District and Rep. Elizabeth Kee of Bluefield in the 5th, the only incumbents with primary fights, piled up lopsided majorities in winning Democratic renomination.

The remaining contest was for the Republican nomination to oppose Hechler in November. Huntington coal broker Clyde B. Pinson, beaten by Hechler in the 1960 general election, won the nomination again, putting down a fairly strong challenge by newcomer Robert E. Wright of Sistersville.

Africa Diplomat Discrimination Again Deplored

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The State Department has once again expressed deep concern about discrimination of African diplomats in Maryland.

In a telegram to Gov. Tawes, chief protocol officer Pedro Sanjuan said, "In spite of all efforts to effect a change, discrimination continues to be widely practiced in Baltimore and on Route 40."

"The refusals and humiliations suffered by diplomats on their trips continue to hurt the United States.

"Once again we request your assistance in solving this most vexing problem, for Route 40 will continue to be heavily traveled by diplomats and the United States cannot afford to have them humiliated," the telegram said.

"Approximately three weeks ago an African ambassador was refused service in a restaurant in Elkton, Md., on Route 40. This incident was kept out of the press on the request of the ambassador, who expressed his sorrow for the United States.

"On May 1, a Nigerian delegate from the United Nations was refused service at two restaurants in Baltimore. The same diplomat was refused accommodations at two motels on Route 40," the telegram continued.

An official with the State Department's protocol office, Richard T. Zalazar, met with the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations Wednesday to discuss the situation. After the meeting, the commission urged Tawes to bring up public accommodation legislation at a special session of the General Assembly.

A similar measure was defeated by the House of Delegates at a special session of the legislature on March 10.

Numberous demonstrations have been held along U.S. 40, but many restaurants and motels still refuse to serve non-white customers.

He said the tests will be conducted "only after careful scientific deliberation" but it does not appear they would cause harm.

On the political front, Kennedy was asked about rumors that Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson might be dropped from the Democratic ticket in 1964. He also was asked if he expected any change in the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

The President drew laughter by saying he did not even know what the Democrats might do with him. He then added that he was sure Johnson would be on the party ticket in 1964 if he wanted to be. He said Johnson was "invaluable" to the administration.

Barron Named As West Virginia 'Son Of The Year'

WASHINGTON (AP) —Selection of Gov. William Wallace Barron as West Virginia's distinguished son of the year was announced Wednesday by the West Virginia Society of the District of Columbia.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., president of the society, also announced that Miss Gay Pauley, formerly of Poca, W.Va., was selected by the society as the distinguished daughter of the year.

Barron and Miss Pauley will be honored at a luncheon May 19 in the Senate Caucus Room. A reception for the West Virginia congressional delegation will precede the luncheon.

Naval Academy Expansion Plan Is Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP)—City and civic leaders of Annapolis discussed with Assistant Secretary of the Navy Kenneth E. Be Lieu Wednesday a proposed multi-million expansion of the U.S. Naval Academy.

The proposed expansion would embrace about 3½ blocks of old Annapolis.

Rep. Richard E. Lankford, D-Md., who arranged the closed meeting in Be Lieu's office, said later no decisions were reached.

The expansion of the academy's physical plant was proposed by a special advisory commission named by the chief of naval personnel and headed by Adm. Ben Moreell, retired.

The commission report recommended a three-phase modernization of the school. The first phase would include completion of the rehabilitation of Bancroft Hall; construction of a science building; enlisted men's barracks and mess hall; utilities; central heating plant; a weapons systems facility; a laundry and dry cleaning establishment; a boat basin and new main entrance.

This phase, estimated to cost $47,562000, would include the taking of 17.3 acres of town property near the academy's main entrance.

Youth Junks Heritage, Minister Says

CHICAGO (AP)—A brotherhood campaigner declared Wednesday that the nation's youth has responded to half a century of efforts to help them by chucking away the traditions that made America great.

Dr. Leo K. Bishop, vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, said the whole base of moral and spiritual values has been shifted.

And he contended this has happened because adult Americans have failed to interpret the meaning of democracy, freedom, equality.

Bishop, an ordained minister, survived an attack on his life two years ago by a gang of Negro youths bent on robbery. He was shot as he and his wife were walking home from a neighborhood betterment society meeting.

He made his current observations on youth in a hard-hitting speech to the annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

Bishop, who was named "Chicagoan of the Year" in 1960 by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, said that "teacher, counselor, parent and minister stand today, in the presence of modern youth, with a sense of guilt, inadequacy and fear for the future."

Bishop said America "put youth at the very center of its society for the last 50 years." But he added that "today's youth do not cherish the heritage which is being handed on to them."

Rep. Johnson Quizzed By S And L Probers

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Rep. Thomas F. Johnson, D-Md., testified Wednesday before a Montgomery County grand jury investigating savings and loan scandals.

Later, the Eastern Shore congressman declined to tell reporters any details of his testimony during the hour and 37 minutes he appeared before the jurors.

His only comment was:

"I was very happy to assist the state's attorney and fully cooperate with the state in this matter.

"As to any testimony, that will not be divulged."

Johnson declined to answer questions on whether he had received a report from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which he asked to make an inquiry last year after newspaper stories were published linking him with the First Continental Savings & Loan Association of Chevy Chase.

The expansion of the academy's physical plant was proposed by a special advisory commission named by the chief of naval personnel and headed by Adm. Ben Moreell, retired.

The commission report recommended a three-phase modernization of the school. The first phase would include completion of the rehabilitation of Bancroft Hall; construction of a science building; enlisted men's barracks and mess hall; utilities; central heating plant; a weapons systems facility; a laundry and dry cleaning establishment; a boat basin and new main entrance.

This phase, estimated to cost $47,562000, would include the taking of 17.3 acres of town property near the academy's main entrance.

Youth Junks Heritage, Minister Says

CHICAGO (AP)—A brotherhood campaigner declared Wednesday that the nation's youth has responded to half a century of efforts to help them by chucking away the traditions that made America great.

Dr. Leo K. Bishop, vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, said the whole base of moral and spiritual values has been shifted.

And he contended this has happened because adult Americans have failed to interpret the meaning of democracy, freedom, equality.

Bishop, an ordained minister, survived an attack on his life two years ago by a gang of Negro youths bent on robbery. He was shot as he and his wife were walking home from a neighborhood betterment society meeting.

He made his current observations on youth in a hard-hitting speech to the annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

Bishop, who was named "Chicagoan of the Year" in 1960 by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, said that "teacher, counselor, parent and minister stand today, in the presence of modern youth, with a sense of guilt, inadequacy and fear for the future."

Bishop said America "put youth at the very center of its society for the last 50 years." But he added that "today's youth do not cherish the heritage which is being handed on to them."

Rep. Johnson Quizzed By S And L Probers

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Rep. Thomas F. Johnson, D-Md., testified Wednesday before a Montgomery County grand jury investigating savings and loan scandals.

Later, the Eastern Shore congressman declined to tell reporters any details of his testimony during the hour and 37 minutes he appeared before the jurors.

His only comment was:

"I was very happy to assist the state's attorney and fully cooperate with the state in this matter.

"As to any testimony, that will not be divulged."

Johnson declined to answer questions on whether he had received a report from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which he asked to make an inquiry last year after newspaper stories were published linking him with the First Continental Savings & Loan Association of Chevy Chase.

Support Of Mine Roof Remains Major Problem

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A mine inspector for U.S. Steel Corp. said Tuesday that the largest single source of accidents in underground coal mining is roof falls.

J. A. Boyle, director of mine inspection for U.S. Steel, told delegates to the American Mining Congress here that while there have been tremendous advances in underground mining techniques the problem of roof support has seen limited improvement over the years.

Reporting on development of hydraulic posts for roof support, Boyle said with sufficient research more can be accomplished in the area of temporary support. He cited permanent roof bolts as a means of controlling a mine roof as an outstanding innovation.

U.S. Steel began research on lighter, more flexible roof supporting equipment, Boyle reported. He said his company today is using a hydraulic jack which may be recovered with safety and relative ease by personnel standing back under the cover of permanent roof supports.

Boyle said through research, his firm feels that employment of lightweight 8-ton and 21-ton hydraulic jacks will eventually supplant the use of wooden posts in mine development and complete extraction.

Paul M. Budzak, safety director of Freeman Coal Mining Corp., West Frankfort, Ill., and George R. Eadie, associate professor of mining engineering at the University of Illinois, reported on methods of controlling underground mine fires.

They said that the instances of spontaneous heating in areas where the roof has caved in, called "gob" areas, have been the subject of much research effort. They reported that control of "gob" area fires has been achieved by sealing all openings, reducing ventilation and flooding the area with water or carbon-dioxide.

In the same line, William Danshaw, chief electrician of Bethlehem Mines Corp. at Ellsworth, Pa., said a mine fan scanner system has been introduced to improve underground safety conditions at Ellsworth. The scanner monitors mine fans and shuts off power in the event of fan failure.

Charles H. Atha, president of Blue Crystal Mines, Inc., Millersburg, Ohio, reported on "triple-play" stripping, which he said has reaped rewards for his company in the steam coal market.

Atha said application of a 4-cubic yard dragline, followed by a 3½-cubic yard shovel and finished by a 10-cubic yard dragline completes the "triple play."

NEW REGULATIONS HINTED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal officials hinted at the opening of the Securities & Exchange Commission's public hearings on securities dealings that new regulations may be made to govern the qualifications of stock, bond and mutual fund salesmen.

Philip A. Loomis, director of the SEC's trading and exchange division said there was a pressing need to raise the standards of securities salesmen because present SEC powers are insufficient to keep wrongdoers out of the business.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board ordered an investigation into the routes and competition of U.S. airlines flying the Atlantic. At the same time, two leading aircraft producers—Boeing Co. and Douglas—announced they are studying a 5 to 6 per cent price increase on long and intermediate range commercial airliners.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Joseph J. Williams Jr., a member of the Federal Home Loan Board, predicted declining mortgage rates for the balance of the year which will force dividend cuts on some savings & loan associations.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Crowell-Collier Publishing Co. Tuesday announced it will acquire Scientific Materials Inc., operator of six book clubs dealing in scientific publications, through an exchange of an undisclosed number of shares. The company, of which Arthur J. Rosenthal is the principal holder, had sales of $3,120,000 last year.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Occidental Petroleum Corp. and Great Basins Petroleum Co. announced completion of a jointly drilled natural gas well on the McMullin ranch field in San Joaquin County, Calif.

Freedom Runs Out For Cohen

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mickey Cohen, the door closed on his latest attempt to stay free on bail, Tuesday surrendered in U.S. District Court to await return to Alcatraz for a 15-year sentence for tax evasion.

"I'm going to appeal to President Kennedy," Cohen said when talking to newsmen just before he gave himself up in the court of U.S. Judge William Byrne.

"If the President of the United States ever takes a look at this sentence, in spite of his brother, Robert Kennedy, he would upset it," Cohen said.

Average annual deaths in the U. S. during the decade of 1950-1960 was 1,567,000.

Rep. Staggers Leads Tucker County Vote

PARSONS — Rep. Harley O. Staggers, veteran Democratic legislator, led the field in Tuesday's primary election in Tucker County by polling 1,472 votes in his unopposed primary bid for renomination to Congress.

In the closest of two contests for Democratic nomination, incumbent Joseph R. Gilmore outpolled Hayward L. Phillips, 1,027 to 648, for the House of Delegates. Another incumbent, Katheryn K. Mauzy, defeated Carl M. Hedrick 1,172 to 571, for the Democratic nomination for clerk of Circuit Court.

Unopposed Democrats were Junior R. Knotts, who received 1,102 votes for a full term on the county commissioners, and Ernest Colabrese, who tallied 952 for an unexpired term on the board of commissioners.

In Republican voting, Cooper P. Benedict, unopposed for Congress, was credited with 715 votes. In the GOP contest for state senator from the Fifteenth District, J. Kenton Lambert received 799 votes to far outstrip three other candidates, none of whom received as many as 75 votes.

The Republican nomination for county commissioner was won by Albert S. Hile, who received 631 votes, compared to the 207 for his opponent, Estle R. Pifer.

Howard Losh ran well ahead of the nine-man field for the nonpartisan Board of Education. Winner of the other seat was Eloise Bergstrom, who tallied 794 votes to edge out Warren K. Knicley, 765 votes.

Rep. Staggers Leads Tucker County Vote

PARSONS — Rep. Harley O. Staggers, veteran Democratic legislator, led the field in Tuesday's primary election in Tucker County by polling 1,472 votes in his unopposed primary bid for renomination to Congress.

In the closest of two contests for Democratic nomination, incumbent Joseph R. Gilmore outpolled Hayward L. Phillips, 1,027 to 648, for the House of Delegates. Another incumbent, Katheryn K. Mauzy, defeated Carl M. Hedrick 1,172 to 571, for the Democratic nomination for clerk of Circuit Court.

Unopposed Democrats were Junior R. Knotts, who received 1,102 votes for a full term on the county commissioners, and Ernest Colabrese, who tallied 952 for an unexpired term on the board of commissioners.

In Republican voting, Cooper P. Benedict, unopposed for Congress, was credited with 715 votes. In the GOP contest for state senator from the Fifteenth District, J. Kenton Lambert received 799 votes to far outstrip three other candidates, none of whom received as many as 75 votes.

The Republican nomination for county commissioner was won by Albert S. Hile, who received 631 votes, compared to the 207 for his opponent, Estle R. Pifer.

Howard Losh ran well ahead of the nine-man field for the nonpartisan Board of Education. Winner of the other seat was Eloise Bergstrom, who tallied 794 votes to edge out Warren K. Knicley, 765 votes.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 17-year-old son received a piece of mail from New York which did not look like ordinary advertising junk. "Personal" was written on the envelope in bold letters.

When the boy came home I handed it to him. He opened it, scanned it briefly and gasped, "Holy smoke what trash!" Then he pitched it into the wastebasket. When he left the room I retrieved it.

There was a folder of nudes and semi-nudes in color, which could be ordered for 50c each. Also offered was a recording of "Dolly's voice — as she speaks to you, and only you, about things every successful lover should know." A separate folder offered a volume on "Sex — An Art To Be Learned," which would arrive in a plain wrapper and promised "shocking and exciting information."

When I finished reading the material I was nauseated. Isn't this against the law? What can people do to keep such trash out of their homes. It makes me boil to think that somebody is getting rich preying on young people this way. Thanks for your help. — ANGRY MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Smut-peddling is a 400 million dollar-a-year business. The unconscionable scoundrels who deal in this filth were practically "untouchables" until 1958 when Congress toughened the law.

All pornographic mail should be handed over to the local post office authorities. The law now says those who mail pornographic material can be tried in the city where the stuff is received, and they must face a local judge and jury. The fine for the first offense is $5,000 and five years in jail. The fine, of course means little, but that stretch in the hoosegow is a real deterent.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A certain fellow who works in our office is very good looking. In fact, he's too darned pretty, if you know what I mean.

His voice is rather high-pitched and he wears his hair with a dip in front. He also likes pastel shirts, mostly pink and lavender. He's a pleasant person, minds his own business, and is probably the most creative one in the department.

What I'd like to know is how can we tell for sure if there is something wrong with him?

OFFICE GANG

DEAR OFFICE GANG: There is no way to tell for sure is something is "wrong" with him. Some perfectly normal males have high-pitched voices, long hair and like pastel shirts.

By the same token, some masculine-appearing males with deep, rich baritones and crew-cuts are anything but All-American boys.

Since the person you describe is pleasant, minds his own business, and does his job, why don't you do the same?

DEAR ANN: My husband and I belong to a pleasant social club made up of wives and husbands who work for a large company. We meet once a month for dinner at a restaurant.

My husband is the treasurer of this club but I don't think we can afford the "honor." The dinners must be paid for in advance and he writes out his personal check. The couples are supposed to pay him "later."

He has never come out even yet. Every month something goes haywire. Some couples who sign up don't show. If they have a good excuse such as "the baby got sick" he hasn't got the nerve to collect.

Please suggest a way out — short of resigning.

TREASURER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Why must the dinners be paid for in advance? Surely the restaurant would be willing to allow each couple to pay that night. If not, find another restaurant — or another treasurer.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A copy of the publication "Soils Suitable for Septic Tank Filter Fields," Agriculture Information Bulletin No. 243, may be obtained from the local SCS office, located in the basement of the Post Office Building.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist, said the well illustrated, 12 page publication, tells why filter fields fail, how soil surveys show areas suitable for filter fields, how to use a soil map to select a filter field site, how to calculate the size of filter field needed and how to make a percolation test.

Farm population in 1960 was 8.7 per cent of United States total population, but farm people suffered 13 per cent of the 38,000 motor-vehicle injuries.

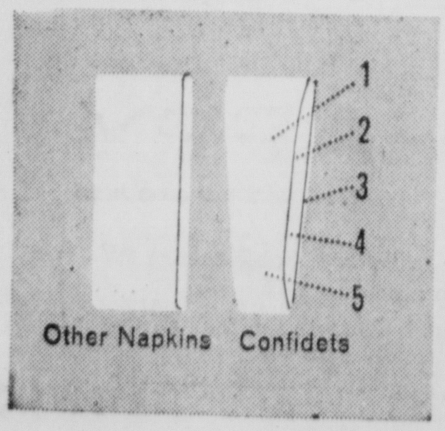
A NEW ACHIEVEMENT IN SANITARY PROTECTION!

5 reasons why new Confidets make other leading sanitary napkins out-of-date, ill-fitting and inadequate...



1. Only true anatomical shape. Confidets® are the only sanitary napkin fully tapered and shaped to fit body contours. Wide in front for more protection—narrow in back for greater comfort—don't bunch or bulge. Confidets can be worn with any standard belt . . . fasten easily, fit securely.

2. Only one with proportioned depth for more protection. No other napkin has extra thickness in middle where greatest absorbency is needed. Protects like a super pad with less bulkiness than a junior size.

3. Only accident-proof inner shield that's full size and securely held in position. Moisture simply cannot penetrate this feather-light shield, so under part of this new napkin stays dry, soft.

4. Only multi-layer filler with this unique arrangement. It holds 8 times its weight in moisture as proved by laboratory tests. The pure, fine quality materials absorb at maximum speed. You're blissfully secure with Confidets!

5. Exclusive ultra soft-strength cover. Only Confidets has a cover so comfortably soft against the skin yet has so much flexible strength in use. Try Confidets—developed and patented by Scott Paper Company.

Stronger Yet Safer- Gives Hours Of Relief From Minor CHRONIC PAINS OF ARTHRITIS

...even pains arising from deep in joints and bones so it's easier to move afflicted limbs again.

New York, N.Y.—No cure has yet been discovered for arthritis. And doctors constantly warn against fake remedies which claim to have 'the answer.'

But sufferers have found a way to get hours of the most comforting relief from arthritis' and rheumatism's chronic minor pains. It's a combined action (both analgesic and anti-inflammatory) that relieves even pains arising from deep in joints and bones. Thus sufferers find they can move with greater freedom again. And this movement helps avoid 'locked' joints.

The product that's giving such fast and effective relief is Anacin®. Anacin contains a stronger yet safer combination and may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting the stomach. Unlike aspirin or buffered aspirin which contains only one pain reliever—Anacin is different and gives you extra medication. You see, Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is a combination of medically proven ingredients. In minutes—Anacin brings remarkable 'all-over' relief.

Anacin even contains special medication that works to reduce inflammation and swelling of tissues that causes so much suffering. When such pain goes, it's easier to move afflicted limbs about. This mobility helps keep joints from 'locking.' See if stronger yet safer Anacin doesn't work better for you!

Twiggtown Club Marks Anniversary

Announcements were made at the business session of the Twiggtown Homemakers Club following its 18th anniversary dinner held at the home of Mrs. Walter Stafford, Winifred Road. Members and families attended.

A short sketch of activities in which members may participate in Short Course in Miniature was given by Mrs. Adam Baer, County Council president. It will be held May 24 from 10 until 3 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, city. She pointed out that the purpose of the program is to give information of Short Course at the University of Maryland. The members may choose from six classes, which will be given in the morning by a county chairman, who attended the state training meeting. A style revue will be held in the afternoon.

A Mother's Day program was given by Mrs. Bernard Baker. It was based on a program presented at the club's third anniversary, at the home of Mrs. A. D. Twigg, Twiggtown. The prize for the oldest mother present was given to Mrs. Edith Bowman, the youngest mother, Mrs. Betty Myers and the youngest married, Mrs. Gerald Hoffman.

Roll call was answered by telling how cooking has changed including methods from wood and coal cooking to kerosene, then electric and gas; and the use of package and prepared foods; eating less fried food and more fruits and vegetables; also trying to keep menus better balanced. Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Ralph Boggs received the same number of points in the game, "The Flowers' Wedding." The meeting closed with the group singing, "Faith of Our Mothers." The June meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Perrin Rinker, Williams Road.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Rice, Mrs. Edwin Myers, Linda Myers, Gary Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bennett, Bernard Baker, Mrs. Rinker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frost, Mrs. Helen Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Mason C. Glover and Walter Stafford.

Mothers Club Benefit Dance To Be May 18

The Mothers Club will hold its monthly meeting May 14 and its annual dance May 18.

Limited to 20 members the club was organized in November 1942 and for the first few years was occupied with a study course on parent-child relationship. It met bi-monthly. At the conclusion of the course in February 1945 members decided to continue as a club, with monthly meetings in the homes. The constitution was drawn up and the name Mothers Club officially adopted.

The club's first dance was at Chirstmas time in 1945, for members and friends. The following year it began having chairty dances. Through the years $5,147.55 has been raised through the dances, which is the club's only activity. The entire proceeds are given alternately to the Friends Aware or Crippled Childrens League.

This year the proceeds are for the Crippled Children's League. The dance will be held at the Cumberland Country Club, with music by the Gentlemen of Note, from 9 until 1, May 18. A free cocktail hour will be held from 9 until 10.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Carlton Brinsfield, Mrs. Richard Bruce, Mrs. William Freidinger, president; Mrs. Gorman E. Getty, Jr., secretary; Mrs. W. Eric Gibbs, Mrs. William Holbrook, Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mrs. E. R. Kellough, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Edgare Kendall, Mrs. Richard Kirsch, Mrs. Albert List, Mrs. Frank Martin, Mrs. Robert Poling, Mrs. Leland Ransom, Mrs. John Robb, Mrs. N. Edward Solomon, Mrs. Paul Stair, Mrs. Albert Tosh, vice president or Mrs. Charles Irby.

Assembly Will Meet

The annual Mother - Father -Daughter banquet of the Cumberland Assembly No. 6, Order of Rainbow for Girls will be held May 16. It will be at the Masonic Temple, beginning at 6 o'clock.

Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Rebecca Wagner, PA 2-7876, Mrs. Phyllis Filler, PA 4-4283; or Mrs. Ruth Taschenberger, PA 2-5296.

Names for the office of Faith are to be submitted at the regular business session, which will be Saturday at 2 o'clock.

4-H'ers To Give Program

Plans to present a program for the Flintstone Homemakers Club tomorrow were formulated at a meeting of the Flintstone-Polish Mountain 4-H Club held at the Flintstone school. Project demonstrations are to be given by Reta Messick, Nancy Robinette, Barbara Kolb, Vicki Hamons and Cathy Howard. Recent participants in the Allegany County 4-H Public Speaking contest will repeat their speeches. They are Jean Robinette, Mary Baker, Cathy Howard and Lee Robinette of the Breakneck Club.

The meeting was conducted by Betty Jo Hammons. Roll call was answered to "What Can We Do To Prepare Home for Summer Living." Mrs. Anna M. Clauson, county health nurse, was guest speaker. Her topic was general health. She emphasized the importance of cleaniness, good diet, plenty of rest and sleep and exercise in the fresh air and sunshine.

A team demonstration on making open face sandwiches and lemonade was given by Cathy Bates and Teresa Kinton. Twenty three members attended.

'Tropic Of Cancer' Seller Seeks To Upset Conviction

By TOM SEPPY

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A Chevy Chase book dealer contended Tuesday other literary works sold in Montgomery County should have been compared to the "Tropic of Cancer" to determine if the novel is obscene.

John Silard, attorney for Samuel Yudkin, told the Court of Appeals that the circuit court jury was unable to accurately judge the standards of the community because other novels, which can be purchased in the area, were not permitted to be entered into the record.

Yudkin appealed his lower court conviction on obscenity charges for selling Henry Miller's controversial novel, "Tropic of Cancer." He was sentenced to six months in December of 1961.

Silard argued that such novels as "Lady Chaterly's Lover," "By Love Possessed," and "Ulysses," can be purchased in the county and would have given the jury a standard by which to judge "Tropic of Cancer."

He said he also sought to have three University of Maryland English professors, a psychiatrist, an agent of the Post Office Department who deals with obscene mail and literary critics testify but was not permitted to do so by the lower court.

Joseph S. Kaufman, deputy attorney general, argued that "outside material was not relevant to the case."

"The book itself was to be judged by the jury," he said.

Kaufman said the jury was composed of people of the community and its members should know the standards of the area.

Silard said State's Atty. Leonard T. Kardy, in the lower court, said the book was obscene and that Yudkin sold the book knowing it was.

"Both the prosecutor and his principal witness conceded that the book did not stimulate their sexual impulses," Silard said, "but the jury was instructed by the prosecutor that the book is obscene not because it stimulates lust but because readers may find it repelling, shocking or morbid."

The Court of Appeals took the case under advisement.

Scholarship Set Up As Lowe Memorial

WASHINGTON (AP) — E. W. Scripps II, chairman of the Sigma Delta Chi Foundation of Washington, D. C., announced Tuesday establishment of a $500 journalism scholarship in memory of Herman A. Lowe, former Washington correspondent.

The first annual scholarship will be awarded in June, Scripps said, for the 1962-63 academic year to a sophomore or junior student at American, Catholic, Georgetown, George Washington or Howard universities, in Washington, or the University of Maryland. The award is intended for a student intending to follow journalism as a career.

Water Use Declines

Water consumption last week averaged 12,280,000 gallons a day, down from last year's 13,725,000 gallons. About an inch of water was flowing over both city reservoirs Sunday.

Armadillos Like Oklahoma

ADA, Okla. (UPI) — The armadillo, that bony, burrowing and bustling animal that began a northern migration many years ago, apparently has found Oklahoma to its liking.

Making it across the Red River, armadillos are sauntering into Oklahoma from Texas in increasing numbers. They have been spotted as far north as northern Pontotoc County, about 75 miles from the border.

Some folks predict the armadillo in a few years will be as common as the cottontail. Others are a bit dubious, figuring the weather and availability of insects will determine whether the strange-looking mammal settles in these parts.

"He's coming on fast since the Red River was dammed," said Jack McPhetridge, Pontotoc County trapper. "When I'm trapping, I see him and his tracks all over the south part of the country. But he's in the north as well as south sections, too."

The armadillo, which resembles a miniature tank on stilts, is a native of Argentina and obviously has been on the move northward for a long time. It has migrated in great numbers into Texas from Mexico and can be found scattered about the Southwest.

Hand-Driven Railroad Hit With Kids

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Building railroads is a business with James R. Hansen and it's a hobby, too.

Hansen, of Palo Alto, Calif., a draftsman-engineer for the Southern Pacific Railroad, built a 100-foot hand-driven railroad in the backyard for his five children.

Hansen constructed the pint-sized line for $80, using steel, tin, plywood, and the chain-drive from a bicycle.

The train consisted of an engine, a flatcar and a caboose. Each car was on a bed of steel with a steel underframe as the skeleton for the superstructure, which was made of plywood. Tin was used for the boiler of the engine.

The chain-drive from the bike was inverted, so the pedals were upended in the cab, the chain running to the rear axle of the engine. The children "pedaled" it by hand.

The only outside work done on the train was the casting of the wheels and the drilling of the holes for the axles. This was done by a local machine shop. The tracks and ties were fabricated from steel bars.

Hansen, a master do-it-yourselfer, also has a boat and his seven-room home to his credit. He plans to build a light airplane after putting the finishing touches on his house.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 17-year-old son received a piece of mail from New York which did not look like ordinary advertising junk. "Personal" was written on the envelope in bold letters.

When the boy came home I handed it to him. He opened it, scanned it briefly and gasped, "Holy smoke what trash!" Then he pitched it into the wastebasket. When he left the room I retrieved it.

There was a folder of nudes and semi-nudes in color, which could be ordered for 50c each. Also offered was a recording of "Dolly's voice — as she speaks to you, and only you, about things every successful lover should know." A separate folder offered a volume on "Sex — An Art To Be Learned," which would arrive in a plain wrapper and promised "shocking and exciting information."

When I finished reading the material I was nauseated. Isn't this against the law? What can people do to keep such trash out of their homes. It makes me boil to think that somebody is getting rich preying on young people this way. Thanks for your help. — ANGRY MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Smut-peddling is a 400 million dollar-a-year business. The unconscionable scoundrels who deal in this filth were practically "untouchables" until 1958 when Congress toughened the law.

All pornographic mail should be handed over to the local post office authorities. The law now says those who mail pornographic material can be tried in the city where the stuff is received, and they must face a local judge and jury. The fine for the first offense is $5,000 and five years in jail. The fine, of course means little, but that stretch in the hoosegow is a real deterent.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A certain fellow who works in our office is very good looking. In fact, he's too darned pretty, if you know what I mean.

His voice is rather high-pitched and he wears his hair with a dip in front. He also likes pastel shirts, mostly pink and lavender. He's a pleasant person, minds his own business, and is probably the most creative one in the department.

What I'd like to know is how can we tell for sure if there is something wrong with him?

OFFICE GANG

DEAR OFFICE GANG: There is no way to tell for sure is something is "wrong" with him. Some perfectly normal males have high-pitched voices, long hair and like pastel shirts.

By the same token, some masculine-appearing males with deep, rich baritones and crew-cuts are anything but All-American boys.

Since the person you describe is pleasant, minds his own business, and does his job, why don't you do the same?

DEAR ANN: My husband and I belong to a pleasant social club made up of wives and husbands who work for a large company. We meet once a month for dinner at a restaurant.

My husband is the treasurer of this club but I don't think we can afford the "honor." The dinners must be paid for in advance and he writes out his personal check. The couples are supposed to pay him "later."

He has never come out even yet. Every month something goes haywire. Some couples who sign up don't show. If they have a good excuse such. as "the baby got sick" he hasn't got the nerve to collect.

Please suggest a way out — short of resigning.

TREASURER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Why must the dinners be paid for in advance? Surely the restaurant would be willing to allow each couple to pay that night. If not, find another restaurant — or another treasurer.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SCS Offers Booklet On Sewage Systems

A new publication intended to help farmers and suburbanites select sites for private sewage disposal systems is now available from the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

A copy of the publication "Soils Suitable for Septic Tank Filter Fields," Agriculture Information Bulletin No. 243, may be obtained from the local SCS office, located in the basement of the Post Office Building.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist, said the well illustrated, 12 page publication, tells why filter fields fail, how soil surveys show areas suitable for filter fields, how to use a soil map to select a filter field site, how to calculate the size of filter field needed and how to make a percolation test.

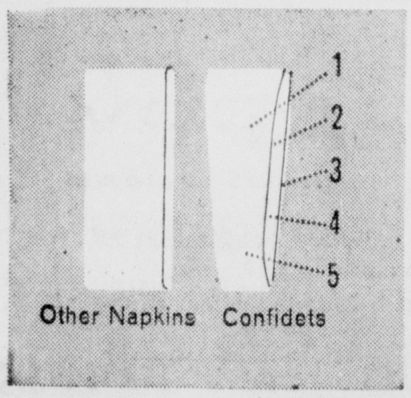
A NEW ACHIEVEMENT IN SANITARY PROTECTION!

Confidets
the only sanitary napkin with true anatomical shape and accident-proof inner shield...for the greatest comfort and protection you've ever known!

5 reasons why new Confidets make other leading sanitary napkins out-of-date, ill-fitting and inadequate...



1. Only true anatomical shape. Confidets® are the only sanitary napkin fully tapered and shaped to fit body contours. Wide in front for more protection—narrow in back for greater comfort—don't bunch or bulge. Confidets can be worn with any standard belt . . . fasten easily, fit securely.

2. Only one with proportioned depth for more protection. No other napkin has extra thickness in middle where greatest absorbency is needed. Protects like a super pad with less bulkiness than a junior size.

3. Only accident-proof inner shield that's full size and securely held in position. Moisture simply cannot penetrate this feather-light shield, so under part of this new napkin stays dry, soft.

4. Only multi-layer filler with this unique arrangement. It holds 8 times its weight in moisture as proved by laboratory tests. The pure, fine quality materials absorb at maximum speed. You're blissfully secure with Confidets!

5. Exclusive ultra soft-strength cover. Only Confidets has a cover so comfortably soft against the skin yet has so much flexible strength in use. Try Confidets—developed and patented by Scott Paper Company.

NEW YORK (UPI) — In suburbia, U. S. A., attendance to dancing class ranks as a mandatory ritual for youngsters most likely to succeed.

But what's good for the pigtail and stove-pipe pants set also holds a certain magic for the old folks.

These days many a rocking chair gathers dust while its occupant, prettied and rarin' to go, takes in a dancing class.

At the dancing schools, grandmas and some grandpas meet one afternoon a week to learn basic dance steps and simple sequences.

While they're learning and having fun, they use energy to keep their bodies active and their minds mentally alert. The dancing classes, however, are just practice sessions for the real thing — geriatric hops sponsored by local senior citizens clubs.

Even women in their eighties are learning to dance the tango, squares and mixer waltzes. The twist — being somewhat of a gymnastic — goes over like a lead balloon of course.

Some who can't dance — for health reasons — attend the hops for old folks, gaining enjoyment by watching and listening to waltzes, polkas and melodies of yesterdecade.

A report on the dance program in San Francisco and the Bay area cites some of the inner-workings — and satisfactions — of hops for the oldsters.

Irene W. Smith, recreation director of the San Francisco Recreation and Park Department, makes the case for senior citizen dances in the current "Recreation," journal of the National Recreation Association.

"For senior citizens," she said, "participation in a dance group is a good practical lesson in developing human understanding, cooperation and consideration.

"People who have these qualities will not tend to become introverts as they grow older, but will have the interests so necessary to mature into self-reliant and happy individuals."

Mrs. Smith does not imply that dancing alone keeps one well, but rather that it can be an avenue towards maintaining a balanced adjustment in dealing with the various problems of increased leisure as one grows older.

Her report on the social dancing program at the San Francisco senior citizens center contains many proofs that dancing might be just what the doctor ought to order for some oldsters.

Among points Mrs. Smith made were the following:

—Many dancers stop to remark how much they enjoy the mixers, especially the ladies, who favor the tag dances because there is always a scarcity of men at senior dances.

—Participation in dancing class has developed related interests and hobbies. Some copy dance steps, take notes, purchase records, sew folk dance costumes, attend festivals and subscribe to folk-dance magazines — to keep up to the minute.

Mental Hospital Integration Near

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Board of Health and Mental Hygiene hopes to have all six Maryland mental institutions racially integrated sometime this summer.

Kenneth Barnes, chief of the division of administration and finance in the Department of Mental Hygiene, said plans for integrating the institutions had been under study since February.

There are no legal barriers to integrating the hospitals, Barnes said, and under study now is the problem of being certain enough beds will be available for each region at the various hospitals.

Barnes, acting chief of the department while two superiors are attending a psychiatric convention in Toronto, said admission to the hospitals would be by region rather than race.

The Rosewood State Training School at Owings Mills, with 2,450 patients, already is integrated. Barnes said there may be two or three Negroes at Spring Grove State Hospital in Catonsville among the 2,500 patients.

The Crownsville State Hospital near Annapolis now has 1,850 patients, all Negro. The Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge has about 700 white patients. The Springfield State Hospital at Sykesville, with about 3,200 patients, is all white. The sixth institution is the Clifton T. Perkins hospital at Jessup, for maximum security patients.

JFK Names Second Negro U.S. Marshal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday announced his selection of the second Negro in history to serve as a U. S. marshal within the continental area of the country.

His selection was Luke Charles Moore, currently an assistant U.S. attorney in the District of Columbia. Moore, 38, a native of Collinsville, Ill., will become marshal for the district, succeeding James P. McShane who is being promoted to head the executive offices for U. S. marshals.

The only other Negro to serve as a marshal in this country was Frederick Douglas who held the post in the District of Columbia from 1877 to 1881. Two other Negroes, however, held the same post in the Virgin Islands.

Moore, a Democrat, will receive an annual salary of $13,730.

NEW YORK (AP) — A major subject of debate on Wall Street these days is whether a bear market has supplanted the bull market.

The stock market's protracted decline has attracted some converts to the bear market idea. Others are holding to the belief that the bull market still lives.

He says that according to the Dow theory the bull market has ended, and a close study of hundreds of chart patterns of individual stocks indicates that the considerable technical damage done to many stocks will require a much longer time to repair.

"While there are currently no signs of a business decline and first-quarter earnings have been mostly favorable, it is a disturbing fact that a declining stock market often influences business and consumer decisions adversely and thereby causes a recession," he continues.

"Much now depends upon how soon and where the market reforms a base and whether the administration will really do anything constructive to correct the bearish impression it has created in the minds of many individual business men and institutional investors.

"It is my opinion that we have had a severe intermediate decline in the averages but the bull market in individual stocks is far from over."

'Tropic Of Cancer' Seller Seeks To Upset Conviction

By TOM SEPPY

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A Chevy Chase book dealer contended Tuesday other literary works sold in Montgomery County should have been compared to the "Tropic of Cancer" to determine if the novel is obscene.

John Silard, attorney for Samuel Yudkin, told the Court of Appeals that the circuit court jury was unable to accurately judge the standards of the community because other novels, which can be purchased in the area, were not permitted to be entered into the record.

Yudkin appealed his lower court conviction on obscenity charges for selling Henry Miller's controversial novel, "Tropic of Cancer." He was sentenced to six months in December of 1961.

Silard argued that such novels as "Lady Chaterly's Lover," "By Love Possessed," and "Ulysses," can be purchased in the county and would have given the jury a standard by which to judge "Tropic of Cancer."

He said he also sought to have three University of Maryland English professors, a psychiatrist, an agent of the Post Office Department who deals with obscene mail and literary critics testify but was not permitted to do so by the lower court.

Joseph S. Kaufman, deputy attorney general, argued that "outside material was not relevant to the case."

"The book itself was to be judged by the jury," he said.

Kaufman said the jury was composed of people of the community and its members should know the standards of the area.

Silard said State's Atty. Leonard T. Kardy, in the lower court, said the book was obscene and that Yudkin sold the book knowing it was.

"Both the prosecutor and his principal witness conceded that the book did not stimulate their sexual impulses," Silard said, "but the jury was instructed by the prosecutor that the book is obscene not because it stimulates lust but because readers may find it repelling, shocking or morbid."

The Court of Appeals took the case under advisement.

Scholarship Set Up As Lowe Memorial

WASHINGTON (AP) — E. W. Scripps II, chairman of the Sigma Delta Chi Foundation of Washington, D. C., announced Tuesday establishment of a $500 journalism scholarship in memory of Herman A. Lowe, former Washington correspondent.

The first annual scholarship will be awarded in June, Scripps said, for the 1962-63 academic year to a sophomore or junior student at American, Catholic, Georgetown, George Washington or Howard universities, in Washington, or the University of Maryland. The award is intended for a student intending to follow journalism as a career.

Armadillos Like Oklahoma

ADA, Okla. (UPI) — The armadillo, that bony, burrowing and bustling animal that began a northern migration many years ago, apparently has found Oklahoma to its liking.

Making it across the Red River, armadillos are sauntering into Oklahoma from Texas in increasing numbers. They have been spotted as far north as northern Pontotoc County, about 75 miles from the border.

Some folks predict the armadillo in a few years will be as common as the cottontail. Others are a bit dubious, figuring the weather and availability of insects will determine whether the strange-looking mammal settles in these parts.

"He's coming on fast since the Red River was dammed," said Jack McPhetridge, Pontotoc County trapper. "When I'm trapping, I see him and his tracks all over the south part of the country. But he's in the north as well as south sections, too."

The armadillo, which resembles a miniature tank on stilts, is a native of Argentina and obviously has been on the move northward for a long time. It has migrated in great numbers into Texas from Mexico and can be found scattered about the Southwest.

Hand-Driven Railroad Hit With Kids

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Building railroads is a business with James R. Hansen and it's a hobby, too.

Hansen, of Palo Alto, Calif., a draftsman-engineer for the Southern Pacific Railroad, built a 100-foot hand-driven railroad in the backyard for his five children.

Hansen constructed the pint-sized line for $80, using steel, tin, plywood, and the chain-drive from a bicycle.

The train consisted of an engine, a flatcar and a caboose. Each car was on a bed of steel with a steel underframe as the skeleton for the superstructure, which was made of plywood. Tin was used for the boiler of the engine.

The chain-drive from the bike was inverted, so the pedals were upended in the cab, the chain running to the rear axle of the engine. The children "pedaled" it by hand.

The only outside work done on the train was the casting of the wheels and the drilling of the holes for the axles. This was done by a local machine shop. The tracks and ties were fabricated from steel bars.

Hansen, a master do-it-yourselfer, also has a boat and his seven-room home to his credit. He plans to build a light airplane after putting the finishing touches on his house.

He says that according to the Dow theory the bull market has ended, and a close study of hundreds of chart patterns of individual stocks indicates that the considerable technical damage done to many stocks will require a much longer time to repair.

"While there are currently no signs of a business decline and first-quarter earnings have been mostly favorable, it is a disturbing fact that a declining stock market often influences business and consumer decisions adversely and thereby causes a recession," he continues.

"Much now depends upon how soon and where the market reforms a base and whether the administration will really do anything constructive to correct the bearish impression it has created in the minds of many individual business men and institutional investors.

"It is my opinion that we have had a severe intermediate decline in the averages but the bull market in individual stocks is far from over."

Mental Hospital Integration Near

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Board of Health and Mental Hygiene hopes to have all six Maryland mental institutions racially integrated sometime this summer.

Kenneth Barnes, chief of the division of administration and finance in the Department of Mental Hygiene, said plans for integrating the institutions had been under study since February.

There are no legal barriers to integrating the hospitals, Barnes said, and under study now is the problem of being certain enough beds will be available for each region at the various hospitals.

Barnes, acting chief of the department while two superiors are attending a psychiatric convention in Toronto, said admission to the hospitals would be by region rather than race.

The Rosewood State Training School at Owings Mills, with 2,450 patients, already is integrated. Barnes said there may be two or three Negroes at Spring Grove State Hospital in Catonsville among the 2,500 patients.

The Crownsville State Hospital near Annapolis now has 1,850 patients, all Negro. The Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge has about 700 white patients. The Springfield State Hospital at Sykesville, with about 3,200 patients, is all white. The sixth institution is the Clifton T. Perkins hospital at Jessup, for maximum security patients.

Appeals Court Will Rule On Question Of Privilege

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals was asked Wednesday whether a statement made by an attorney to the press, after the arrest of his client on a rape charge, was privileged.

Mrs. Jane Linton Kennedy sought to overturn a directed verdict against her by the Dorchester County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Kennedy had sued Robert Powell Cannon, the attorney, for slander for a statement he made to the Salisbury Times Nov. 19, 1960. The case was heard on a change of venue from Wicomico County.

Cannon, also a member of the House of Delegates, was defending Charles Lester Humphreys, a Negro, who was charged with the rape of Mrs. Kennedy, a white woman.

The newspaper had planned to print a story which related the details of Humphreys' arrest and a statement in which he admitted having intercourse with Mrs. Kennedy.

Cannon told the newspaper that Humphreys "emphatically denies the charge. He says that the woman submitted to his advance willingly." The newspaper printed the statement.

Judge W. Laird Henry Jr., who heard the case, held that such a statement by an attorney was privileged.

In her appeal to the high court, Mrs. Kennedy said as a direct result of the statement, she "suffered humiliation and harassment by annoying and degrading telephone calls from persons unknown to her to the extent that she and her family were forced to move from the community and out of the state."

She said the law of Maryland recognizes no such privilege as the one raised by Cannon.

Youth, 17, Dies In Auto Crash

GLENN DALE, Md. (AP) — A 17-year-old high school boy was killed and another injured in an automobile accident near here Wednesday. The youths were engaged at the time in picking up a band uniform for their school.

Prince Georges County police said the two were occupants of a foreign-make station wagon which ran off Telegraph Road on a curve. The car overturned and then struck a tree.

Steven Schonberg, 17, of Woodlawn Heights, was pronounced dead on arrival at Prince Georges General Hospital.

Witnesses told police he was thrown from the station wagon and pinned under it.

The hospital identified the other boy as Russell Gutierrez, 16, of Seabrook. His injuries were reported not serious.

Maryland News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for development of the Potomac River basin will be revealed by the Army Engineers at a special news briefing Friday. Development of the basin has been the subject of hot controversy since the Corps of Engineers started a series of public hearings on four alternative proposals late last year.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A medical examiner said two teen-agers died of carbon monoxide poisoning early Wednesday while sitting in a parked auto in suburban Essex.

Baltimore County police identified the victims as Eric C. Amoroso, 16, and Janice G. Fair, 17, both of Essex.

Police said the bodies were found by the boy's brother, Renade, when Eric failed to return home from a date with the girl.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Dental Association has approved plans to establish a dental care insurance program.

Dr. Russell P. Smith Jr., of Cambridge said the plans for Dental Service Corp. were made after a year-long study and consultation with dental service executives.

The association's finance committee is considering the $20,000 request to meet initial expenses and obligations to the State Insurance Department.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor J. Harold Grady said Wednesday that he will ask the city council to pass a public accommodations law following the primary elections.

Grady made the announcement after an organization of college professors turned down an invitation to hold their 1964 convention in Baltimore, because the city had no anti-discriminatory law.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The sun emerged from behind early morning clouds Wednesday as the Women's Civic League opened its 50th annual flower mart.

State Gasoline Tax Receipts Up 6.7%

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Receipts from the state gasoline tax for April were up 6.7 per cent over the same month a year ago, the comptroller's office reported Wednesday.

9 Sit-In Demonstrators Convicted

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP)—Nine youthful demonstrators who staged a sit-in demonstration in Crisfield last Christmas Eve were convicted of trespassing Wednesday in Somerset County Circuit Court.

The trial of another demonstrator was postponed at the request of the defense attorney, who said she was ill.

Chief Judge Laird Henry Jr. and Judge E. McMaster Duer imposed fines of $50 and costs on four women and five young men, five of them Negroes. All were released under $100 bond after indicating they would appeal. They have 30 days to file appeals.

All were members of the Civic Interest Group of Baltimore.

Va.-R.I. Slaying Link Unlikely

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — State Police said Wednesday they think it unlikely there is any link between a Virginia slaying and one in Rhode Island.

Two weeks ago East Providence, R.I., police and Rhode Island state authorities indicated they would come to Richmond to continue their investigation in the death of a 19-year-old girl.

The body of Nancy Ann Frenier of Pawtucket, R.I., was found March 19 in the East Providence reservoir. It had been slashed with a knife. The girl was last seen when she left for a shopping trip last Dec. 22.

Last Dec. 16, the body of an unidentified teen-age girl was found beside a dirt road near Hillsboro in northern Virginia's Loudoun County. The body is at a morgue here.

State Police here theorize the similarity in wounds of the two girls is coincidental.

Breth said the delegates will organize an interstate committee to work out a cooperative venture for the river's development.

Md. Senators Split In Literacy Bill Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland's senators split Wednesday as the Senate defeated 64-33 a motion to table and thus kill the literacy bill.

Other senators voting against the proposal were Byrd and Randolph of West Virginia, Scott and Clark of Pennsylvania and Boggs and Williams of Delaware.

Appeals Court Will Rule On Question Of Privilege

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals was asked Wednesday whether a statement made by an attorney to the press, after the arrest of his client on a rape charge, was privileged.

Mrs. Jane Linton Kennedy sought to overturn a directed verdict against her by the Dorchester County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Kennedy had sued Robert Powell Cannon, the attorney, for slander for a statement he made to the Salisbury Times Nov. 19, 1960. The case was heard on a change of venue from Wicomico County.

Cannon, also a member of the House of Delegates, was defending Charles Lester Humphreys, a Negro, who was charged with the rape of Mrs. Kennedy, a white woman.

The newspaper had planned to print a story which related the details of Humphreys' arrest and a statement in which he admitted having intercourse with Mrs. Kennedy.

Cannon told the newspaper that Humphreys "emphatically denies the charge. He says that the woman submitted to his advance willingly." The newspaper printed the statement.

Judge W. Laird Henry Jr., who heard the case, held that such a statement by an attorney was privileged.

In her appeal to the high court, Mrs. Kennedy said as a direct result of the statement, she "suffered humiliation and harassment by annoying and degrading telephone calls from persons unknown to her to the extent that she and her family were forced to move from the community and out of the state."

She said the law of Maryland recognizes no such privilege as the one raised by Cannon.

Youth, 17, Dies In Auto Crash

GLENN DALE, Md. (AP) — A 17-year-old high school boy was killed and another injured in an automobile accident near here Wednesday. The youths were engaged at the time in picking up a band uniform for their school.

Prince Georges County police said the two were occupants of a foreign-make station wagon which ran off Telegraph Road on a curve. The car overturned and then struck a tree.

Steven Schonberg, 17, of Woodlawn Heights, was pronounced dead on arrival at Prince Georges General Hospital.

Witnesses told police he was thrown from the station wagon and pinned under it.

The hospital identified the other boy as Russell Gutierrez, 16, of Seabrook. His injuries were reported not serious.

Maryland News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for development of the Potomac River basin will be revealed by the Army Engineers at a special news briefing Friday. Development of the basin has been the subject of hot controversy since the Corps of Engineers started a series of public hearings on four alternative proposals late last year.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A medical examiner said two teen-agers died of carbon monoxide poisoning early Wednesday while sitting in a parked auto in suburban Essex.

Baltimore County police identified the victims as Eric C. Amoroso, 16, and Janice G. Fair, 17, both of Essex.

Police said the bodies were found by the boy's brother, Renade, when Eric failed to return home from a date with the girl.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Dental Association has approved plans to establish a dental care insurance program.

Dr. Russell P. Smith Jr., of Cambridge said the plans for Dental Service Corp. were made after a year-long study and consultation with dental service executives.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor J. Harold Grady said Wednesday that he will ask the city council to pass a public accommodations law following the primary elections.

9 Sit-In Demonstrators Convicted

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP)—Nine youthful demonstrators who staged a sit-in demonstration in Crisfield last Christmas Eve were convicted of trespassing Wednesday in Somerset County Circuit Court.

The trial of another demonstrator was postponed at the request of the defense attorney, who said she was ill.

Chief Judge Laird Henry Jr. and Judge E. McMaster Duer imposed fines of $50 and costs on four women and five young men, five of them Negroes. All were released under $100 bond after indicating they would appeal. They have 30 days to file appeals.

All were members of the Civic Interest Group of Baltimore.

Va.-R.I. Slaying Link Unlikely

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — State Police said Wednesday they think it unlikely there is any link between a Virginia slaying and one in Rhode Island.

Two weeks ago East Providence, R.I., police and Rhode Island state authorities indicated they would come to Richmond to continue their investigation in the death of a 19-year-old girl.

The body of Nancy Ann Frenier of Pawtucket, R.I., was found March 19 in the East Providence reservoir. It had been slashed with a knife. The girl was last seen when she left for a shopping trip last Dec. 22.

Last Dec. 16, the body of an unidentified teen-age girl was found beside a dirt road near Hillsboro in northern Virginia's Loudoun County. The body is at a morgue here.

State Police here theorize the similarity in wounds of the two girls is coincidental.

Breth said the delegates will organize an interstate committee to work out a cooperative venture for the river's development.

Fire Awards To Be Given

Member companies of the Allegany-Garrett Counties' Volunteer Firemen's Association are reminded that Tuesday is the deadline date for submitting the names of candidates for the James E. Lamberson Memorial fire prevention award which will be presented at the annual convention June 8 in Frostburg.

Judging will be based on an individual's fire prevention activities within his own company, the two-county association and the Maryland State Firemen's Association from April 1, 1961 to March 31, 1962.

A trophy or plaque will be presented to the individual for permanent possession and another will be awarded to the fire company of the individual winner to be retained for one year.

The award is in memory of the late Mr. Lamberson, of the Barton Hose Company, who died May 31 last year while on a fire call with the Frostburg volunteer firemen.

Chairman of the awards committee is Cromwell C. Zembower of LaVale who is being assisted by Felix Foote, of Lonaconing, George Comp Jr., of Deer Park, Jesse Jacobs of Frostburg and Harry Mallow of Bowman's Addition.

Looking For The Offbeat? Try A Trip To Trinidad

By RALPH VILLERS
United Press International

Trinidad, an offbeat chunk of tropical real estate that gave birth to the calypso, is wooing more and more Americans into the over-ocean trek to the Caribbean.

The jet now has put the mountain-dotted, lushly vegetated island only 4 hours, 10 minutes from New York. It's also easily reached from Miami.

One refreshing aspect, despite the fact that tourism there has increased 110 per cent in the past five years, there still are so relatively few Americans around—compared to some other overrun vacation spots — that you really get the feeling of being a long way from home.

The unique mixture of races, nationalities and cultures allows you to imagine yourself almost anywhere — but the almost constant year-around warm temperature makes it certain you know you are in the tropics. As for the mixture, there are Moslems and Hindus from the East Indies, a sprinkling of Chinese and Portuguese, much from Africa, including a touch of voodoo, and there are architectural reminders of the reign of the Spanish.

The capital city of Port-of-Spain is a sun-drenched tropical crossroad where modern buildings look down on a quay dotted with donkey carts loaded with bananas. There's a Chinese restaurant specializing in American-style businessmen's lunches and ice cream sodas and there is a native fruit and meat market the likes of which you won't see anywhere else.

Although Port-of-Spain is several miles from scenic mountain roads from the Caribbean beaches envisioned by the vacation escapist, it still is the mecca for tourists. It also is the jumping off point for the smaller, really unspoiled sister island of Tobago, where there are scores of unused beaches, for the hunting and fishing in the interior of Trinidad, or offshore, and for the sightseer.

Donald A. Bain, general manager of the Trinidad and Tobago Tourist Board, who recently completed a swing through Toronto, Montreal, Chicago and New York City, reported that the number of visitors in 1961 climbed to 11,815, compared to 10,538 in 1960 and only 5,608 as recently as 1956.

"We are spending several millions as part of overall tourist development," Bain said, pointing out not only government outlays but private investments aimed at the traveler, or at making him happy.

Principal development his year is the opening of the new Trinidad Hilton Hotel, which will start receiving its first guests this month (May 15) and which will be formally dedicated June 15.

The $7.5 million "upside-down" hotel built onto the side of Belmont Hill overlooking Queen's Park Savannah in Port-of-Spain, has its entrance on the top, road-level floor. Guests take elevators down to reach one of the seven floors containing suites.

The 261 rooms which the Hilton adds give Trinidad and Tobago a total of over 1,000 guest rooms, a pretty impressive figure for an island which admittedly entered the competition for tourists rather late.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

The major action taken by the House of Representatives last week concerned the proposed communications satellite system. This fabulous space-age development will permit the human voice to be transmitted to all parts of the globe much more freely and effectively than is possible by the relatively few radio and television channels presently available.

There was no question but that the Congress favored the immediate utilization of the progress that can be made in developing and profiting from a communications satellite. This is of immense economic importance to the people of the United States and indeed to the people of all the Free World. Today, for instance, we are told that there are only about 100 telephone voice circuits between North America and Europe. This means that only about one hundred simultaneous telephone conversations can be going on between the United States and all the countries of Europe. In the event that the pressure of traffic required more circuits, people would simply have to wait their turn. If we can launch a communications satellite, and there is no question but that physically and scientifically we can do so, we can create 4000 telephone voice circuits from a single satellite. Radio messages will be beamed from the United States to the satellite and rebroadcast to the point of destination.

A television broadcast requires the power equivalent of 1000 telephone circuits. Thus, you see we only have, to date, the equivalent of 10% of the necessary power to transmit a television broadcast between the United States and Europe. With the communications satellite in operation, we will have not only enough power to broadcast two simultaneous television shows, which is of great importance to our international understanding and academic and intellectual development, but in addition we could carry on another 2000 simultaneous telephone conversations which, of course, greatly expands our opportunity and our ability to communicate with the rest of the world. This is just an example and, of course, similar examples could be cited for all parts of the world, so that we are going to be able to communicate much more freely than we have ever imagined to be possible.

With all of these benefits, the question may arise in your mind, "What has the Congress been debating; why has there been any legal or legislative question about the communications satellite and its immediate development and operation?" There have been two questions: The first is the question of the ownership of the entity or the body that will operate the communications satellite system. Throughout the history of the United States, it has been traditional that communications facilities should be private enterprise facilities — that they should be owned by private business, although subject to some governmental regulation as to rates and services. The bill that the House of Representatives passed last week has incorporated this free enterprise principle into the communications satellite system.

Secondly, the question arose as to whether or not ownership, since it is to be free enterprise ownership, should be limited to American companies currently operating in the international communications field or to be opened to the public at large. This was a hot debate, but, as many other legislative questions are resolved, it has been compromised so that the existing communications carriers will have an opportunity to invest as well the public at large.

In the near future we will be gaining the benefits from this legislation. We will be having a communications satellite system which will be of immense value to all of the Free World.

Fire Awards To Be Given

Member companies of the Allegany-Garrett Counties' Volunteer Firemen's Association are reminded that Tuesday is the deadline date for submitting the names of candidates for the James E. Lamberson Memorial fire prevention award which will be presented at the annual convention June 8 in Frostburg.

Judging will be based on an individual's fire prevention activities within his own company, the two-county association and the Maryland State Firemen's Association from April 1, 1961 to March 31, 1962.

A trophy or plaque will be presented to the individual for permanent possession and another will be awarded to the fire company of the individual winner to be retained for one year.

The award is in memory of the late Mr. Lamberson, of the Barton Hose Company, who died May 31 last year while on a fire call with the Frostburg volunteer firemen.

Chairman of the awards committee is Cromwell C. Zembower of LaVale who is being assisted by Felix Foote, of Lonaconing, George Comp Jr., of Deer Park, Jesse Jacobs of Frostburg and Harry Mallow of Bowman's Addition.

70 Commuters Hurt

MILAN, Italy (UPI)—Seventy commuters suffered injuries or bruises Wednesday when a train smashed against the spring buffers at the end of a platform in Milan's northern station. Five women among the injured were hospitalized.

New Traffic Lights Undergo Test Run

Traffice lights at the intersection of Greene and Allegany streets are expected to be in operation this afternoon.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming and Chief B. F. Gaffney yesterday afternoon supervised a test run of the system.

Mr. Fleming said the lights will need some adjustments, which are scheduled to be made this morning.

Beer Lover

BARNSLEY, England (UPI) — Roy Bridley, 38, was jailed for six months Wednesday after the state charged he had downed 20 pints of beer before his arrest for drunk driving. "The laboratory workers who tested Bridley thought there had been a mistake," the prosecutor said. "A man with that much alcohol in him should have been dead."

Looking For The Offbeat? Try A Trip To Trinidad

By RALPH VILLERS
United Press International

Trinidad, an offbeat chunk of tropical real estate that gave birth to the calypso, is wooing more and more Americans into the over-ocean trek to the Caribbean.

The jet now has put the mountain-dotted, lushly vegetated island only 4 hours, 10 minutes from New York. It's also easily reached from Miami.

One refreshing aspect, despite the fact that tourism there has increased 110 per cent in the past five years, there still are so relatively few Americans around—compared to some other overrun vacation spots — that you really get the feeling of being a long way from home.

The unique mixture of races, nationalities and cultures allows you to imagine yourself almost anywhere — but the almost constant year-around warm temperature makes it certain you know you are in the tropics. As for the mixture, there are Moslems and Hindus from the East Indies, a sprinkling of Chinese and Portuguese, much from Africa, including a touch of voodoo, and there are architectural reminders of the reign of the Spanish.

The capital city of Port-of-Spain is a sun-drenched tropical crossroad where modern buildings look down on a quay dotted with donkey carts loaded with bananas. There's a Chinese restaurant specializing in American-style businessmen's lunches and ice cream sodas and there is a native fruit and meat market the likes of which you won't see anywhere else.

Although Port-of-Spain is several miles from scenic mountain roads from the Caribbean beaches envisioned by the vacation escapist, it still is the mecca for tourists. It also is the jumping off point for the smaller, really unspoiled sister island of Tobago, where there are scores of unused beaches, for the hunting and fishing in the interior of Trinidad, or offshore, and for the sightseer.

Donald A. Bain, general manager of the Trinidad and Tobago Tourist Board, who recently completed a swing through Toronto, Montreal, Chicago and New York City, reported that the number of visitors in 1961 climbed to 11,815, compared to 10,538 in 1960 and only 5,608 as recently as 1956.

"We are spending several millions as part of overall tourist development," Bain said, pointing out not only government outlays but private investments aimed at the traveler, or at making him happy.

Principal development his year is the opening of the new Trinidad Hilton Hotel, which will start receiving its first guests this month (May 15) and which will be formally dedicated June 15.

The $7.5 million "upside-down" hotel built onto the side of Belmont Hill overlooking Queen's Park Savannah in Port-of-Spain, has its entrance on the top, road-level floor. Guests take elevators down to reach one of the seven floors containing suites.

The 261 rooms which the Hilton adds give Trinidad and Tobago a total of over 1,000 guest rooms, a pretty impressive figure for an island which admittedly entered the competition for tourists rather late.

Motor Service Trainees Get FA Certificates

A standard first aid course has just been completed by a group of nine women training for Red Cross Motor Service with Allegany County Chapter. Also taking the course were four women from SS. Peter and Paul PTA, who will work in the school health room.

The first aid course is the first part of the Motor Service course and will be followed by instruction in Driver's Education and mechanical instructions necessary in case of emergency.

On Thursday at 1:30 p. m. Cpl. John F. Browning of the Maryland State Police, will talk to the class at the Red Cross office. This will be followed by a session conducted by Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary, on general information pertaining to the local chapter.

The last session of the course will be conducted May 16 at 7:30 p. m. at Gurley's Garage when William Wilgus will instruct the class in the mechanical operation of the Red Cross station wagon.

In addition to the above training, all those qualify for certificates and pins must also have completed the two-hour orientation course which is basic to all Red Cross service.

The first aid class was instructed by Dr. Rita Brinker, at the Civil Service Room, Post Office Building. Completing the course were Mrs. Betty Brode, Mrs. Dorothy B. Levins, Mrs. John T. Lloyd and Mrs. Mary F. Mason, representing SS. Peter and Paul PTA; Mrs. Miller Bowen, Mrs. Richard Bolt and Mrs. Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg Motor Service; Mrs. Annette Brock, Mrs. Margaret E. Geatz, Mrs. Martin L. Johnson, Mrs. Dorothy E. Mehle, Mrs. Gladys Shafferman and Mrs. Barbara L. Wilson, Cumberland Motor Service.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

The major action taken by the House of Representatives last week concerned the proposed communications satellite system. This fabulous space-age development will permit the human voice to be transmitted to all parts of the globe much more freely and effectively than is possible by the relatively few radio and television channels presently available.

There was no question but that the Congress favored the immediate utilization of the progress that can be made in developing and profiting from a communications satellite. This is of immense economic importance to the people of the United States and indeed to the people of all the Free World. Today, for instance, we are told that there are only about 100 telephone voice circuits between North America and Europe. This means that only about one hundred simultaneous telephone conversations can be going on between the United States and all the countries of Europe. In the event that the pressure of traffic required more circuits, people would simply have to wait their turn. If we can launch a communications satellite, and there is no question but that physically and scientifically we can do so, we can create 4000 telephone voice circuits from a single satellite. Radio messages will be beamed from the United States to the satellite and rebroadcast to the point of destination.

A television broadcast requires the power equivalent of 1000 telephone circuits. Thus, you see we only have, to date, the equivalent of 10% of the necessary power to transmit a television broadcast between the United States and Europe. With the communications satellite in operation, we will have not only enough power to broadcast two simultaneous television shows, which is of great importance to our international understanding and academic and intellectual development, but in addition we could carry on another 2000 simultaneous telephone conversations which, of course, greatly expands our opportunity and our ability to communicate with the rest of the world. This is just an example and, of course, similar examples could be cited for all parts of the world, so that we are going to be able to communicate much more freely than we have ever imagined to be possible.

With all of these benefits, the question may arise in your mind, "What has the Congress been debating: why has there been any legal or legislative question about the communications satellite and its immediate development and operation?" There have been two questions: The first is the question of the ownership of the entity or the body that will operate the communications satellite system. Throughout the history of the United States, it has been traditional that communications facilities should be private enterprise facilities — that they should be owned by private business, although subject to some governmental regulation as to rates and services. The bill that the House of Representatives passed last week has incorporated this free enterprise principle into the communications satellite system.

Secondly, the question arose as to whether or not ownership, since it is to be free enterprise ownership, should be limited to American companies currently operating in the international communications field or to be opened to the public at large. This was a hot debate, but, as many other legislative questions are resolved, it has been compromised so that the existing communications carriers will have an opportunity to invest as well the public at large.

In the near future we will be gaining the benefits from this legislation. We will be having a communications satellite system which will be of immense value to all of the Free World.

Atomic Craft Key To Space Exploration

SEATTLE (UPI) — Nuclear space propulsion systems offer the key to extensive space exploration, the second annual conference on the Peaceful Uses of Space was told here Tuesday.

Harold B. Finger, director of nuclear systems for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), told an assembly of top space scientists from throughout the United States that nuclear-propelled craft would be the type used for a visit to Mars.

"Such craft," he said, "would weigh in the neighborhood of a million pounds."

Finger said the nuclear space propulsion systems have a potential "as an endless source of power" that has not yet been fully realized.

Discussing the joint NASA-Atomic Energy Commission nuclear rocket program, Finger said the excellent performance potential of these systems "fully justifies an aggressive and urgently conducted program to develop the technology required."

Milton B. Ames Jr., director of space vehicles for NASA, told the group he was convinced that as space craft got heavier ultimately they would be landed horizontally under pilot control.

"In fact," he said, "this is one of the attractive features of the Dyna-Soar hypersonic glide vehicle which is being developed by Boeing here in Seattle."

Tawes-Pollack Tape Recording Being Sought

Wanted For Probe By State's Atty.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A tape recording of a tape recording was sought today in a proposed grand jury investigation of the Tawes-Pollack political controversy.

Saul A. Harris, Baltimore state's attorney, wants the headquarters of Gov. Tawes to give him the recording it made last Saturday at a news conference held by Jack Pollack.

The main item of the conference was a recording Pollack said was of a conversation he had with the governor during the 1958 campaign. Pollack said it proved the governor had promised him political patronage.

The Tawes headquarters — in the same hotel — had the entire news conference recorded.

That tape, said Harris, "is now important to our investigation. We definitely want to hear it."

Among other things, Harris said the recording itself might have violated a law in that it was made without the knowledge of Pollack or others in attendance.

Harris plans to submit his findings on both tapes to a grand jury Monday.

Herbert R. O'Conor, campaign manager for Tawes, said he would like to cooperate with the state's attorney, but would not say immediately if the tape would be made available.

"We also want to determine what our legal obligations are to anyone who was at the conference," O'Conor said.

O'Conor said that while the recording was made openly, there were so many present "it might be necessary to clear release of the tape with them."

He said the recording was made by a commercial company.

As an aftermath to the Tawes-Pollack patronage talks of 1958, George P. Mahoney and David Hume both said they were willing to take lie-detector tests on whether they have made any deals in their campaigns for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The dare for such tests was issued by James P. Gleason, a candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate.

Mahoney has been endorsed by Pollack. Mahoney said he would submit to a test "in the sure and certain knowledge that I have not made any deals with anyone."

Atomic Craft Key To Space Exploration

SEATTLE (UPI) — Nuclear space propulsion systems offer the key to extensive space exploration, the second annual conference on the Peaceful Uses of Space was told here Tuesday.

Harold B. Finger, director of nuclear systems for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), told an assembly of top space scientists from throughout the United States that nuclear-propelled craft would be the type used for a visit to Mars.

"Such craft," he said, "would weigh in the neighborhood of a million pounds."

Finger said the nuclear space propulsion systems have a potential "as an endless source of power" that has not yet been fully realized.

Discussing the joint NASA-Atomic Energy Commission nuclear rocket program, Finger said the excellent performance potential of these systems "fully justifies an aggressive and urgently conducted program to develop the technology required."

Milton B. Ames Jr., director of space vehicles for NASA, told the group he was convinced that as space craft got heavier ultimately they would be landed horizontally under pilot control.

"In fact," he said, "this is one of the attractive features of the Dyna-Soar hypersonic glide vehicle which is being developed by Boeing here in Seattle."

Launching of a new generation of meteorological satellites called numbus will provide total coverage of the earth's surface for weather observations, Dr. Morris Tepper, director of meteorological systems for NASA said.

Tawes-Pollack Tape Recording Being Sought

Wanted For Probe By State's Atty.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A tape recording of a tape recording was sought today in a proposed grand jury investigation of the Tawes-Pollack political controversy.

Saul A. Harris, Baltimore state's attorney, wants the headquarters of Gov. Tawes to give him the recording it made last Saturday at a news conference held by Jack Pollack.

The main item of the conference was a recording Pollack said was of a conversation he had with the governor during the 1958 campaign. Pollack said it proved the governor had promised him political patronage.

The Tawes headquarters — in the same hotel — had the entire news conference recorded.

That tape, said Harris, "is now important to our investigation. We definitely want to hear it."

Among other things, Harris said the recording itself might have violated a law in that it was made without the knowledge of Pollack or others in attendance.

Harris plans to submit his findings on both tapes to a grand jury Monday.

Herbert R. O'Conor, campaign manager for Tawes, said he would like to cooperate with the state's attorney, but would not say immediately if the tape would be made available.

"We also want to determine what our legal obligations are to anyone who was at the conference," O'Conor said.

O'Conor said that while the recording was made openly, there were so many present "it might be necessary to clear release of the tape with them."

He said the recording was made by a commercial company.

As an aftermath to the Tawes-Pollack patronage talks of 1958, George P. Mahoney and David Hume both said they were willing to take lie-detector tests on whether they have made any deals in their campaigns for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The dare for such tests was issued by James P. Gleason, a candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate.

Mahoney has been endorsed by Pollack. Mahoney said he would submit to a test "in the sure and certain knowledge that I have not made any deals with anyone."

Confidence On The Upswing

Last winter's excess of consumer caution seems to have disappeared with the coming of spring. Not only have people more money to spend (personal income is at an all-time high annual rate of $433 billion), but according to the figures they are taking greater advantage of available credit facilities.

The Federal Reserve Board reports that outstanding installment credit expanded in March by $269 million. It was the second largest monthly gain since the 1960-61 business slump, exceeded only by last November's rise of $300 million.

Installment credit increases are the net result of new purchase commitments over repayment of old debt. The movement is closely watched by management as an indication of consumers' wants and their willingness to go into debt to get what they want.

In a sense, it is a pledge of confidence in their jobs and their ability to repay. If that be the case, consumers appear to be far happier about prospects than investors, as shown by the recent slump in stock prices.

Perhaps "installment buying" should now be substituted for "stock market" in that old theory that the stock market points to business conditions six months hence.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Need We Be Scared?

The near panic in the stock market last week, when stock prices tumbled, was a response to the normal sensitivity of money to safety.

When a stock sells for 20 or 100 times its earnings, it pursues a popular but fallacious course. No mathematical knowledge or business sense justifies such inflation of values, but justification is not convincing anyhow. Many calculators (my friendly term for a speculator) buy not with their brains, although they can show myriads of work papers to make a point. They buy emotionally. They buy not because they know but because they believe, they have faith. Usually it amounts to someone saying that it is so—and the someone might be—a banker, a broker, an office-boy, a columnist or the cigarette girl in night club.

Money runs where it can make a profit and runs away from where it fears a loss. When big name stocks tumble, nobody ever says that they should tumble because their prices are too high, but rather that confidence is lost in the government, the economy, big business, labor unions or somebody's mistress. The reasons are generally illogical but then all emotion is illogical; otherwise we would call it reason.

The steel situation triggered a fear among businessmen that it is the intention of the President and his brother, the Attorney General, to destroy Big Business. There is no substance to such an assumption because no nation, in the midst of its most serious war, presently called the Cold War, destroys its agencies of production and distribution. If President Kennedy revives the techniques of President Theodore Roosevelt in handling management-labor problems, he is not destroying business; he taught it a lesson in self-discipline which it occasionally needs to learn if it is to survive.

Each man has to use his own methods to attract public attention to a correctable error. The decision is made by the public, not by officials of government or by businessmen. The decision is an imponderable; it may go the other way—nevertheless public opinion must and does prevail.

The fact that President Kennedy gave the United States Steel Corporation the back of his hand, as the Irish say, does not mean that he hates the agencies of production and distribution. It merely means that he tells the public that the boys are running wild and need pulling in. He pulled them in.

Businessmen are looking for a scapegoat. They go about saying that it is all the fault of the Attorney General, Bobby Kennedy; that he is extraordinarily brilliant and that he manipulates their destruction.

Stuff and nonsense about manipulations! Bobby is a law enforcement officer. If the businessmen and their lawyers are sure that they have done nothing wrong under the law, they have nothing to fear. Admittedly some laws are obsolescent and require restudy and revision. For instance, in competition with Europeans, Japanese and even Canadian cartels, the American company finds itself handicapped. Even more, competitive bidding is often uneconomical. Labor costs are identical; the cost of raw material is identical; taxes are the same; distribution costs are the same; prices will be the same.

Therefore it is unsound for accountants to work out unrealistic bids to prove that there has been no meeting of the minds in restraint of trade as defined by the Sherman Anti-Trust Law (passed in 1890) and subsequently interpreted by the courts and implemented by additional legislation. In 1962, this is unrealistic; nevertheless it is a law and the Attorney General is there to enforce the law. Furthermore, most complaints with regard to this law are made by businessmen who want to gore their competitor's ox, as the saying goes.

The Administration is obviously not for or against Big Business per se. It is for a stable dollar and a progressive economy. Money can be controlled: in a free society, it is difficult to control men. Therefore, to break the pattern of inflation, it is necessary either to shoot for no price increases or no wage increases. To do this without setting up fixed controls is difficult, but safer than the establishment of a locust plague of regulators and co-ordinators. The President's appeal is really of the "Do It Yourself" order.

Business would be smart to be co-operative in this effort to halt inflation. Non-cooperation could mean controls, which the NRA and OPA proved are a painful experience.

Is Literacy Bill An Invasion of States' Rights?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Kennedy wrote in a letter the other day to the New York "Herald Tribune" that the bill before Congress, which seeks to fix a sixth-grade education as enough to satisfy literacy requirements, isn't an invasion of the right of the states "to set voting standards." He says that the proposed law is aimed at and "limited to the use of discretionary tests, capable of manipulation by registration officials."

This is a surprising statement and one that has added considerable fuel to the fires burning on Capitol Hill as Senator after Senator opposed to the bill points to decisions of the Supreme Court which declare that the Constitution gives to the states alone the power to set voter qualifications.

Mr. Kennedy argues that as proof of literacy a state can determine to fix eight or twelve years of schooling or four years of college and that these would be "objective standards and qualifications which would not be affected in any way by this bill."

What the Attorney General contends really is that the federal government has the right to pass judgment on the extent to which literacy tests as such can be applied. He insists that as a substitute for the tests Congress can flatly set a sixth-grade education as a standard and the states would have to give up their literacy tests and accept this as a qualification for voting.

But although the head of the Department of Justice says it is all right for the states to use any particular grade in school as the basis for their requirements on literacy, he doesn't give any inkling as to where in the Constitution he finds any authority for Congress to take away from the states their right to determine in their own way what literacy is or is not.

Senators Willis Robertson of Virginia, Sam Ervin of North Carolina, and Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Democrats, have cited in speeches to the Senate in the last few days decision after decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in which a judgment was expressed directly contrary to that of Attorney General Kennedy.

The Virginia Senator, for instance, called attention to a case decided by the Supreme Court of the United States as recently as June 8, 1959, known as Lassiter V. Northampton County Board of Elections. It upheld a North Carolina literacy test. Justice Douglas, in speaking for a unanimous court, said:

"The states have long been held to have broad powers to determine the conditions under which the right of suffrage may be exercised. . .

"The present requirement, applicable to members of all races, is that the prospective voter 'be able to read and write any section of the Constitution of North Carolina in the English language.' That seems to us to be one fair way of determining whether a person is literate, not a calculated scheme to lay springes for the citizen. Certainly we cannot condemn it on its face as a device unrelated to the desire of North Carolina to raise the standards for people of all races who cast the ballot."

Justice Douglas quoted with approval the court's opinion in the case of Guinn V. United States, which had said:

"No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

Where the federal government, through the Department of Justice, can step in, of course, is to see to it that the literacy test is fairly applied irrespective of race or color. This means a lawsuit in any case of alleged discrimination. A particular "literacy" test law may be "unconstitutional on its face," as Justice Douglas says, but the proper place to determine this is in the courts — not in Congress.

No law of Congress, therefore, can constitutionally declare tnat, because a literacy test might possibly be a form of abuse, it should be prohibited altogether and that completion of a certain grade of school shall be accepted as a substitute for a test. If, every time an abuse occurs in any right exercised constitutionally by a state, a law then can be passed by congress fixing its own "standard" as a preventive measure, then all rights of the states under the constitution can be taken away overnight.

Justice Douglas, for instance, in the unanimous Supreme Court opinion in the North Carolina case quoted above says: "Literacy and intelligence are obviously not synonymous. Illiterate people may be intelligent voters."

Will some Attorney General in the future argue that Congress could pass a law setting standards of "intelligence"? Maybe a Republican or a Democratic majority in Congress would be encouraged to enact a law declaring that the standard of "intelligence" is satisfied by the would-be voter's expression of preference for a particular party in a given year.

The crux of the issue is not whether discrimination in determining the eligibility of a voter shall be prevented or punished but how the right to vote shall be protected. If it is desirable to fix a standard of "literacy" and to take the power away from the states, this can be done not by a law by Congress but only by adopting a constitutional amendment that has to be approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress and by three-fourths of the legislatures of the states.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

LET THERE BE LIGHT — Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, a New Jersey Democrat, admits he's been fighting a losing battle in his home town for years to try to cut down on the light bills.

"Anytime after sundown, sometimes before," confesses Gallagher, "you can count on our house being as incandescent as Edison ever imagined."

Perhaps because of his frustrations at home, Gallagher has decided to go after bigger game. He recently wrote a complaining letter to the federal agency whose building glowed with lights late into the night — after it was obvious that all the workers had left.

In his general complaint, Gallagher noted that only one office suite — on the fourth floor of the huge building, was darkened. He wondered whether it belonged to some cost-conscious public servant, was an oversized broom closet, or an area for which the architect had failed to provide electricity.

Spoofing aside, Gallagher is out to darken the many brilliantly lighted buildings in Washington, and he thinks he can bring about a sizeable savings in government money.

JOHNSON FAN — Sen. Stephen M. Young, Ohio Democrat, is an outspoken admirer of Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Young firmly believes that Johnson is the best trouble shooter in the Kennedy administration.

Recently, by way of illustrating his unbounded faith in the vice president, he told his colleagues: "Why, the vice president simply goes out to Andrews Air Base (the Washington base of the Air Force) and tells the pilot 'Go anywhere—we got troubles all over.'"

Kennedy Woos Farley As Possible Candidate For New York Governor

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Last week, President Kennedy telephoned Big Jim Farley, famous for signing letters in green ink and for promoting FDR's first election. He suggested that Big Jim consider running for Governor of New York against GOP Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Jim Farley, now 74 but just as active as when he carried a suitcase all over the USA in 1932 wooing delegates for Roosevelt, was not at all unhappy about Kennedy's call. Over the telephone he was appreciative, but noncommittal.

The President was quite aware of the fact that it was not up to him to pick the standard bearer for the Democratic party in New York, but he told Farley that he ought seriously to consider the matter and keep himself in readiness for a draft.

Big Jim didn't say so, but he is not averse to being wooed. Ever since he broke with Roosevelt over his ambition to be FDR's Vice Presidential running mate, Jim has been politically restless. He has worked at selling Coca-Cola abroad and has done a terrific job. However, the smell of the political ring brings all the nostalgic yearnings that the smell of sawdust does to an old circus performer.

Mrs. Roosevelt Mellows

Meanwhile, the New York liberals, once down on Farlye, have changed their tune. Age has mellowed both sides.

Mrs. Roosevelt, a power behind the liberals, once threw her weight to Henry Wallace against Farley at the crucial 1940 Democratic Convention in Chicago. Today she and Farley are friendly.

Kennedy, who plans a long way in advance, began considering a candidate to run against Governor Rockefeller even before Inauguration Day. To this end, he wanted Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., made secretary of the Navy, as a build-up for the governor's race. Secretary of Defense McNamara, a Republican, spiked this, though not for political reasons. He didn't feel happy about FDR Jr., as part of his defense setup.

Today, Rockefeller, despite his divorce, is running fairly strong. Some New York Democrats don't believe he can be beaten. But they agree that Farley, a man with a reputation upstate as well as in New York City, might be able to do it.

Note—After Vice President Johnson agreed to fly out to Seattle to dedicate the opening of the Fair's glamorous space exhibit today, he found that this was New York day at the fair and that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was to be there also. LBJ is just as anxious to defeat Rocky for governor as JFK is; so was not happy about the simultaneous appearances.

Backstage With Farm Bill

Getting a vote on the farm bill in the House is about as delicate an operation as balancing on a tightwire . . . The House Agriculture Committee was all set to vote Monday when it was found that Congressman Harlan Hagen of California was in New York and had forgotten to give his proxy to Chairman Cooley . . . Also Took Gathings of Arkansas said he'd given his proxy to Bob Poage of Texas, but Poage couldn't find it . . . This made the Democrats shy two votes. For Congressman Grant of Alabama has now lined up with the Republicans. He sent his proxy to Chairman Cooley of North Carolina with instructions to vote him with the Republicans. This came after the Post Office Department in Washingotn had played into Congressman Frank Boykin's hands by announcing plans for a new post office in Mobile just at a time when it would help Boykin's re-election. Boykin and Grant have been running about neck-and-neck in the Alabama statewide race for Congress . . . Sen. Milt Young, of North Dakota, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, has been taking Senate Agriculture Chairman Allen Ellender to the fairway and whispering in his ear between strokes against the Kennedy farm program. Though he doesn't look like a manipulator, Young has replaced the late Sen. Styles Bridges, New Hampshire Republican, as the Senate's most stealthy backstage operator . . . Such are the problems that the public doesn't know about which go into passing the laws to govern the farms of the nation.

Aftermath Of Steel Crackdown

Kennedy's crackdown on U. S. Steel has begun to pay dividends —for the steel industry itself.

It didn't make headlines, but the Steelworkers recently sided with Jones and Laughlin Steel against one of its own locals to prevent another crisis in the steel industry. This time, President Kennedy would have taken action against labor.

The trouble started over the absence of a senior worker at Jones-Laughlin's largest stainless steel plant in Detroit. Under union rules, his work was supposed to be handled by the next in seniority.

But the No. 2 man refused to take the job in order that the third in seniority could claim it. He had the day off and could demand double-time pay.

The company refused to play along wtih this game, and local president Mickey Yow called a wildcat strike last week. Over 800 workers walked off the job.

Jones and Laughlin promptly fired the local president, vice president, and four stop stewards. Appealing to his superiors in the union for help in putting the company in its place, Yow received instead a sharp letter from Charles Younglove, the United Steel Workers' district director.

He informed Yow that the walkout was illegal, that disciplinary action was justifiable, and that both the international and local unions were subject to legal action.

In short, Younglove acknowledged that the walkout was a breach of contract and disclaimed any responsibility by the International Union.

Contest Of Nastiness

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS

In the whole history of the Western Alliance, there has been nothing quite like the present remarkably ugly relationship between France and the United States.

Hard feelings have arisen often enough. Divergences of policy have appeared from time to time. But in the present case, Gen. de Gaulle and President Kennedy are not merely pursuing rather directly contradictory policies. The two governments also appear to be doing their best to inflame the situation still further, by all sorts of calculated mutual slights and petty persecutions.

The French gambits range from refusing entry into France of American frozen poultry to a new and very hurtful practice of giving preference to Soviet coal, instead of importing the American coal that the U. S. badly needs to sell. A typical American gambit was the recent refusal to sell the French tanker aircraft, on the ground that the tankers might just conceivably be used to air-refuel French attack-planes which might later, just conceivably, be used to carry French nuclear weapons.

The original aggressor in this lunatic contest of nastiness was clearly Gen. de Gaulle. Men primarily obsessed with grandeur and with rank, as de Gaulle is obsessed, rather often display a strange combination of pettiness and greatness. The plate turned over at the dinner party, because the seating offends their ideas of protocol, is a gesture understood and approved by such men.

In Gen. de Gaulle's mind, the American refusal to encourage France's nuclear aspirations, the summary rejection of his plan for an Anglo-Franco-American directory of the West, were shocking offenses against protocol, in fact insults to the proper rank of France, on the biggest scale.

The plate therefore had to be turned over at the dinner party. Thus members of former Prime Minister Michel Debre's personal staff were actually given the specific assignment of finding things France could do to damage American interests, like the transfer of coal purchases, as well as locating potential points of noncooperation of a less damaging but lesson-teaching character.

Since protocol-protective plateturning is not widely understood in homespun Washington, the plateturning was counter productive for Gen. de Gaulle. Except in the State Department, almost every strong member of the Kennedy administration, notably including the President and Secretary of Defense McNamara, entered office with strong Gaullist sympathies. But the pettiness and unfriendliness systematically display by Paris gave strong arguments to the rather weak faction of Washington anti-Gaullists.

The result, which might have been quite different in another climate, was the Kennedy administration's lately re-affirmed decision to oppose and obstruct France's nuclear ambitions. The immediate effect has been to damage and isolate just about every surviving pro-American official in the French government. There were many such, who also criticized such features of the de Gaulle policy as his ostentatious withdrawal from the Berlin soundings with the Soviets. Now these men are all but silenced.

They are silenced, in turn, because of a fundamental American miscalculation. This was implied by the reported remark of the State Department's Dr. Robert Bowie, to the French Ambassador of all people, that when Providence removed Gen. de Gaulle the nuclear aspirations of France would also vanish. These aspirations will not vanish. They are a fact of Western life, which the American policymakers had better face.

There are other facts that need to be faced as well. To begin with, the kind of Europe Gen. de Gaulle wants to construct, without the British, is almost the flat opposite of the kind of Europe President Kennedy has been plugging for, with the British as Europeans.

De Gaulle wants his Europe not just to be able to defend itself against the Soviets, but also to be able to defy the United States; and this second objective seems to him nearly as important as the first. Furthermore, it is far from clear that the passage of the Kennedy trade bill will lead on to happy, fruitful economic negotiations between the U. S. and a Europe dominated by de Gaulle. The stories of the coal and frozen poultry are highly indictative in this connection.

Finally, de Gaulle's Europe is far from being such a mad conception as many Washington policymakers now suppose. If the British pay the entry-fee the Europeans are asking, de Gaulle will be momentarily checkmated. But what if the British balk? Chancellor Adenauer, the one German leader whose policy is irrevocably founded on the American connection, is finally coming very near to the end of his time. Already, in his Machiavellian way, de Gaulle is using the U. S.-Soviet talks about Berlin to implant among the Germans the belief that they are being sold down the river by the Americans.

All this is most unpleasant and unpalatable. But yet another fact that must be faced is the simple fact that Gen. de Gaulle will not change and will not soon be eliminated from the scene. Thus the American policymakers have only two choices. They can either change their minds about refusing to do business with de Gaulle; or they must shape their actions to make sure he is thoroughly hedged in, at Bonn, in Rome, and in other centers where American errors can give him the supports he needs.

Oldsters Comment On Withdrawal From Life

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Two months ago we wrote on disengagement in oldsters. We mentioned that many older persons withdraw from society gradually and occasionally isolate themselves completely from relatives, friends, and neighbors. This is somewhat of a mutual withdrawal. The elderly are not being deserted by others but are driven by some inner force to fade out of the picture to limit their contacts and conserve their strength.

Many older readers who had experienced this phenomenon wrote to us. One letter was from a 77-year-old man who said the article fitted him so well he wanted to thank me. "Now, when someone bawls me out for not talking, I just show them your article and that's it. I assure you, money couldn't buy that clipping."

A 70-year-old woman who lives with her sister had this to say about disengagement: "I almost crave one room where I can be free to hide or go it alone. This reminds me of a spunky, cuddly little widow who was asked by a well meaning friend, 'Aren't you lonely now?' She replied, 'No. That's the worst of this, you get so you like it'. She recognized it as 'worst' yet made it good by liking it."

A Chicagoan believes the article in question should be required reading by members of the rocking chair set. "Older people do not necessarily withdraw from society because of changed perception of self. Might it not be that they can look at life and the world more objectively? Self-centeredness need not increase with age unless the person has lived a self-centered life.

"If the old timer wails about neglect by his children, he probably has it coming to him. If he wants companionship and fun, he should keep acquainted with his grandchildren. Watching them grow will keep him young."

Mrs. J. S., a New Yorker, hopes the article will enlighten people so that oldsters won't be considered odd or queer or even mentally ill if they want to keep to themselves. "After all, most elderly people have had their day," she wrote. "Now it's time for quiet and relaxation and doing just the little things they feel like doing."

Disengagement does not occur in all our senior citizens but I wrote about it to help explain why some older people withdraw and seem to like it.

BEARISH IN A. M.

J. B. writes: My 18-year-old brother is very unfriendly when he gets up in the morning. He won't talk to anyone and says he can't help it. In the evening, he has a wonderful disposition. Is this something he will outgrow?

REPLY

Possibly. Some people are matutinophobes and need time to get going in the morning. They differ from the matutinophiles, who jump out of bed feeling like a million and do their best work in the morning.

A METALBOLIC DISORDER

Mrs. G. writes: Does improper eating cause diabetes?

REPLY

No. The cause of diabetes centers about the pancreas and liver. Carbohydrates (sugars) are not metabolized properly because less than normal amounts of insulin are produced.

UG!

E. F. writes: What do you think of a mixture of lard and sulfur for bedsores?

REPLY

Terrible. There are better remedies, including cleanliness and ointments containing efficient antiseptics.

SPREAD OF HEPATITIS

C. L. writes: Can hepatitis be spread by dirty public washrooms?

REPLY

Possibly, because this liver disorder is caused by a virus that is transmitted through contaminated wastes.

TOMORROW: Biting Dogs.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A traffic cop flagged a lady doing eighty-five on a crowded throughway and dodging from lane to lane. He examined her license and returned it with this quizzical observation. "Your license seems to be valid, madam. Now would you mind telling me how the heck you got it?"

Mr. Hornblower, applying for credit in a new restaurant, was requested to give references. "I have charge accounts," wrote Mr. Hornblower, "with Bergdorf, Tiffany's, Van Cleef's, Dior, and every other store, furrier, and jeweler my wife has ever heard of."

Two attractive teen-age girls were flouncing along the Boardwalk at Atlantic City, "Do you ever get that funny feeling, Sylvia," pouted one, "that you're not being followed?"

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, — Although Joanne Woodward continues rehearsing her striptease routines for "Celebration" on the rehearsal stage at 20th Century-Fox every day, getting the rest of the cast lined up is nothing to celebrate about.

Jerry Wald wants Katharine Hepburn for the older woman, but the deal is nowhere near completion. And Carol Lynley has bowed out of the part of the other girl.

Meanwhile, Missy Woodward is having a ball learning the art of the burlesque queen. "I may just get myself a couple of balloons and accept a booking in Las Vegas," she laughs.

Madlyn Rhue consciously or unconsciously tipped her hand the other evening that she will be a married lady by the time the Yule holidays roll around. At a party at Donna Wood's house where a group of celebrities were posing for national magazine Christmas art (YES, THEY DO IT THIS EARLY) the Christmas decorations reminded Madlyn that she orations reminded Madlyn that she never gets her holiday cards mailed in time.

"Why don't you have them printed now and start early?" someone suggested.

"Oh, my name will be Mrs. Tony Young by Christmas," Madlyn let it slip. (He's the young actor who did so well in "The Gunslinger" TV series).

Poor Eve Arden couldn't have had a more disastrous weekend. She and Brooks Went had no more than arrived in San Diego where Eve was to have appeared at a charity affair than word reached them that their six-year-old son, Doug, was being rushed to the hospital threatened with pneumonia.

Driving home from the hospital after assuring themselves that the child was much improved, Eve lost control of her car on one of the hill roads near their Thousand Oaks home—and the car turned completely over. Luckily, it landed in and was supported by a heavy undergrowth and she and Brooks climbed out with only surface injuries.

The Hotel Del Coronado stole the spotlight from Beverly Hills and Hollywood over the weekend for one of the most beautiful social affairs I've ever attended, the Chancellor's Ball, marking the establishment of the scholarship fund for the school of law at the University of San Diego. The occasion was graced by the presence of his excellency, the Most Reverend Charles Francis Buddy, Bishop of San Diego.

Ran into Jack Haley, master of ceremonies and producer Jack Cummings who both agreed that the grand ballroom of the Coronado had been turned into a scene of regal splendor. It was a sight to see the chancellors in their white wigs and black robes, the ladies in their sweeping ball gowns, white gloves and jewels.

We were the guests of Judge and Mrs. De Witt Merriam, the gracious Portia Merriam being chairman of the ball.

Entertainment was provided by Alvino Rey and his orchestra, talented little Ginny Tiu and her adorable little Chinese doll sisters and brothers, and a terrific young new singer Aldo Romano.

All in all it was a big weekend for John Alessio, owner of the hotel, who became a grandfather when his daughter Tina (Mrs. Joseph Cutri) welcomed a boy.

How internationally famed bull fighter Antonio Ordonoz, who barely escaped with his life after a serious goring just weeks ago, can muster the courage to return to the scene of the crime, I'll never know. But I get it from his pal Gilbert Roland that Ordonoz returns to the TiJuana ring to fight on July 8.

Since the near tragedy, Antonio has been a patient in the TiJuana Hospital. But Gil went down to bring him to his home in Brentwood and put him under the care of Gil's personal physician.

Ask Gilbert, whose father was a great bullfighter in Spain, how a man who suffered the fate of Ordonoz can get back so soon, and he says "Why not?"

One of the TV plums of the season goes to Herman Hover. In cooperation with Pan-American airways, Hover will do a series in foreign locales. Production kicks off within a month in Hawaii.

Herman has produced and directed half a dozen successful Broadway shows including the "Earl Carroll Vanities" and "Shadow and Circumstance," the latter for Lee Schubert and Eddie Dowling.

More recently he wrote, directed and produced a series for CBS and some local shows both here and in Honolulu, all hits.

Even the other actors are impressed by the high living of George Sanders and his wife (Benita Colman) during the shooting of "Cairo" in Egypt. Sanders, who has always been picky about his food, is having butter, cream, eggs and vintage wines flown in weekly from their chalet in Switzerland.

For people who are getting a divorce, Stephanie and Efrem Zimbalist are seeing an awful lot of each other.

Now that Shirley Booth is winding up her very popular "Hazel" TV show this week, she's returning to her 130-year-old cottage on Cape Cod—and the very welcome services of her own good maid!

Ho, Ho! When Parisian artist Philippe Noyer, who has painted many Hollywood beauties including Dinah Shore, Alan Ladd, Mrs. Delmer Daves and others, appeared on a TV show last week in conjunction with his exhibition at the Hammer Galleries in New York, he was asked to make no reference to the fact he had also painted the protrait of Elizabeth Taylor!

Sculptress Katherine Stubergh, who has 47 figures in our new wax museum, married Honolulu artist Tom Keller over the weekend.

With the people's choice, Red Skelton booked in for four weeks starting June 13, Jack Entratter, boss of the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, says "we have more turnaways on Red than some stars draw in."

Strange—but the Harold Hechts divorce becomes final this month and Harold and Gloria still have not reached a property settlement.

Frank Capra's lovely daughter, Lucille, was married Saturday to William Gene Bruch who has been attending San Diego State College and they are honeymooning in Mexico City.

We couldn't make a trip to San Diego without going on to the races at TiJuana, guests of Judge and Portia Merriam and John Alessio. Lots of fun—but I hope I have better luck at Hollywood Park, where they are off and running today.

We have repeatedly stressed the point on these pages that, when a contract appears to be a sure thing, declarer should adopt super-safe precautions to allow for the possibility of some very remote bad break. Conversely, when the situation appears to be hopeless, he should seize at any available straw, in a desperate effort to avoid defeat. The declarer's performance in today's hand is not only one of the most fantastic illustrations on record of the latter half of this sermon, but it surely ranks as the long shot of the season.

The bidding was sound. After North's heart raise, his partner was determined to reach at least a small slam, but in an effort to ferret out bigger things he made a cue bid in diamonds. When North merely signed off, South proceeded without further ado to six hearts.

Unaware of the drama that was in the offing, West chose to stand pat with his high cards and came off to the neutral lead of the jack of diamonds. Declarer won the trick in his hand with the ace and cashed his top heart honors. When the queen failed to drop it appeared that he had two sure losers in the form of the outstanding trump and the ace of clubs.

Before conceding, however, South studied the combined holdings to determine if there was any possible adverse distribution that would give him a chance. Presently he observed that if he could obtain four club discards on the dummy's spade suit before West could obtain the lead with the queen of hearts, the "dead horse" might be revived.

The only distribution that would make this super-long shot possible was five small spades in the West hand and a blank king in the East hand. So reasoning, declarer led his nine of spades over to the ace and was duly rewarded by East with the blank honor. Three clubs were thrown on the top spades, and a spade ruff then established the long card of the suit. A diamond put the dummy in to cash the six of spades, as South shed his last club.

The defense was restricted to the queen of trumps and, when the play ended, West was subjected to a severe lecture by his partner on the subject of cashing his tricks where they lay.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Be A Self-Made Beauty

There is no handicap of feature for which there is no cosmetic correction. For instance, many women accept a thin, bony, pointed chin as a disadvantage they can do nothing about but endure. Yet see how easily its irritation can be removed from your reflection in your mirror!

1. Make sure that the V line of your chin is never repeated in anything you wear near your face. V necklines are not for you, but square and round necklines are; so are curving collars, lapels, pussy-cat bows, hugging chokers, and knobby earrings.

2. In millinery, shy away from peaked crowns and brims. But you can depend on the shallow-rounded or squared-off crowns, the very straight and sharply diagonal brims to soften the line of your chin. And cushiony toques should be just your dish of chapeau.

3. Style your hair close to your head at the cheek and behind the ears. Too much fluff anywhere around the lower jaw only makes the small chin look still smaller. The effect is that of a tiny picture in a huge frame. And for the same reason, do not let your eyebrows extend beyond the eye sockets.

4. Blend a lighter foundation over your chin than the one you use on the rest of your face. It's a trick that not only ovalizes the chin's contour but encourages it to take a more prominent place in your face!

5. Unless you have an unusually small mouth, cheat on your application of lipstick: Do not fill in the corners. Place your cheek rouge close to your nose. Curl your eyelashes straight up with mascara.

And here's the most important tip: Carry your chin parallel to the floor without fail! That's it—chin up! What have you to be down about now?

Confidence On The Upswing

Last winter's excess of consumer caution seems to have disappeared with the coming of spring. Not only have people more money to spend (personal income is at an all-time high annual rate of $433 billion), but according to the figures they are taking greater advantage of available credit facilities.

The Federal Reserve Board reports that outstanding installment credit expanded in March by $269 million. It was the second largest monthly gain since the 1960-61 business slump, exceeded only by last November's rise of $300 million.

Installment credit increases are the net result of new purchase commitments over repayment of old debt. The movement is closely watched by management as an indication of consumers' wants and their willingness to go into debt to get what they want.

In a sense, it is a pledge of confidence in their jobs and their ability to repay. If that be the case, consumers appear to be far happier about prospects than investors, as shown by the recent slump in stock prices.

Perhaps "installment buying" should now be substituted for "stock market" in that old theory that the stock market points to business conditions six months hence.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Need We Be Scared?

The near panic in the stock market last week, when stock prices tumbled, was a response to the normal sensitivity of money to safety.

When a stock sells for 20 or 100 times its earnings, it pursues a popular but fallacious course. No mathematical knowledge or business sense justifies such inflation of values, but justification is not convincing anyhow. Many calculators (my friendly term for a speculator) buy not with their brains, although they can show myriads of work papers to make a point. They buy emotionally. They buy not because they know but because they believe, they have faith. Usually it amounts to someone saying that it is so—and the someone might be—a banker, a broker, an office-boy, a columnist or the cigarette girl in night club.

Money runs where it can make a profit and runs away from where it fears a loss. When big name stocks tumble, nobody ever says that they should tumble because their prices are too high, but rather that confidence is lost in the government, the economy, big business, labor unions or somebody's mistress. The reasons are generally illogical but then all emotion is illogical; otherwise we would call it reason.

The steel situation triggered a fear among businessmen that it is the intention of the President and his brother, the Attorney General, to destroy Big Business. There is no substance to such an assumption because no nation, in the midst of its most serious war, presently called the Cold War, destroys its agencies of production and distribution. If President Kennedy revives the techniques of President Theodore Roosevelt in handling management-labor problems, he is not destroying business; he taught it a lesson in self-discipline which it occasionally needs to learn if it is to survive.

Each man has to use his own methods to attract public attention to a correctable error. The decision is made by the public, not by officials of government or by businessmen. The decision is an imponderable; it may go the other way—nevertheless public opinion must and does prevail.

The fact that President Kennedy gave the United States Steel Corporation the back of his hand, as the Irish say, does not mean that he hates the agencies of production and distribution. It merely means that he tells the public that the boys are running wild and need pulling in. He pulled them in.

Businessmen are looking for a scapegoat. They go about saying that it is all the fault of the Attorney General, Bobby Kennedy; that he is extraordinarily brilliant and that he manipulates their destruction.

Stuff and nonsense about manipulations! Bobby is a law enforcement officer. If the businessmen and their lawyers are sure that they have done nothing wrong under the law, they have nothing to fear. Admittedly some laws are obsolescent and require restudy and revision. For instance, in competition with Europeans, Japanese and even Canadian cartels, the American company finds itself handicapped. Even more, competitive bidding is often uneconomical. Labor costs are identical; the cost of raw material is identical; taxes are the same; distribution costs are the same; prices will be the same.

Therefore it is unsound for accountants to work out unrealistic bids to prove that there has been no meeting of the minds in restraint of trade as defined by the Sherman Anti-Trust Law (passed in 1890) and subsequently interpreted by the courts and implemented by additional legislation. In 1962, this is unrealistic; nevertheless it is a law and the Attorney General is there to enforce the law. Furthermore, most complaints with regard to this law are made by businessmen who want to gore their competitor's ox, as the saying goes.

The Administration is obviously not for or against Big Business per se. It is for a stable dollar and a progressive economy. Money can be controlled; in a free society, it is difficult to control men. Therefore, to break the pattern of inflation, it is necessary either to shoot for no price increases or no wage increases. To do this without setting up fixed controls is difficult, but safer than the establishment of a locust plague of regulators and co-ordinators. The President's appeal is really of the "Do It Yourself" order.

Business would be smart to be co-operative in this effort to halt inflation. Non-cooperation could mean controls, which the NRA and OPA proved are a painful experience.

Kennedy Woos Farley As Possible Candidate For New York Governor

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Last week, President Kennedy telephoned Big Jim Farley, famous for signing letters in green ink and for promoting FDR's first election. He suggested that Big Jim consider running for Governor of New York against GOP Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Jim Farley, now 74 but just as active as when he carried a suitcase all over the USA in 1932 wooing delegates for Roosevelt, was not at all unhappy about Kennedy's call. Over the telephone he was appreciative, but noncommittal.

The President was quite aware of the fact that it was not up to him to pick the standard bearer for the Democratic party in New York, but he told Farley that he ought seriously to consider the matter and keep himself in readiness for a draft.

Big Jim didn't say so, but he is not averse to being wooed. Ever since he broke with Roosevelt over his ambition to be FDR's Vice Presidential running mate, Jim has been politically restless. He has worked at selling Coca-Cola abroad and has done a terrific job. However, the smell of the political ring brings all the nostalgic yearnings that the smell of sawdust does to an old circus performer.

Mrs. Roosevelt Mellows

Meanwhile, the New York liberals, once down on Farlye, have changed their tune. Age has mellowed both sides.

Mrs. Roosevelt, a power behind the liberals, once threw her weight to Henry Wallace against Farley at the crucial 1940 Democratic Convention in Chicago. Today she and Farley are friendly.

Kennedy, who plans a long way in advance, began considering a candidate to run against Governor Rockefeller even before Inauguration Day. To this end, he wanted Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., made secretary of the Navy, as a buildup for the governor's race. Secretary of Defense McNamara, a Republican, spiked this, though not for political reasons. He didn't feel happy about FDR Jr., as part of his defense setup.

Today, Rockefeller, despite his divorce, is running fairly strong. Some New York Democrats don't believe he can be beaten. But they agree that Farley, a man with a reputation upstate as well as in New York City, might be able to do it.

Note—After Vice President Johnson agreed to fly out to Seattle to dedicate the opening of the Fair's glamorous space exhibit today, he found that this was New York day at the fair and that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was to be there also. LBJ is just as anxious to defeat Rocky for governor as JFK is; so was not happy about the simultaneous appearances.

Backstage With Farm Bill

Getting a vote on the farm bill in the House is about as delicate an operation as balancing on a tightwire . . . The House Agriculture Committee was all set to vote Monday when it was found that Congressman Harlan Hagen of California was in New York and had forgotten to give his proxy to Chairman Cooley . . . Also Took Gathings of Arkansas said he'd given his proxy to Bob Poage of Texas, but Poage couldn't find it . . . This made the Democrats shy two votes. For Congressman Grant of Alabama has now lined up with the Republicans. He sent his proxy to Chairman Cooley of North Carolina with instructions to vote him with the Republicans. This came after the Post Office Department in Washingotn had played into Congressman Frank Boykin's hands by announcing plans for a new post office in Mobile just at a time when it would help Boykin's re-election. Boykin and Grant have been running about neck-and-neck in the Alabama statewide race for Congress . . . Sen. Milt Young, of North Dakota, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, has been taking Senate Agriculture Chairman Allen Ellender to the fairway and whispering in his ear between strokes against the Kennedy farm program. Though he doesn't look like a manipulator, Young has replaced the late Sen. Styles Bridges, New Hampshire Republican, as the Senate's most stealthy backstage operator . . . Such are the problems that the public doesn't know about which go into passing the laws to govern the farms of the nation.

Aftermath Of Steel Crackdown

Kennedy's crackdown on U. S. Steel has begun to pay dividends —for the steel industry itself.

It didn't make headlines, but the Steelworkers recently sided with Jones and Laughlin Steel against one of its own locals to prevent another crisis in the steel industry. This time, President Kennedy would have taken action against labor.

The trouble started over the absence of a senior worker at Jones-Laughlin's largest stainless steel plant in Detroit. Under union rules, his work was supposed to be handled by the next in seniority.

But the No. 2 man refused to take the job in order that the third in seniority could claim it. He had the day off and could demand double-time pay.

The company refused to play along wtih this game, and local president Mickey Yow called a wildcat strike last week. Over 800 workers walked off the job.

Jones and Laughlin promptly fired the local president, vice president, and four stop stewards. Appealing to his superiors in the union for help in putting the company in its place, Yow received instead a sharp letter from Charles Younglove, the United Steel Workers' district director.

He informed Yow that the walkout was illegal, that disciplinary action was justifiable, and that both the international and local unions were subject to legal action.

In short, Younglove acknowledged that the walkout was a breach of contract and disclaimed any responsibility by the International Union.

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Kennedy wrote in a letter the other day to the New York "Herald Tribune" that the bill before Congress, which seeks to fix a sixth-grade education as enough to satisfy literacy requirements, isn't an invasion of the right of the states "to set voting standards." He says that the proposed law is aimed at and "limited to the use of discretionary tests, capable of manipulation by registration officials."

This is a surprising statement and one that has added considerable fuel to the fires burning on Capitol Hill as Senator after Senator opposed to the bill points to decisions of the Supreme Court which declare that the Constitution gives to the states alone the power to set voter qualifications.

Mr. Kennedy argues that as proof of literacy a state can determine to fix eight or twelve years of schooling or four years of college and that these would be "objective standards and qualifications which would not be affected in any way by this bill."

What the Attorney General contends really is that the federal government has the right to pass judgment on the extent to which literacy tests as such can be applied. He insists that as a substitute for the tests Congress can flatly set a sixth-grade education as a standard and the states would have to give up their literacy tests and accept this as a qualification for voting.

But although the head of the Department of Justice says it is all right for the states to use any particular grade in school as the basis for their requirements on literacy, he doesn't give any inkling as to where in the Constitution he finds any authority for Congress to take away from the states their right to determine in their own way what literacy is or is not.

Senators Willis Robertson of Virginia, Sam Ervin of North Carolina, and Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Democrats, have cited in speeches to the Senate in the last few days decision after decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in which a judgment was expressed directly contrary to that of Attorney General Kennedy.

The Virginia Senator, for instance, called attention to a case decided by the Supreme Court of the United States as recently as June 8, 1959, known as Lassiter V. Northampton County Board of Elections. It upheld a North Carolina literacy test. Justice Douglas, in speaking for a unanimous court, said:

"The states have long been held to have broad powers to determine the conditions under which the right of suffrage may be exercised. . .

"The present requirement, applicable to members of all races, is that the prospective voter 'be able to read and write any section of the Constitution of North Carolina in the English language.' That seems to us to be one fair way of determining whether a person is literate, not a calculated scheme to lay springes for the citizen. Certainly we cannot condemn it on its face as a device unrelated to the desire of North Carolina to raise the standards for people of all races who cast the ballot."

Justice Douglas quoted with approval the court's opinion in the case of Guinn V. United States, which had said:

"No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

Where the federal government, through the Department of Justice, can step in, of course, is to see to it that the literacy test is fairly applied irrespective of race or color. This means a lawsuit in any case of alleged discrimination. A particular "literacy" test law may be "unconstitutional on its face," as Justice Douglas says, but the proper place to determine this is in the courts — not in Congress.

No law of Congress, therefore, can constitutionally declare that, because a literacy test might possibly be a form of abuse, it should be prohibited altogether and that completion of a certain grade of school shall be accepted as a substitute for a test. If, every time an abuse occurs in any right exercised constitutionally by a state, a law then can be passed by congress fixing its own "standard" as a preventive measure, then all rights of the states under the constitution can be taken away overnight.

Justice Douglas, for instance, in the unanimous Supreme Court opinion in the North Carolina case quoted above says: "Literacy and intelligence are obviously not synonymous. Illiterate people may be intelligent voters."

Will some Attorney General in the future argue that Congress could pass a law setting standards of "intelligence"? Maybe a Republican or a Democratic majority in Congress would be encouraged to enact a law declaring that the standard of "intelligence" is satisfied by the would-be voter's expression of preference for a particular party in a given year.

The crux of the issue is not whether discrimination in determining the eligibility of a voter shall be prevented or punished but how the right to vote shall be protected. If it is desirable to fix a standard of "literacy" and to take the power away from the states, this can be done not by a law by Congress but only by adopting a constitutional amendment that has to be approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress and by three-fourths of the legislatures of the states.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

LET THERE BE LIGHT — Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, a New Jersey Democrat, admits he's been fighting a losing battle in his home town for years to try to cut down on the light bills.

"Anytime after sundown, sometimes before," confesses Gallagher, "you can count on our house being as incandescent as Edison ever imagined."

Perhaps because of his frustrations at home, Gallagher has decided to go after bigger game. He recently wrote a complaining letter to the federal agency whose building glowed with lights late into the night — after it was obvious that all the workers had left.

In his general complaint, Gallagher noted that only one office suite — on the fourth floor of the huge building, was darkened. He wondered whether it belonged to some cost-conscious public servant, was an oversized broom closet, or an area for which the architect had failed to provide electricity.

Spoofing aside, Gallagher is out to darken the many brilliantly lighted buildings in Washington, and he thinks he can bring about a sizeable savings in government money.

JOHNSON FAN — Sen. Stephen M. Young, Ohio Democrat, is an outspoken admirer of Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Young firmly believes that Johnson is the best trouble shooter in the Kennedy administration.

Recently, by way of illustrating his unbounded faith in the vice president, he told his colleagues: "Why, the vice president simply goes out to Andrews Air Base (the Washington base of the Air Force) and tells the pilot 'Go anywhere—we got troubles all over.'"

Contest Of Nastiness

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS

In the whole history of the Western Alliance, there has been nothing quite like the present remarkably ugly relationship between France and the United States.

Hard feelings have arisen often enough. Divergences of policy have appeared from time to time. But in the present case, Gen. de Gaulle and President Kennedy are not merely pursuing rather directly contradictory policies. The two governments also appear to be doing their best to inflame the situation still further, by all sorts of calculated mutual slights and petty persecutions.

The French gambits range from refusing entry into France of American frozen poultry to a new and very hurtful practice of giving preference to Soviet coal, instead of importing the American coal that the U. S. badly needs to sell. A typical American gambit was the recent refusal to sell the French tanker aircraft, on the ground that the tankers might just conceivably be used to air-refuel French attack-planes which might later, just conceivably, be used to carry French nuclear weapons.

The original aggressor in this lunatic contest of nastiness was clearly Gen. de Gaulle. Men primarily obsessed with grandeur and with rank, as de Gaulle is obsessed, rather often display a strange combination of pettiness and greatness. The plate turned over at the dinner party, because the seating offends their ideas of protocol, is a gesture understood and approved by such men.

In Gen. de Gaulle's mind, the American refusal to encourage France's nuclear aspirations, the summary rejection of his plan for an Anglo-Franco-American directory of the West, were shocking offenses against protocol, in fact insults to the proper rank of France, on the biggest scale.

The plate therefore had to be turned over at the dinner party. Thus members of former Prime Minister Michel Debre's personal staff were actually given the specific assignment of finding things France could do to damage American interests, like the transfer of coal purchases, as well as locating potential points of noncooperation of a less damaging but lesson-teaching character.

Since protocol-protective plateturning is not widely understood in homespun Washington, the plateturning was counter productive for Gen. de Gaulle. Except in the State Department, almost every strong member of the Kennedy administration, notably including the President and Secretary of Defense McNamara, entered office with strong Gaullist sympathies. But the pettiness and unfriendliness systematically display by Paris gave strong arguments to the rather weak faction of Washington anti-Gaullists.

The result, which might have been quite different in another climate, was the Kennedy administration's lately re-affirmed decision to oppose and obstruct France's nuclear ambitions. The immediate effect has been to damage and isolate just about every surviving pro-American official in the French government. There were many such, who also criticized such features of the de Gaulle policy as his ostentatious withdrawal from the Berlin soundings with the Soviets. Now these men are all but silenced.

They are silenced, in turn, because of a fundamental American miscalculation. This was implied by the reported remark of the State Department's Dr. Robert Bowie, to the French Ambassador of all people, that when Providence removed Gen. de Gaulle the nuclear aspirations of France would also vanish. These aspirations will not vanish. They are a fact of Western life, which the American policymakers had better face.

There are other facts that need to be faced as well. To begin with, the kind of Europe Gen. de Gaulle wants to construct, without the British, is almost the flat opposite of the kind of Europe President Kennedy has been plugging for, with the British as Europeans.

De Gaulle wants his Europe not just to be able to defend itself against the Soviets, but also to be able to defy the United States; and this second objective seems to him nearly as important as the first. Furthermore, it is far from clear that the passage of the Kennedy trade bill will lead on to happy, fruitful economic negotiations between the U. S. and a Europe dominated by de Gaulle. The stories of the coal and frozen poultry are highly indictative in this connection.

Finally, de Gaulle's Europe is far from being such a mad conception as many Washington policymakers now suppose. If the British pay the entry-fee the Europeans are asking, de Gaulle will be momentarily checkmated. But what if the British balk? Chancellor Adenauer, the one German leader whose policy is irrevocably founded on the American connection, is finally coming very near to the end of his time. Already, in his Machiavellian way, de Gaulle is using the U. S.-Soviet talks about Berlin to implant among the Germans the belief that they are being sold down the river by the Americans.

All this is most unpleasant and unpalatable. But yet another fact that must be faced is the simple fact that Gen. de Gaulle will not change and will not soon be eliminated from the scene. Thus the American policymakers have only two choices. They can either change their minds about refusing to do business with de Gaulle; or they must shape their actions to make sure he is thoroughly hedged in, at Bonn, in Rome, and in other centers where American errors can give him the supports he needs.

Oldsters Comment On Withdrawal From Life

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Two months ago we wrote on disengagement in oldsters. We mentioned that many older persons withdraw from society gradually and occasionally isolate themselves completely from relatives, friends, and neighbors. This is somewhat of a mutual withdrawal. The elderly are not being deserted by others but are driven by some inner force to fade out of the picture to limit their contacts and conserve their strength.

Many older readers who had experienced this phenomenon wrote to us. One letter was from a 77-year-old man who said the article fitted him so well he wanted to thank me. "Now, when someone bawls me out for not talking, I just show them your article and that's it. I assure you, money couldn't buy that clipping."

A 70-year-old woman who lives with her sister had this to say about disengagement: "I almost crave one room where I can be free to hide or go it alone. This reminds me of a spunky, cuddly little widow who was asked by a well meaning friend, 'Aren't you lonely now?' She replied, 'No. That's the worst of this, you get so you like it'. She recognized it as 'worst' yet made it good by liking it."

A Chicagoan believes the article in question should be required reading by members of the rocking chair set. "Older people do not necessarily withdraw from society because of changed perception of self. Might it not be that they can look at life and the world more objectively? Self-centeredness need not increase with age unless the person has lived a self-centered life.

"If the old timer wails about neglect by his children, he probably has it coming to him. If he wants companionship and fun, he should keep acquainted with his grandchildren. Watching them grow will keep him young."

Mrs. J. S., a New Yorker, hopes the article will enlighten people so that oldsters won't be considered odd or queer or even mentally ill if they want to keep to themselves. "After all, most elderly people have had their day," she wrote. "Now it's time for quiet and relaxation and doing just the little things they feel like doing."

Disengagement does not occur in all our senior citizens but I wrote about it to help explain why some older people withdraw and seem to like it.

BEARISH IN A. M.

J. B. writes: My 18-year-old brother is very unfriendly when he gets up in the morning. He won't talk to anyone and says he can't help it. In the evening, he has a wonderful disposition. Is this something he will outgrow?

REPLY

Possibly. Some people are matutinophobes and need time to get going in the morning. They differ from the matutinophiles, who jump out of bed feeling like a million and do their best work in the morning.

A METALBOLIC DISORDER

Mrs. G. writes: Does improper eating cause diabetes?

REPLY

No. The cause of diabetes centers about the pancreas and liver. Carbohydrates (sugars) are not metabolized properly because less than normal amounts of insulin are produced.

UG!

E. F. writes: What do you think of a mixture of lard and sulfur for bedsores?

REPLY

Terrible. There are better remedies, including cleanliness and ointments containing efficient antiseptics.

SPREAD OF HEPATITIS

C. L. writes: Can hepatitis be spread by dirty public washrooms?

REPLY

Possibly, because this liver disorder is caused by a virus that is transmitted through contaminated wastes.

TOMORROW: Biting Dogs.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A traffic cop flagged a lady doing eighty-five on a crowded throughway and dodging from lane to lane. He examined her license and returned it with this quizzical observation. "Your license seems to be valid, madam. Now would you mind telling me how the heck you got it?"

Mr. Hornblower, applying for credit in a new restaurant, was requested to give references. "I have charge accounts," wrote Mr. Hornblower, "with Bergdorf, Tiffany's, Van Cleef's, Dior, and every other store, furrier, and jeweler my wife has ever heard of."

Two attractive teen-age girls were flouncing along the Boardwalk at Atlantic City, "Do you ever get that funny feeling, Sylvia," pouted one, "that you're not being followed?"

Keeping Up With Hollywood

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, — Although Joanne Woodward continues rehearsing her striptease routines for "Celebration" on the rehearsal stage at 20th Century-Fox every day, getting the rest of the cast lined up is nothing to celebrate about.

Jerry Wald wants Katharine Hepburn for the older woman, but the deal is nowhere near completion. And Carol Lynley has bowed out of the part of the other girl.

Meanwhile, Missy Woodward is having a ball learning the art of the burlesque queen. "I may just get myself a couple of balloons and accept a booking in Las Vegas," she laughs.

Madlyn Rhue consciously or unconsciously tipped her hand the other evening that she will be a married lady by the time the Yule holidays roll around. At a party at Donna Wood's house where a group of celebrities were posing for national magazine Christmas art (YES, THEY DO IT THIS EARLY) the Christmas decorations reminded Madlyn that she orations reminded Madlyn that she never gets her holiday cards mailed in time.

"Why don't you have them printed now and start early?" someone suggested.

"Oh, my name will be Mrs. Tony Young by Christmas," Madlyn let it slip. (He's the young actor who did so well in "The Gunslinger" TV series).

Poor Eve Arden couldn't have had a more disastrous weekend. She and Brooks Went had no more than arrived in San Diego where Eve was to have appeared at a charity affair than word reached them that their six-year-old son, Doug, was being rushed to the hospital threatened with pneumonia.

Driving home from the hospital after assuring themselves that the child was much improved, Eve lost control of her car on one of the hill roads near their Thousand Oaks home—and the car turned completely over. Luckily, it landed in and was supported by a heavy undergrowth and she and Brooks climbed out with only surface injuries.

The Hotel Del Coronado stole the spotlight from Beverly Hills and Hollywood over the weekend for one of the most beautiful social affairs I've ever attended, the Chancellor's Ball, marking the establishment of the scholarship fund for the school of law at the University of San Diego. The occasion was graced by the presence of his excellency, the Most Reverend Charles Francis Buddy, Bishop of San Diego.

Ran into Jack Haley, master of ceremonies and producer Jack Cummings who both agreed that the grand ballroom of the Coronado had been turned into a scene of regal splendor. It was a sight to see the chancellors in their white wigs and black robes, the ladies in their sweeping ball gowns, white gloves and jewels.

We were the guests of Judge and Mrs. De Witt Merriam, the gracious Portia Merriam being chairman of the ball.

Entertainment was provided by Alvino Rey and his orchestra, talented little Ginny Tiu and her adorable little Chinese doll sisters and brothers, and a terrific young new singer Aldo Romano.

All in all it was a big weekend for John Alessio, owner of the hotel, who became a grandfather when his daughter Tina (Mrs. Joseph Cutri) welcomed a boy.

How internationally famed bull fighter Antonio Ordonoz, who barely escaped with his life after a serious goring just weeks ago, can muster the courage to return to the scene of the crime, I'll never know. But I get it from his pal Gilbert Roland that Ordonoz returns to the TiJuana ring to fight on July 8.

Since the near tragedy, Antonio has been a patient in the TiJuana Hospital. But Gil went down to bring him to his home in Brentwood and put him under the care of Gil's personal physician.

Ask Gilbert, whose father was a great bullfighter in Spain, how a man who suffered the fate of Ordonoz can get back so soon, and he says "Why not?"

One of the TV plums of the season goes to Herman Hover. In cooperation with Pan-American airways, Hover will do a series in foreign locales. Production kicks off within a month in Hawaii.

Herman has produced and directed half a dozen successful Broadway shows including the "Earl Carroll Vanities" and "Shadow and Circumstance," the latter for Lee Schubert and Eddie Dowling.

More recently he wrote, directed and produced a series for CBS and some local shows both here and in Honolulu, all hits.

Even the other actors are impressed by the high living of George Sanders and his wife (Benita Colman) during the shooting of "Cairo" in Egypt. Sanders, who has always been picky about his food, is having butter, cream, eggs and vintage wines flown in weekly from their chalet in Switzerland.

Now that Shirley Booth is winding up her very popular "Hazel" TV show this week, she's returning to her 180-year-old cottage on Cape Cod—and the very welcome services of her own good maid!

Ho, Ho! When Parisian artist Philippe Noyer, who has painted many Hollywood beauties including Dinah Shore, Alan Ladd, Mrs. Delmer Daves and others, appeared on a TV show last week in conjunction with his exhibition at the Hammer Galleries in New York, he was asked to make no reference to the fact he had also painted the protrait of Elizabeth Taylor!

Sculptress Katherine Stubergh, who has 47 figures in our new wax museum, married Honolulu artist Tom Keller over the weekend.

With the people's choice, Red Skelton booked in for four weeks starting June 13, Jack Entratter, boss of the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, says "we have more turnaways on Red than some stars draw in."

Strange—but the Harold Hechts divorce becomes final this month and Harold and Gloria still have not reached a property settlement.

Frank Capra's lovely daughter, Lucille, was married Saturday to William Gene Bruch who has been attending San Diego State College and they are honeymooning in Mexico City.

We couldn't make a trip to San Diego without going on to the races at TiJuana, guests of Judge and Portia Merriam and John Alessio. Lots of fun—but I hope I have better luck at Hollywood Park, where they are off and running today.

We have repeatedly stressed the point on these pages that, when a contract appears to be a sure thing, declarer should adopt super-safe precautions to allow for the possibility of some very remote bad break. Conversely, when the situation appears to be hopeless, he should seize at any available straw, in a desperate effort to avoid defeat. The declarer's performance in today's hand is not only one of the most fantastic illustrations on record of the latter half of this sermon, but it surely ranks as the long shot of the season.

The bidding was sound. After North's heart raise, his partner was determined to reach at least a small slam, but in an effort to ferret out bigger things he made a cue bid in diamonds. When North merely signed off, South proceeded without further ado to six hearts.

Unaware of the drama that was in the offing, West chose to stand pat with his high cards and came off to the neutral lead of the jack of diamonds. Declarer won the trick in his hand with the ace and cashed his top heart honors. When the queen failed to drop it appeared that he had two sure losers in the form of the outstanding trump and the ace of clubs.

Before conceding, however, South studied the combined holdings to determine if there was any possible adverse distribution that would give him a chance. Presently he observed that if he could obtain four club discards on the dummy's spade suit before West could obtain the lead with the queen of hearts, the "dead horse" might be revived.

The only distribution that would make this super-long shot possible was five small spades in the West hand and a blank king in the East hand. So reasoning, declarer led his nine of spades over to the ace and was duly rewarded by East with the blank honor. Three clubs were thrown on the top spades, and a spade ruff then established the long card of the suit. A diamond put the dummy in to cash the six of spades, as South shed his last club.

The defense was restricted to the queen of trumps and, when the play ended, West was subjected to a severe lecture by his partner on the subject of cashing his tricks where they lay.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Be A Self-Made Beauty

There is no handicap of feature for which there is no cosmetic correction. For instance, many women accept a thin, bony, pointed chin as a disadvantage they can do nothing about but endure. Yet see how easily its irritation can be removed from your reflection in your mirror!

1. Make sure that the V line of your chin is never repeated in anything you wear near your face. V necklines are not for you, but square and round necklines are; so are curving collars, lapels, pussy-cat bows, hugging chokers, and knobby earrings.

2. In millinery, shy away from peaked crowns and brims. But you can depend on the shallow-rounded or squared-off crowns, the very straight and sharply diagonal brims to soften the line of your chin. And cushiony toques should be just your dish of chapeau.

3. Style your hair close to your head at the cheek and behind the ears. Too much fluff anywhere around the lower jaw only makes the small chin look still smaller. The effect is that of a tiny picture in a huge frame. And for the same reason, do not let your eyebrows extend beyond the eye sockets.

4. Blend a lighter foundation over your chin than the one you use on the rest of your face. It's a trick that not only ovalizes the chin's contour but encourages it to take a more prominent place in your face!

5. Unless you have an unusually small mouth, cheat on your application of lipstick: Do not fill in the corners. Place your cheek rouge close to your nose. Curl your eyelashes straight up with mascara.

And here's the most important tip: Carry your chin parallel to the floor without fail! That's it—chin up! What have you to be down about now?

Abe Gets Year In Road Death

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey yesterday found Richard D. Abe, city, guilty of manslaughter by car and sentenced him to the Maryland House of Correction for one year.

Abe was tried on a charge of manslaughter which arose from the death of Mrs. Margaret Pfaff as the result of a collision on U. S. Route 40 in the Eckhart section on May 18, 1961 between Abe's car and one driven by Mrs. Margaret Lloyd, daughter of the victim.

Mrs. Lloyd testified that she and her mother, who was seated in front next to her and Mrs. Eleanor Lloyd, her mother-in-law, was seated in the back of the car. The three women were driving to their homes in Frostburg after having attended a bingo game in Cumberland.

It was testified that the roadway was wet and that the Lloyd car was traveling on the outer of three traffic lanes at the time. The driver said that both passengers had cried out "Look at that car." She testified she saw bright lights headed directly toward her and swerved to the left in an attempt to avoid a crash.

Tfc. Joseph Stakem of the State Police described the accident investigation he made that night. Both cars were heavily damaged by the impact and Abe's machine came to rest 250 feet beyond the impact spot while the Lloyd car was 175 feet away.

Harold E. Naughton, defense counsel, made a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal which Judge Cobey overruled. Naughton claimed his client had a right to be in the passing lane and that Mrs. Lloyd had swerved into his path. The attorney claimed there was "not one iota of evidence of wanton and reckless driving on his client's part."

State's Attorney James S. Getty in arguing against the acquittal motion, cited the factor which he said constituted "wanton and reckless disregard of human life" on the part of the defendant.

Getty said that it had been testified that Abe had been drinking, but although not intoxicated his judgment was affected. The high rate of speed and also the disregard for the road conditions at the time. Getty also said he was in the center lane and there was no other cars which he could have been trying to pass at the time.

"If this is not a case of wanton and reckless disregard of human life, then we all better trade in our cars and buy Sherman tanks," Getty poined.

After Judge Cobey imposed sentence Naughton indicated an appeal would be filed.

Others who testified in the case were Mrs. Eleanor Lloyd, who spent 71 days in a hospital due to her injuries, Abe himself and Joseph W. Kahl, Eckhart, who told of the Abe car passing by in the center lane several hundred feet beyond the crash site. Kahl said the car was operated at a high rate of speed and that he heard the crash and went to the assistance of the injured.

Heisey Honored By School Group

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, was honored by the school's National Honor Society at its annual installation of officers event.

Sharon Gnegy, a senior, presented the principal with a gift. Heisey has announced his retirement effective with the closing of school next month.

Heisey founded the first National Honor Society chapter in Allegany County in October 1931 at the Pennsylvania Avenue High School. In 1936 when the school moved to Fort Hill High School, the chapter was continued. Members of the Fort Hill Chapter have installed groups in Northern High School, Garrett County; Allegany High, Beall High, and Mt. Savage High.

Ellen Burge, president of the Ushers Club, presented the chapter with a $50 check for the society's scholarship fund. David Lewis, NHS president, accepted the check and announced that seniors may make application for the three $50 scholarships to be awarded this year by the society.

Bonita Hamilton sang, "You'll Never Walk Alone," and led the group singing of "May The Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

A tea was held in the Home Economics Dining Room following the installation. Arrangements were made by Miss Mary Martin and Miss Yola Hudson and the high school home economics classes.

Presiding at the tea were Rita Hill and Connie Maiers.

The social committee, in charge of the tea, was composed of Miss Edwena Kraus, Connie Maiers, Rita Hill, Bonnie Sansom, Dariene Moore.

The program was prepared by Miss Gerardine Pritchard and programs were mimeographed by Robert Price and Bonita Hamilton.

Retiring officers are David Lewis, president; Cynthia Siehler, vice president; Jonelle Miller, secretary; Jane Beery, treasurer; and Connie Maiers, jeweler.

Mary K. Hammond, senior, will give her interpretation of prose reading with which she won a scholarship to Potomac State College in a March contest.

A choral reading for Mother's Day will be given by Phyllis McBee, sophomore. Flowers and other awards will be given to honor mothers in attendance.

Officers for the high school PTA are: President, William Barr; vice president, Mrs. Margaret Spriggs; secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Hostettler; treasurer, Mrs. Irene Blackburn.

Those elected for the elementary school are: President, Mrs. Melvin Dawson; vice president, Arthur Swadley; secretary, Mrs. Edna Weisenmiller; and treasurer, Mrs. Arwanta Conners.

Already booked for next year are the Goldovsky Grand Opera production of "Traviata" with orchestra; the Canadian Grand Ballet Company, and the Paganini String Quartet. It is almost certain that two other concert programs will be booked if the membership reaches the 1531 total of last season.

Current members should have their renewals in by today at noon so that the number available for new memberships will be known, according to Mrs. Steinberger.

Mahoney is the man for Western Maryland

1 GOOD ROADS. Present highways handicap Western Maryland. Route 40 is a disgrace. Route 70 is last because Taxes failed to act. Western Maryland must have modern highways to attract new factories.

2 NEW INDUSTRY . . . NEW JOBS. Unemployment hurts Western Maryland. In the past two years of Do-Nothing Taxes, 2000 Maryland breadwinners a month have exhausted their unemployment benefits. In Hagerstown, alone, 7500 jobs have disappeared. New industry of all kinds must be started up in Western Maryland along new highways.

IT ADDS UP TO THIS: Good roads bring new industry, and new industry brings more and better jobs for Western Maryland breadwinners. That is George Mahoney's plan for you and your family.

Mahoney is the man for you: A successful road builder and business man who gets things done—as he has proven all his life.

Abe Gets Year In Road Death

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey yesterday found Richard D. Abe, city, guilty of manslaughter by car and sentenced him to the Maryland House of Correction for one year.

Abe was tried on a charge of manslaughter which arose from the death of Mrs. Margaret Pfaff as the result of a collision on U. S. Route 40 in the Eckhart section on May 18, 1961 between Abe's car and one driven by Mrs. Margaret Lloyd, daughter of the victim.

Mrs. Lloyd testified that she and her mother, who was seated in front next to her and Mrs. Eleanor Lloyd, her mother-in-law, was seated in the back of the car. The three women were driving to their homes in Frostburg after having attended a bingo game in Cumberland.

It was testified that the roadway was wet and that the Lloyd car was traveling on the outer of three traffic lanes at the time. The driver said that both passengers had cried out "Look at that car." She testified she saw bright lights headed directly toward her and swerved to the left in an attempt to avoid a crash.

Tfc. Joseph Stakem of the State Police described the accident investigation he made that night. Both cars were heavily damaged by the impact and Abe's machine came to rest 250 feet beyond the impact spot while the Lloyd car was 175 feet away.

Harold E. Naughton, defense counsel, made a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal which Judge Cobey overruled. Naughton claimed his client had a right to be in the passing lane and that Mrs. Lloyd had swerved into his path. The attorney claimed there was "not one iota of evidence of wanton and reckless driving on his client's part."

State's Attorney James S. Getty in arguing against the acquittal motion, cited the factor which he said constituted "wanton and reckless disregard of human life" on the part of the defendant.

Getty said that it had been testified that Abe had been drinking, but although not intoxicated his judgment was affected. The high rate of speed and also the disregard for the road conditions at the time. Getty also said he was in the center lane and there was no other cars which he could have been trying to pass at the time.

"If this is not a case of wanton and reckless disregard of human life, then we all better trade in our cars and buy Sherman tanks," Getty poined.

After Judge Cobey imposed sentence Naughton indicated an appeal would be filed.

Others who testified in the case were Mrs. Eleanor Lloyd, who spent 71 days in a hospital due to her injuries, Abe himself and Joseph W. Kahl, Eckhart, who told of the Abe car passing by in the center lane several hundred feet beyond the crash site. Kahl said the car was operated at a high rate of speed and that he heard the crash and went to the assistance of the injured.

Board Of Education Election Results Are Close In Hampshire Co.

ROMNEY—Mervin L. Wolford, of Capon Bridge, who rocketed from third place to first in the last three precincts to report yesterday, and incumbent J. Roscoe Tutwiler were elected by Hampshire County voters Tuesday to the non-partisan Board of Education.

Hampshire voters exhibited slight interest Tuesday in their primary election, but the light turnout at the polls created a down-to-the wire race for the two Board of Education posts.

Of the 10 nominations sought by candidates, eight on the Democratic ticket and two on the Republican, five were unopposed.

Democrat Harley O. Staggers, of Keyser, was unopposed in his bid for the second congressional district nomination and he accumulated 1,750 votes, the highest number of any candidate.

Incumbent Clarence E. Martin, Jr., who was re-nominated for state senator by the Democrats in the 16th district, was beaten by his opponent, Kenneth W. Metz, of Charles Town, 910 to 895 by Hampshire voters.

Cooper P. Benedict, unopposed on the Republican ticket for second district seat in Congress, polled 295 votes, and K. Brent Johnson, also unopposed on the GOP slate for state senate, garnered 334 votes.

Eugene T. Billmeyer, Democrat, had little trouble in defeating Claude Allen Pancake in their race for clerk of the county court. Billmeyer won, 1,361 to 578.

Running unopposed for clerk of circuit court, H. A. Mulledy obtained 1,363 votes, and George E. Herriott, facing no opposition for county commissioner, amassed 1,350 votes.

In the down-to-the wire race for Board of Education offices, Wolford was third on the list, behind Tutwiler and Russell B. Oates, both incumbents, until Capon Springs, Venita, and Bethel precincts reported today.

But the final, unofficial, tabulation showed Wolford the leading vote-getter with 1,214, four more than Tutwiler who had 1,210. Oates ended with 1,146, and Jesse G. Myerly, the fourth entrant in the close race, was separated by only 102 votes from top to bottom.

Route 40 Project To Begin Soon

The S. T. Brotemarkle Company of Cumberland has been given notice to proceed with the modernization of relocated U. S. Route 40 from Watson Road to Mountain Road, according to John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer for the State Roads Commission.

The SRC recently awarded the $688,371.50 contract to the local firm, the low bidder.

Work on the contract is expected to begin next week.

77 Take Examination For Laborer Jobs

Some 77 men took the Allegany sion examination for laborer in the County Roads Department Monday night at Fort Hill High School.

Mrs. Joan S. Burke, secretary to the commission, said that the papers will be graded and the men will be ranked in the areas of the county in which they live. For instance, a vacancy in the Little Orleans area of the county would be filled by a top-rated applicant from that section of the county. A man from Westernport would not be hired to work in the Little Orleans area.

Senior Citizens To Meet Today

The Senior Citizens Club of the City Recreation Department will meet at 2 p. m. today in the Elks Home for a Mother's Day program.

Members of the club will read favorite Mother's Day poems and the theme will be used for group singing. A film, "Let's Sing Together," will be shown.

A special guest will be Stephanie van Enter, Kimberly, South Africa, who will give her impressions of America and South Africa. She is visiting Mrs. Ada Twigg, who will be accompanist for the program.

Police Investigate Theft At Frostburg Station

Patrolmen Edward Bevans and James Pfaff, during routine patrol, found the door of Storm's Service Station, East Main Street, had been forced open.

Investigation revealed the intruder made off with $60 in cash and an unknown amount of cigars and cigarettes.

Mrs. Carl Storm, Washington Street, owner of the establishment, said it could not be determined immediately how much was taken.

Police also discovered that an attempt had been made to enter the Tally Ho Restaurant which is located next to the service station.

Police believe the entry at the service station had been made sometime after midnight.

Equity Suits Filed

Four new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Janetta Y. Cain vs. Harry E. Cain, Audrey E. Beckley vs. Walter A. Beckley, Mary Elaine Engle vs. Walter Lester Engle and Bessie May Wilt vs. James Edward Wilt Sr.

Fire Loss Last Year $1.6 Billion

BOSTON (UPI)—More than two billion fires did a total of $1.6 billion damage in the United States and another $123 million in Canada last year, the National Fire Protection Association reported Tuesday.

The non-profit fire safety organization said 430 major fires in both nations resulted in $300 million damage. A "major" fire is one causing loss of $250,000 or more.

The agency reported the loss from major fires was $50 million less than the previous year but contrasted sharply with 1941 when the figure was set at less than $17.9 million for only 38 major fires.

During 1961 there were 123 major industrial fires causing $73.5 million damage compared with 133 in 1960 costing $87 million.

Other totals included 77 major store fires for $35 million against 59 in 1960 for a $25 million loss, and 63 major storage fires for $31.2 million in 1961 against 51 for $25.3 in 1960.

Jaycees Continue Work On City Manager Petition

Officials of the Junior Association of Commerce yesterday reported its petition campaign to have the council-manager form of government on the June 19 general election ballot will close on Saturday.

More than the approximately 2,000 signatures have been obtained, according to John D. May, chairman of the JC project, who said additional signatures will be sought as a precaution against invalid signers.

Canvassing of the city, precinct by precinct, is continuing, May said, and Jaycees also will solicit signatures from shoppers this evening, both downtown and in South Cumberland. The drive will close Saturday and be in the hands of city officials early next week for verification.

May said persons favoring the charter amendments may either sign up at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters, at Baltimore and Liberty streets, or call 724-4381 and have a petition delivered to their residence for signing.

Commissioners Accept Popp's Bid Of $45

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners Tuesday accepted Thomas L. Popp's bid of $45 for two hillside lots adjacent to his property at 231 North Lee Street.

Before taking action, the commissioners received a letter from John H. Stitely, supervisor of assessments, in which he said that the $45 offer appeared to be a fair one for the lots in question.

Unofficial Returns Given In Morgan County Election

BERKELEY SPRINGS — Complete but unofficial returns in Tuesday's primary balloting in Morgan County reveal most voter interest centered in the non-partisan Board of Education contest.

Elmo H. Allemong, Berkeley Springs, was the top vote-getter, polling 1,619. The other two top candidates were Donald E. Largent, Paw Paw, with 1,588, and Gladys J. Butts, Sleepy Creek, 1,138. There were six candidates for the three positions.

The Republicans maintained their registration margin by casting 1,031 votes for Cooper P. Benedict, unopposed for Congress in the Second District. His Democratic opponent in the general election, incumbent Congressman Harley O. Staggers, who likewise was unopposed, polled 875 votes.

For state senator from the Sixteenth District, K. Brent Johnson, Republican from Martinsburg, received 1,100 votes, compared to Democrat Clarence E. Martin Jr., who beat out his only opponent, Kenneth W. Metz, 710 votes to 297.

In Republican contests for county positions, Ward M. Dawson, Berkeley Springs, polled 970 tallies to defeat A. Foster Lineweaver, of the same town, for the House of Delegates nomination.

Attention, Voters!

Familiarize yourself with this diagram and directions for operating the voting machine. It will assist you in voting and save time on election day.

VOTER ABOUT TO CLOSE CURTAIN

Each candidate's voting pointer is located just above his name; a voting pointer must be turned down over the name of each candidate for whom you wish to vote, and left down.

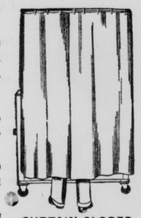
The machine is so arranged that you cannot turn down more than the proper number of voting pointers for each office.

You cannot spoil your ballot by voting for too many candidates.

In an office to which more than one candidate is to be voted for, you can turn down the proper number of voting pointers, but no more, even if one is directly under the other.

No votes are registered until the Red operating lever is moved to open the curtain. You can make as many changes as you desire while the operating lever is at the right side.

No one will know how you have voted, because the movement of the Red operating lever returns the voted voting pointers to their unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.



CURTAIN CLOSED VOTER VOTING

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING

1. Move the Red Operating Lever to the right. (till bell rings)

2. Turn down a Voting Pointer over the name of each candidate you wish to vote for. LEAVE THE POINTERS DOWN.

3. Move the Red Operating Lever to the Left.

Heisey Honored By School Group

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, was honored by the school's National Honor Society at its annual installation of officers event.

Sharon Gnegy, a senior, presented the principal with a gift. Heisey has announced his retirement effective with the closing of school next month.

Heisey founded the first National Honor Society chapter in Allegany County in October 1931 at the Pennsylvania Avenue High School. In 1936 when the school moved to Fort Hill High School, the chapter was continued. Members of the Fort Hill Chapter have installed groups in Northern High School, Garrett County; Allegany High, Beall High, and Mt. Savage High.

Ellen Burge, president of the Ushers Club, presented the chapter with a $50 check for the society's scholarship fund. David Lewis, NHS president, accepted the check and announced that seniors may make application for the three $50 scholarships to be awarded this year by the society.

Bonita Hamilton sang, "You'll Never Walk Alone," and led the group singing of "May The Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

A tea was held in the Home Economics Dining Room following the installation. Arrangements were made by Miss Mary Martin and Miss Yola Hudson and the high school home economics classes.

Presiding at the tea were Rita Hill and Connie Maiers.

The social committee, in charge of the tea, was composed of Miss Edwena Kraus, Connie Maiers, Rita Hill, Bonnie Sansom, Darlene Moore.

The program was prepared by Miss Gerardine Pritchard and programs were mimeographed by Robert Price and Bonita Hamilton.

Mahoney is the man for Western Maryland

1 GOOD ROADS. Present highways handicap Western Maryland. Route 40 is a disgrace. Route 70 is lost because Taxes failed to act. Western Maryland must have modern highways to attract new factories.

2 NEW INDUSTRY . . . NEW JOBS. Unemployment hurts Western Maryland. In the past two years of Do-Nothing Taxes, 2000 Maryland breadwinners a month have exhausted their unemployment benefits. In Hagerstown, alone, 7500 jobs have disappeared. New industry of all kinds must be started up in Western Maryland along new highways.

IT ADDS UP TO THIS: Good roads bring new industry, and new industry brings more and better jobs for Western Maryland breadwinners. That is George Mahoney's plan for you and your family.

Mahoney is the man for you: A successful road builder and business man who gets things done—as he has proven all his life.

FANCY THAT! by WALDMAN

Swiss guides have traditionally eaten huge amounts of confections to give them energy for leading mountain climbing expeditions. These Alpine explorers long ago recognized the value of candy and chocolate as "high-octane fuels" for the body and brain.

World War I doughboys were the first large scale consumers of candy and chocolate bars. They needed the energy food to overcome fatigue. Today, all combat rations include confections to increase the staying power and morale of troops.

Regular "candy breaks" to give employees extra energy are becoming commonplace in industrial plants and business offices. Companies are using candy and chocolate to increase productivity and improve the spirit of employees. By providing confections, mid-morning and mid-afternoon fatigue is overcome enjoyably. K

Caper Sauce Adds Flavor

The fine flavor of pork chops is enhanced by the addition of a variety of ingredients which may be herbs, spices or fruits or vegetables.

The chops are dredged in flour and browned on both sides, then cooked with a small amount of liquid which includes a bouillon cube, chopped onion, prepared mustard and capers. To the sauce, thickened after the chops are removed, a half cup of dairy sour cream is added.

Pork Chops With Caper Sauce

- 4 rib or loin pork chops, cut 1 inch thick
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 bouillon cube
- ⅓ cup hot water
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon capers
- 1 teaspoon flour
- ¼ cup water
- ½ cup dairy sour cream

Dredge chops in 2 tablespoons flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season chops with salt and pepper. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot water. Add bouillon, onion, prepared mustard and capers. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes to 1 hour, or until done. Remove chops to a warm platter. Add 1 tablespoon flour to drippings and mix well. Add water and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Fold in sour cream and cook just until heated through. Serve sauce over chops. Yield: 4 servings.

LITTLE WOMEN

"She's got the kind of figure that'll turn to fat before she's thirty."

"What gets me is I would have clipped five minutes off my record from the office to home if I hadn't had the wreck."

Note On Kabobs

For kabobs (meat, vegetables and fruit threaded on skewers) for broiling choose food of approximately the same size so that it will cook in the same length of time. Meat suitable for kabobs includes cubes of lamb, cooked ham, tender steak, frankfurters and luncheon meat. Among vegetables are tomatoes, mushroom caps, green pepper cubes, precooked or canned tiny potatoes and onions. Pineapple chunks are also a popular addition.

Salting Tip

Salt steaks and chops after they are browned. Salt has a tendency to draw out moisture, which slows the browning process.

Ham Patties, Pineapple Party Dish

Sometimes it's a problem to select a main dish for a company dinner or luncheon. We want something a bit different, something attractive in appearance. Yet meals for guests should not be elaborate or time-consuming for then the pleasure of the occasion may be dimmed, at least for the hostess.

Another consideration in planning a company meal is that it should not make too great inroads on the food budget.

Party Ham Patties can be proudly served on any special occasion, for guests or family, and yet which is actually very economical.

Ground pork and ground ham are the ingredients which are formed into patties, then dressed up with pineapple slices and maraschino cherries. They are baked in a moderate oven in a liquid consisting of water, vinegar and brown sugar, with which they are basted to give them a most delicious flavor.

Party Ham Patties

- 1½ pounds ground ham
- 1 pound ground pork
- ½ cup soft bread crumbs
- ½ cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- 4 pineapple slices, cut in fourths
- 8 maraschino cherries
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup vinegar

Combine ham, pork, bread crumbs, milk and egg. Mix thoroughly. Shape into eight patties 1 inch thick. Top each patty with two pieces of pineapple and a cherry. Place on a rack in an open roasting pan.

Combine brown sugar, water and vinegar and boil five minutes. Pour over patties. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 45 minutes. Baste once or twice during baking. Yield: 8 servings.

Defrosting Meat

Frozen meat may be defrosted before or during cooking. It may be defrosted in the refrigerator or at room temperature before cooking, whichever is most convenient. Of course it will take longer to defrost it in the lower temperature of the refrigerator than in the kitchen. Allow approximately ⅓ to ½ again as long cooking time when cooking frozen roasts.

Note To Carver

A large roast is more easily carved if it is allowed to stand for about 20 minutes. Have the knife sharp and carve against the grain.

Veal Birds

Veal birds with vegetable stuffings are taste-tempting. Wrap servings of veal around carrot sticks, celery stalks and slivers of onion. Fasten with wooden picks. Brown the birds slowly, add ¼ to ½ cup liquid and simmer 45 minutes to 1 hour or until tender. Serve with sour cream gravy.

Board Of Education Election Results Are Close In Hampshire Co.

ROMNEY—Mervin L. Wolford, of Capon Bridge, who rocketed from third place to first in the last three precincts to report yesterday, and incumbent J. Roscoe Tutwiler were elected by Hampshire County voters Tuesday to the non-partisan Board of Education.

Hampshire voters exhibited slight interest Tuesday in their primary election, but the light turnout at the polls created a down-to-the wire race for the two Board of Education posts.

Of the 10 nominations sought by candidates, eight on the Democratic ticket and two on the Republican, five were unopposed.

Democrat Harley O. Staggers, of Keyser, was unopposed in his bid for the second congressional district nomination and he accumulated 1,750 votes, the highest number of any candidate.

Incumbent Clarence E. Martin, Jr., who was re-nominated for state senator by the Democrats in the 16th district, was beaten by his opponent, Kenneth W. Metz, of Charles Town, 910 to 865 by Hampshire voters.

Cooper P. Benedict, unopposed on the Republican ticket for second district seat in Congress, polled 295 votes, and K. Brent Johnson, also unopposed on the GOP slate for state senate, garnered 334 votes.

Eugene T. Billmeyer, Democrat, had little trouble in defeating Claude Allen Pancake in their race for clerk of the county court. Billmeyer won, 1,361 to 578.

Running unopposed for clerk of circuit court, H. A. Mulledy obtained 1,363 votes, and George E. Herriott, facing no opposition for county commissioner, amassed 1,350 votes.

In the down-to-the wire race for Board of Education offices, Wolford was third on the list, behind Tutwiler and Russell B. Oates, both incumbents, until Capon Springs, Venita, and Bethel precincts reported today.

But the final, unofficial, tabulation showed Wolford the leading vote-getter with 1,214, four more than Tutwiler who had 1,210. Oates ended with 1,146, and Jesse G. Myerly, the fourth entrant in the close race was separated by only 102 votes from top to bottom.

Route 40 Project To Begin Soon

The S. T. Brotemarkle Company of Cumberland has been given notice to proceed with the modernization of relocated U. S. Route 40 from Watson Road to Mountain Road, according to John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer for the State Roads Commission.

The SRC recently awarded the $668,371.50 contract to the local firm, the low bidder.

77 Take Examination For Laborer Jobs

Some 77 men took the Allegany Co. examination for laborer in the County Roads Department Monday night at Fort Hill High School.

Mrs. Joan S. Burke, secretary to the commission, said that the papers will be graded and the men will be ranked in the areas of the county in which they live. For instance, a vacancy in the Little Orleans area of the county would be filled by a top-rated applicant from that section of the county. A man from Westernport would not be hired to work in the Little Orleans area.

Senior Citizens To Meet Today

The Senior Citizens Club of the City Recreation Department will meet at 2 p. m. today in the Elks Home for a Mother's Day program.

Members of the club will read favorite Mother's Day poems and the theme will be used for group singing. A film, "Let's Sing Together," will be shown.

A special guest will be Stephanie van Enter, Kimberly, South Africa, who will give her impressions of America and South Africa. She is visiting Mrs. Ada Twigg, who will be accompanist for the program.

Police Investigate Theft At Frostburg Station

Patrolmen Edward Bevans and James Pfaff, during routine patrol, found the door of Storm's Service Station, East Main Street, had been forced open.

Investigation revealed the intruder made off with $60 in cash and an unknown amount of cigars and cigarettes.

Mrs. Carl Storm, Washington Street, owner of the establishment, said it could not be determined immediately how much was taken.

Police also discovered that an attempt had been made to enter the Tally Ho Restaurant which is located next to the service station.

Police believe the entry at the service station had been made sometime after midnight.

Equity Suits Filed

Four new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Janetta Y. Cain vs. Harry E. Cain, Audrey E. Reckley vs. Walter A. Reckley, Mary Elaine Engle vs. Walter Lester Engle and Bessie May Wilt vs. James Edward Wilt Sr.

Fire Loss Last Year $1.6 Billion

BOSTON (UPI)—More than two billion fires did a total of $1.6 billion damage in the United States and another $123 million in Canada last year, the National Fire Protection Association reported Tuesday.

The non-profit fire safety organization said 430 major fires in both nations resulted in $300 million damage. A "major" fire is one causing loss of $250,000 or more.

The agency reported the loss from major fires was $50 million less than the previous year but contrasted sharply with 1941 when the figure was set at less than $17.9 million for only 38 major fires.

During 1961 there were 123 major fires in which the loss was $25.3 in 1960.

Jaycees Continue Work On City Manager Petition

Officials of the Junior Association of Commerce yesterday reported its petition campaign to have the council-manager form of government on the June 19 general election ballot will close on Saturday.

More than the approximately 2,000 signatures have been obtained, according to John D. May, chairman of the JC project, who said additional signatures will be sought as a precaution against invalid signers.

Canvassing of the city, precinct by precinct, is continuing. May said, and Jaycees also will solicit signatures from shoppers this evening, both downtown and in South Cumberland. The drive will close Saturday and be in the hands of city officials early next week for verification.

May said persons favoring the charter amendments may either sign up at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters, at Baltimore and Liberty streets, or call 724-4381 and have a petition delivered to their residence for signing.

Commissioners Accept Popp's Bid Of $45

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners Tuesday accepted Thomas L. Popp's bid of $45 for two hillside lots adjacent to his property at 231 North Lee Street.

Before taking action, the commissioners received a letter from John H. Stitely, supervisor of assessments, in which he said that the $45 offer appeared to be a fair one for the lots in question.

Unofficial Returns Given In Morgan County Election

BERKELEY SPRINGS — Complete but unofficial returns in Tuesday's primary balloting in Morgan County reveal most voter interest centered in the non-partisan Board of Education contest.

Elmo H. Allemong, Berkeley Springs, was the top vote-getter, polling 1,619. The other two top candidates were Donald E. Largent, Paw Paw, with 1,588, and Gladys J. Butts, Sleepy Creek 1,158. There were six candidates for the three positions.

The Republicans maintained their registration margin by casting 1,051 votes for Cooper P. Benedict, unopposed for Congress in the Second District. His Democratic opponent in the general election, incumbent Congressman Harley O. Staggers, who likewise was unopposed, polled 875 votes.

For state senator from the Sixteenth District, K. Brent Johnson, Republican from Martinsburg, received 1,100 votes, compared to Democrat Clarence E. Martin Jr., who beat out his only opponent, Kenneth W. Metz, 710 votes to 297.

In Republican contests for county positions, Ward M. Dawson, Berkeley Springs, polled 970 tallies to defeat A. Foster Linewaver, of the same town, for the House of Delegates nomination.

New York Bound

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—United Nations Acting Secretary General Thant left for New York Wednesday after a European trip that took him to Geneva and Scandinavian countries.

Clyde K. Sperow, incumbent, outpolled Carlyle E. Johnson, 970 to 666, for clerk of Circuit Court.

For the county assessor nomination, A. Boyd Iden received 1,214 votes to outdistance his GOP opponents, Clara R. Swink, 303, and Joseph J. Hawvermale, 141. For county commissioner, Henry O. Michael received 948 votes; P. C. Yost, 334, and H. C. Snyder, 316.

Democrats gave 721 votes to Ralph B. Hovermale, and 365 to James R. Frye in the House of Delegates balloting. In the only other contest, Wallace P. Reynolds edged out Herbert Hobday, 267 to 214, for Justice of the Peace from Bath District.

Running unopposed for county posts were Mathias Swain, who polled 660 for assessor, and Joshua Barney, who received 696 for county commissioner.

SAMPLE BALLOT

Attention, Voters!

Familiarize yourself with this diagram and directions for operating the voting machine. It will assist you in voting and save time on election day.

VOTER ABOUT TO CLOSE CURTAIN

Each candidate's voting pointer is located just above his name; a voting pointer must be turned down over the name of each candidate for whom you wish to vote, and left down.

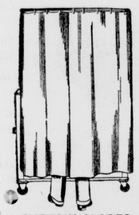
The machine is so arranged that you cannot turn down more than the proper number of voting pointers for each office.

You cannot spoil your ballot by voting for too many candidates.

In an office to which more than one candidate is to be voted for, you can turn down the proper number of voting pointers, but no more, even if one is directly under the other.

No votes are registered until the Red operating lever is moved to open the curtain. You can make as many changes as you desire while the operating lever is at the right side.

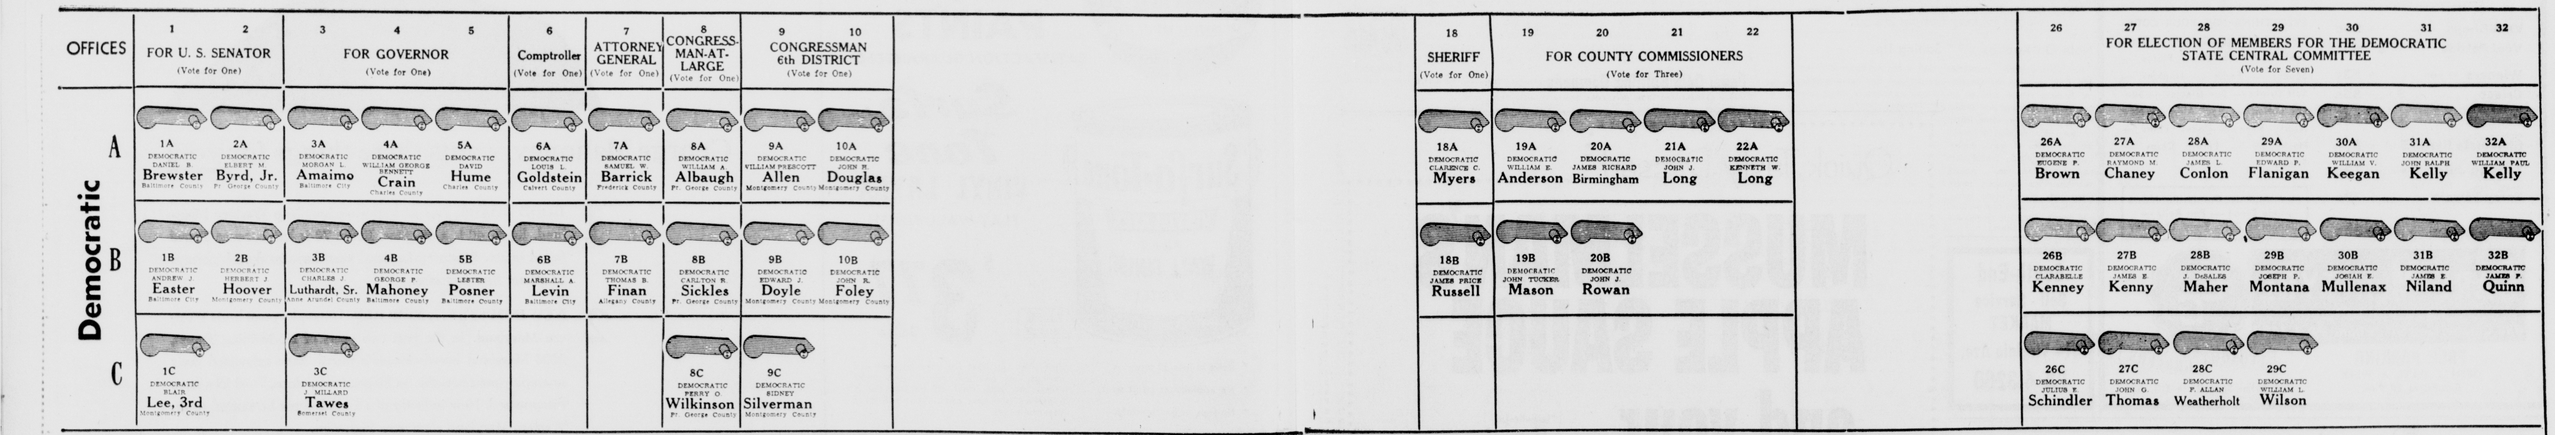
No one will know how you have voted, because the movement of the Red operating lever returns the voted voting pointers to their unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.

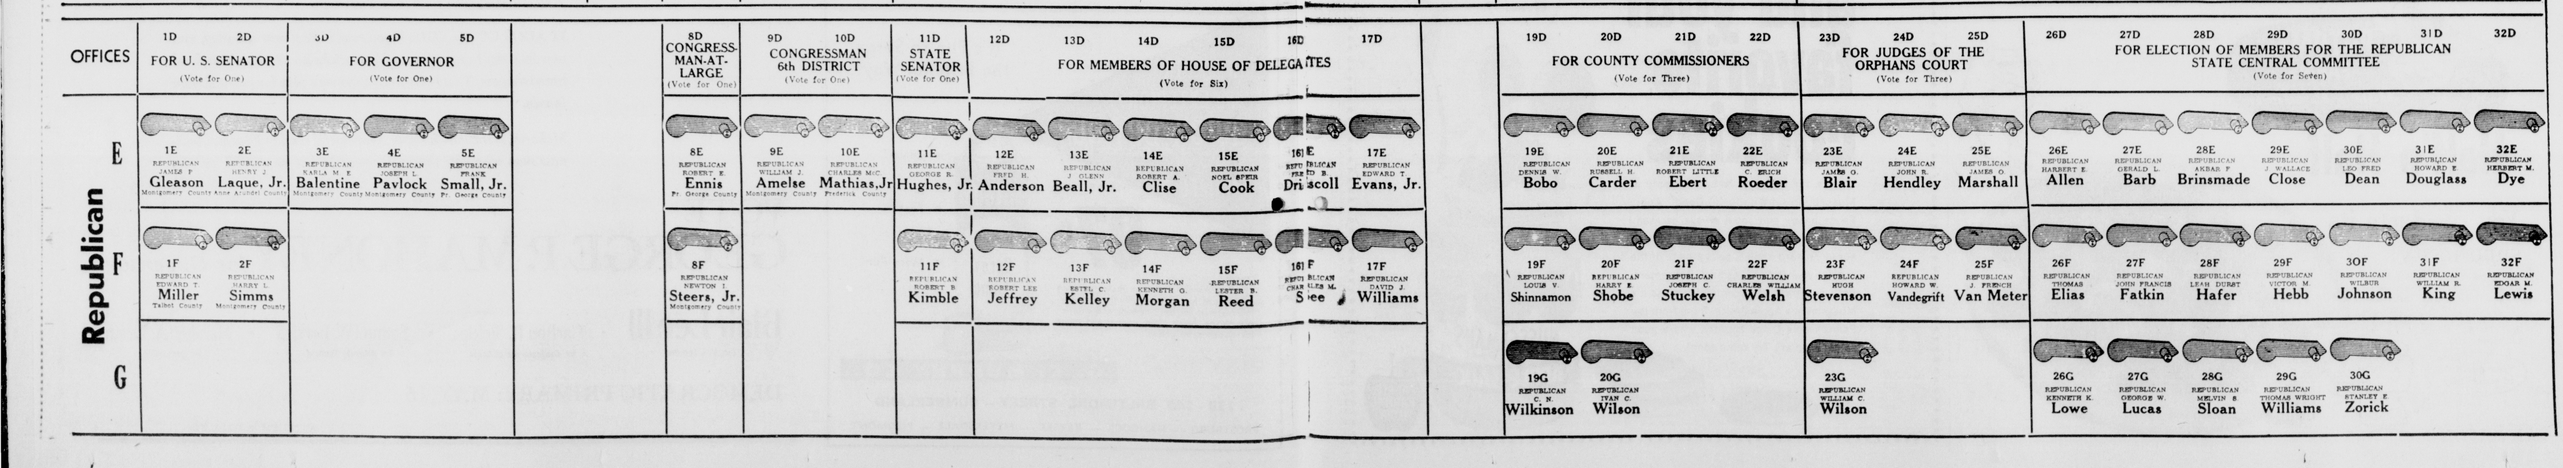


CURTAIN CLOSED VOTER VOTING

DIRECTIONS FOR VOTING

1. Move the Red Operating Lever to the right. (till bell rings)
2. Turn down a Voting Pointer over the name of each candidate you wish to vote for. LEAVE THE POINTERS DOWN.
3. Move the Red Operating Lever to the Left.





Veal Riblets Offer Thrift With Flavor

One test of a good cook is her ability to serve appetizing meals at a minimum of cost. A good way to accomplish this is to become familiar with the wide variety of meat cuts, many of them less demanded and therefore lower in price.

Veal is one of the most delicately flavored of meats and all cuts are tender. Among the economy cuts of veal are the riblets.

Although tender, veal riblets are best cooked in moist heat, since veal, because it is the meat of a young animal, is lacking in fat and may become too dry if broiled, although larger cuts may be roasted.

Here is a recipe which contains unusual flavor. It is savory veal riblets, and when prepared in this way is something to delight a gourmet.

Savory Veal Riblets

3 pounds veal riblets
⅓ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1½ teaspoons dry mustard
¼ cup lard
2 medium onions, sliced
2 cups water

Mix flour, salt, ginger and dry mustard. Dredge riblets in seasoned flour. Brown meat in lard. Pour off drippings. Add onions and water. Cover tightly and simmer 2 hours. Remove riblets and thicken liquid for gravy. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Meal In Itself

Here is a dish, suitable for Lent, but delicious at any time of the year, in which tender, appetizing flakes of salmon are blended and baked with rice, eggs, and delicate spices. Simple to prepare, this casserole is inexpensively elegant and eminently satisfying as a main course for luncheon, dinner or supper. It may be made early in the day and heated half an hour before mealtime.

Salmon-Egg Casserole

¼ cup butter
1 medium onion, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon basil
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups milk
2 cups cooked rice
A 1-pound can salmon, drained flaked
6 hard-cooked eggs, quartered

In a saucepan melt butter. Add onion and celery and cook for 10 minutes. Stir in flour, basil, thyme, salt and pepper. Gradually stir in milk and cook over low heat, stirring, until sauce is smooth and thick. Arrange rice in bottom of a 2-quart greased baking dish. Top with salmon and eggs. Pour in sauce and bake in a preheated 350° F. oven for 25 to 30 minutes. If desired, serve with sour cream. Serves 6.

Week's Food Economies

Springtime, warm weather and the profusion of green growth with the new season makes meal planners seek the produce counters for ideas to perk up meals. Shop for quality produce as a substantial reduction in spring vegetable crop is indicated, however supplies are generally adequate on most items but prices reflect a certain amount of firmness, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland department of markets.

Fresh asparagus is a spring time delicacy to be enjoyed for a few short weeks. This vegetable is a luxury item in the diet most of the year but at this particular time it finds its way to the best-buy list. Some asparagus grown in Maryland is being cut now. New Jersey, which is the largest producing state in the east, is shipping asparagus to local markets. The peak of the eastern season usually is the latter half of May to early June. Look at the stems, the tips, and the base of the stalks. The stalks should be straight, plump, firm and brittle and a bright green. A white base on the stalk indicates a tough texture. Try to select stems green all the way down.

Sweet corn and tomatoes from Florida are in liberal supply with price tags that are attractive. White potatoes are in heavy supply and prices low. Prices are lower on cabbage, yellow onions and carrots.

Avocados are in generous supply. This fruit combines well with salad bowl items to make interesting texture.

The stacks of frozen orange concentrate are about 26 per cent larger than last year. Reduction in prices, both packer and retail, is stimulating sales of frozen orange juice.

Strawberries are the next fruit crop we look for from local and nearby areas. The present marketings are coming from North Carolina.

Supplies of canned peaches, pears and fruit cocktail are more than adequate. Watch for specials on these items for economical fruit servings.

The Muscovy duck is no Muscovite, but a native of Latin America.

Caper Sauce Adds Flavor

The fine flavor of pork chops is enhanced by the addition of a variety of ingredients which may be herbs, spices or fruits or vegetables.

The chops are dredged in flour and browned on both sides, then cooked with a small amount of liquid which includes a bouillon cube, chopped onion, prepared mustard and capers. To the sauce, thickened after the chops are removed, a half cup of dairy sour cream is added.

Pork Chops With Caper Sauce

- 4 rib or loin pork chops, cut 1 inch thick
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 bouillon cube
- ⅓ cup hot water
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon capers
- 1 teaspoon flour
- ¼ cup water
- ½ cup dairy sour cream

Dredge chops in 2 tablespoons flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season chops with salt and pepper. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot water. Add bouillon, onion, prepared mustard and capers. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes to 1 hour, or until done. Remove chops to a warm platter. Add 1 tablespoon flour to drippings and mix well. Add water and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Fold in sour cream and cook just until heated through. Serve sauce over chops. Yield: 4 servings.

LITTLE WOMEN

"She's got the kind of figure that'll turn to fat before she's thirty."

"What gets me is I would have clipped five minutes off my record from the office to home if I hadn't had the wreck."

Note On Kabobs

For kabobs (meat, vegetables and fruit threaded on skewers) for broiling choose food of approximately the same size so that it will cook in the same length of time. Meat suitable for kabobs includes cubes of lamb, cooked ham, tender steak, frankfurters and luncheon meat. Among vegetables are tomatoes, mushroom caps, green pepper cubes, precooked or canned tiny potatoes and onions. Pineapple chunks are also a popular addition.

Salting Tip

Salt steaks and chops after they are browned. Salt has a tendency to draw out moisture, which slows the browning process.

Ham Patties, Pineapple Party Dish

Sometimes it's a problem to select a main dish for a company dinner or luncheon. We want something a bit different, something attractive in appearance. Yet meals for guests should not be elaborate or time-consuming for then the pleasure of the occasion may be dimmed, at least for the hostess.

Another consideration in planning a company meal is that it should not make too great inroads on the food budget.

Party Ham Patties can be proudly served on any special occasion, for guests or family, and yet which is actually very economical.

Ground pork and ground ham are the ingredients which are formed into patties, then dressed up with pineapple slices and maraschino cherries. They are baked in a moderate oven in a liquid consisting of water, vinegar and brown sugar, with which they are basted to give them a most delicious flavor.

Party Ham Patties

- 1½ pounds ground ham
- 1 pound ground pork
- ½ cup soft bread crumbs
- ½ cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- 4 pineapple slices, cut in fourths
- 8 maraschino cherries
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup vinegar

Combine ham, pork, bread crumbs, milk and egg. Mix thoroughly. Shape into eight patties 1 inch thick. Top each patty with two pieces of pineapple and a cherry. Place on a rack in an open roasting pan.

Combine brown sugar, water and vinegar and boil five minutes. Pour over patties. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 45 minutes. Baste once or twice during baking. Yield: 8 servings.

Defrosting Meat

Frozen meat may be defrosted before or during cooking. It may be defrosted in the refrigerator or at room temperature before cooking, whichever is most convenient. Of course it will take longer to defrost it in the lower temperature of the refrigerator than in the kitchen. Allow approximately ½ to ½ again as long cooking time when cooking frozen roasts.

Note To Carver

A large roast is more easily carved if it is allowed to stand for about 20 minutes. Have the knife sharp and carve against the grain.

Veal Birds

Veal birds with vegetable stuffings are taste-tempting. Wrap servings of veal around carrot sticks, celery stalks and slivers of onion. Fasten with wooden picks. Brown the birds slowly, add ¼ to ½ cup liquid and simmer 45 minutes to 1 hour or until tender. Serve with sour cream gravy.

Piedmont Famous For Wine, Food

Torino, famed wine producing center and home of fine vermouth, also offers delicious gastronomic delicacies. Torino (Turin) is located in the Piedmont area of northwest Italy, a region of flower-decked meadows and vine-covered Alpine foothills. This is undoubtedly one of Italy's most beautiful provinces.

The specialists of Torino are simple dishes made exquisitely savory through the use of herbs. Among those characteristic of the area are: fonduta, a creamy cheese soup similar to Welsh rarebit but much more delicate, and of course "Grissini", the thin bread sticks known all over the world. Here where the soil is kind to grapes, Barolo, Barbaresco, Atsi Spumante and Vermouth, to name a few, are typical wines served daily in Piedmont homes.

It's easy and delightful to visit the Piedmont at your own table. You can get the necessary imported Italian ingredients at local markets. Here is a typical menu:

Vermouth
Grissini
Fonduta con Tartufi
Crostini (croutons)
Spinaci con Funghi
(Spinach with mushrooms)
Barolo Wine
Pesche in Asti Spumante

Fonduta alla Piemontese
(Cheese fondue Piedmont style)
1 lb. Italian imported Fontina cheese (or Swiss)
Milk to cover
6 egg yolks, well-beaten
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 truffle, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon butter

Grate cheese coarsely and place in top of double boiler. Add enough milk to cover. Add egg yolks. Place pan in hot water in double boiler. Use low heat. Stir mixture constantly until thickened and smooth. Blend in pepper. Stir in truffles and butter. Serve in individual dishes or chafing dish, with inch-square pieces of toast for dipping. Serves about 6.

Pesche in Spumante
(Peaches in Champagne)
4 large ripe peaches, or 8 caned peach halves, chilled
Sugar (optional)
1 cup Asti Spumante, chilled
Imported Maraschino cherries

Peel peaches. Cut lengthwise in thin slices. Place peaches in a glass serving bowl or individual sherbet glasses. Pour Asti Spumante over peaches and serve. Garnish with Maraschino cherries.

Exotic Chinese Casserole Utilizes Leftover Fowl

Leftovers often are the inspiration for some of our finest meals.

To prove it, here is a main dish recipe that utilizes the last remaining bits of cooked chicken left from your holiday feasting. Turkey or duck may be substituted for the chicken, of course.

This handsome, meal-in-one dish done in the Chinese manner, consists of water chestnuts, bean sprouts and cooked poultry or game served hot over chow mein noodles.

It makes a delightful luncheon or supper entree.

Chinese Chicken Casserole
(six to eight servings)
3 cups cold, cooked chicken, cut in pieces
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ cup finely cut green onions
1 cup finely cut celery
1 5-ounce can water chestnuts, drained, sliced thin
1 1-lb. can fancy bean sprouts, well drained.
½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds

Beef Flavor Enhances Vegetables

Many homemakers pride themselves on making use of every bit of the meat they buy. But sometimes they overlook the many ways by which the flavor of meat can be extended to other foods. Many vegetables take on greater appeal when they are cooked with meat or served with a tasty meat gravy.

A recipe for cooking pot-roast, using the basic method of braising, and adding vegetables is suggested by experts in meat cookery.

Mom's Pot Roast
3 to 4-pound beef blade pot-roast
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
3 tablespoons flour
3 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon leaf thyme
¼ teaspoon savory
¼ cup water
¼ cup vinegar
3 medium onions, sliced
6 carrots, whole
6 stalks celery, cut 3 or 4 inches long

Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge pot-roast in seasoned flour. Save remaining seasoned flour for gravy. Brown meat on all sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add thyme, savory, water and vinegar. Cover tightly and simmer 2½ hours. Add onions, carrots and celery and continue to simmer covered for 45 to 60 minutes, or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if desired. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Use Up The Leftovers

An old-fashioned recipe, Shepherd's Pie, is a delicious and satisfying way to make use of leftover meats.

As many thrifty homemakers have discovered, there is often a saving in time and money in the purchase of a roast or pot roast large enough to serve for more than one meal. Sometimes the leftover meat is sliced and served cold but often it is used in a hot dish.

In Shepherd's Pie, leftover potatoes and cooked peas may be used, or they may be cooked especially to combine with cooked meat.

Shepherd's Pie makes a good luncheon dish, easily and quickly prepared. It is equally substantial for supper or dinner. With its taste-tempting blend of meat, vegetables and gravy, it is also one which most youngsters will enjoy.

Shepherd's Pie
2 cups diced cooked beef, veal, lamb or pork
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups meat stock or bouillon
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup cooked peas
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes

Melt lard or drippings and blend in flour. Add meat stock or bouillon, stirring constantly until thickened. Season. Add meat cubes and peas and pour into a casserole. Tube or spoon seasoned mashed potatoes around edge of casserole. Place in a hot oven (425° F.) about 15 minutes or until potatoes are browned. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Surprise Muffins

Hidden Surprise Muffins are an easy variation of basic muffin batter. Spoon the batter into greased muffin tins filling them ⅓ full. Add a spoonful of jam and top with remaining batter. Bake as usual. For an extra flavor fillip, brush the tops of the baked muffins with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar.

Lunch Menu:

No Cover Needed

Veal Riblets Offer Thrift With Flavor

One test of a good cook is her ability to serve appetizing meals at a minimum of cost. A good way to accomplish this is to become familiar with the wide variety of meat cuts, many of them less demanded and therefore lower in price.

Veal is one of the most delicately flavored of meats and all cuts are tender. Among the economy cuts of veal are the riblets.

Although tender, veal riblets are best cooked in moist heat, since veal, because it is the meat of a young animal, is lacking in fat and may become too dry if broiled, although larger cuts may be roasted.

Here is a recipe which contains unusual flavor. It is savory veal riblets, and when prepared in this way is something to delight a gourmet.

Savory Veal Riblets

3 pounds veal riblets
⅓ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1½ teaspoons dry mustard
¼ cup lard
2 medium onions, sliced
2 cups water

Mix flour, salt, ginger and dry mustard. Dredge riblets in seasoned flour. Brown meat in lard. Pour off drippings. Add onions and water. Cover tightly and simmer 2 hours. Remove riblets and thicken liquid for gravy. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Meal In Itself

Here is a dish, suitable for Lent, but delicious at any time of the year, in which tender, appetizing flakes of salmon are blended and baked with rice, eggs, and delicate spices. Simple to prepare, this casserole is inexpensively elegant and eminently satisfying as a main course for luncheon, dinner or supper. It may be made early in the day and heated half an hour before mealtime.

Salmon-Egg Casserole

¼ cup butter
1 medium onion, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon basil
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups milk
2 cups cooked rice
A 1-pound can salmon, drained flaked
6 hard-cooked eggs, quartered

In a saucepan melt butter. Add onion and celery and cook for 10 minutes. Stir in flour, basil, thyme, salt and pepper. Gradually stir in milk and cook over low heat, stirring, until sauce is smooth and thick. Arrange rice in bottom of a 2-quart greased baking dish. Top with salmon and eggs. Pour in sauce and bake in a preheated 350° F. oven for 25 to 30 minutes. If desired, serve with sour cream. Serves 6.

Week's Food Economies

Springtime, warm weather and the profusion of green growth with the new season makes meal planners seek the produce counters for ideas to perk up meals. Shop for quality produce as a substantial reduction in spring vegetable crop is indicated, however supplies are generally adequate on most items but prices reflect a certain amount of firmness, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland department of markets.

Fresh asparagus is a spring time delicacy to be enjoyed for a few short weeks. This vegetable is a luxury item in the diet most of the year but at this particular time it finds its way to the best-buy list. Some asparagus grown in Maryland is being cut now. New Jersey, which is the largest producing state in the east, is shipping asparagus to local markets. The peak of the eastern season usually is the latter half of May to early June. Look at the stems, the tips, and the base of the stalks. The stalks should be straight, plump, firm and brittle and a bright green. A white base on the stalk indicates a tough texture. Try to select stems green all the way down.

Sweet corn and tomatoes from Florida are in liberal supply with price tags that are attractive. White potatoes are in heavy supply and prices low. Prices are lower on cabbage, yellow onions and carrots.

Avocados are in generous supply. This fruit combines well with salad bowl items to make interesting texture.

The stacks of frozen orange concentrate are about 26 per cent larger than last year. Reduction in prices, both packer and retail, is stimulating sales of frozen orange juice.

Strawberries are the next fruit crop we look for from local and nearby areas. The present marketings are coming from North Carolina.

Supplies of canned peaches, pears and fruit cocktail are more than adequate. Watch for specials on these items for economical fruit servings.

The Muscovy duck is no Muscovite, but a native of Latin America.

Plastic coverings on tillage equipment may end one of the oldest problems in farming — soil sticking to implements during tilling, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Torino, famed wine producing center and home of fine vermouth, also offers delicious gastronomic delicacies. Torino (Turin) is located in the Piedmont area of northwest Italy, a region of flower-decked meadows and vine-covered Alpine foothills. This is undoubtedly one of Italy's most beautiful provinces.

The specialists of Torino are simple dishes made exquisitely savory through the use of herbs Among those characteristic of the area are, fonduta, a creamy cheese soup similar to Welsh rarebit but much more delicate, and of course "Grissini", the thin bread sticks known all over the world. Here where the soil is kind to grapes, Barolo, Barbaresco, Atsi Spumante and Vermouth, to name a few, are typical wines served daily in Piedmont homes.

It's easy and delightful to visit the Piedmont at your own table. You can get the necessary imported Italian ingredients at local markets. Here is a typical menu:

Vermouth
Grissini
Fonduta con Tartufi
Crostini (croutons)
Spinaci con Funghi
(Spinach with mushrooms)
Barolo Wine
Pesche in Asti Spumante
(Peaches in champagne)
Fonduta alla Piemontese

(Cheese fondue Piedmont style)

1 lb. Italian imported Fontina cheese (or Swiss)
Milk to cover
6 egg yolks, well-beaten
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 truffle, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon butter

Grate cheese coarsely and place in top of double boiler. Add enough milk to cover. Add egg yolks. Place pan in hot water in double boiler. Use low heat. Stir mixture constantly until thickened and smooth. Blend in pepper. Stir in truffles and butter. Serve in individual dishes or chafing dish, with inch-square pieces of toast for dipping. Serves about 6.

Pesche in Spumante
(Peaches in Champagne)

4 large ripe peaches, or 8 caned peach halves, chilled
Sugar (optional)
1 cup Asti Spumante, chilled
Imported Maraschino cherries

Peel peaches. Cut lengthwise in thin slices. Place peaches in a glass serving bowl or individual sherbet glasses. Pour Asti Spumante over peaches and serve. Garnish with Maraschino cherries.

Time Saver

Separate ground beef during cooking with a potato masher when making chili, browning meat for casserole dishes, etc.

Beef Flavor Enhances Vegetables

Many homemakers pride themselves on making use of every bit of the meat they buy. But sometimes they overlook the many ways by which the flavor of meat can be extended to other foods. Many vegetables take on greater appeal when they are cooked with meat or served with a tasty meat gravy.

A recipe for cooking pot-roast, using the basic method of braising, and adding vegetables is suggested by experts in meat cookery.

Mom's Pot Roast

3 to 4-pound beef blade pot-roast
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
3 tablespoons flour
3 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon leaf thyme
¼ teaspoon savory
¼ cup water
¼ cup vinegar
3 medium onions, sliced
6 carrots, whole
6 stalks celery, cut 3 or 4 inches long

Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge pot-roast in seasoned flour. Save remaining seasoned flour for gravy. Brown meat on all sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add thyme, savory, water and vinegar. Cover tightly and simmer 2½ hours. Add onions, carrots and celery and continue to simmer covered for 45 to 60 minutes, or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if desired. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Surprise Muffins

Hidden Surprise Muffins are an easy variation of basic muffin batter. Spoon the batter into greased muffin tins filling them ⅓ full. Add a spoonful of jam and top with remaining batter. Bake as usual. For an extra flavor fillip, brush the tops of the baked muffins with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar.

Lunch Menu:

No Cover Needed

Use Up The Leftovers

As many thrifty homemakers have discovered, there is often a saving in time and money in the purchase of a roast or pot roast large enough to serve for more than one meal. Sometimes the leftover meat is sliced and served cold but often it is used in a hot dish.

In Shepherd's Pie, leftover potatoes and cooked peas may be used, or they may be cooked especially to combine with cooked meat.

Shepherd's Pie makes a good luncheon dish, easily and quickly prepared. It is equally substantial for supper or dinner. With its taste-tempting blend of meat, vegetables and gravy, it is also one which most youngsters will enjoy.

Shepherd's Pie

2 cups diced cooked beef, veal, lamb or pork
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups meat stock or bouillon
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup cooked peas
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes

Melt lard or drippings and blend in flour. Add meat stock or bouillon, stirring constantly until thickened. Season. Add meat cubes and peas and pour into a casserole. Tube or spoon seasoned mashed potatoes around edge of casserole. Place in a hot oven (425° F.) about 15 minutes or until potatoes are browned. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Exotic Chinese Casserole Utilizes Leftover Fowl

Leftovers often are the inspiration for some of our finest meals.

To prove it, here is a main dish recipe that utilizes the last remaining bits of cooked chicken left from your holiday feasting. Turkey or duck may be substituted for the chicken, of course.

This handsome, meal-in-one dish done in the Chinese manner, consists of water chestnuts, bean sprouts and cooked poultry or game served hot over chow mein noodles.

It makes a delightful luncheon or supper entree.

Chinese Chicken Casserole
(six to eight servings)

3 cups cold, cooked chicken, cut in pieces
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ cup finely cut green onions
1 cup finely cut celery
1 5-ounce can water chestnuts, drained, sliced thin
1 1-lb. can fancy bean sprouts, well drained.
½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds
1 6-ounce can chow mein noodles

Sprinkle chicken with lemon juice and soy sauce; cover, chill 2 hours or longer. Add remaining ingredients except almonds and noodles; mix well. Turn into greased 1½ quart casserole. Sprinkle almonds on top. Bake at 350 degrees for about 25 minutes. Serve on crisp noodles.

No Smoking

Obey the "No Smoking" sign when you heat fat to brown or fry meat if you want a perfect product.

Use a low-fat cottage cheese as a base for making dips for snacks. The flavor is delightful and calories are less.

Lambert Gets Nomination For Senate

PARSONS, W. Va.—J. Kenton Lambert of here appeared assured of succeeding Senator Dayton R. Stemple, Philippi Republican, in the State Senate from the 15th District.

Lambert won the Republican nomination Tuesday in a four-man race, defeating D. L. Sheppard of Buckhannon, Paul H. Rogers of Volga and Carl E. Weimer of Maysville, former state fire marshall. No Democrat filed for the Senate in this district.

Meanwhile, an all-Martinsburg contest was assured in November for State Senate from the 16th District. Senator Clarence E. Martin Jr. of Martinsburg gained Democratic nomination, defeating Delegate Kenneth W. Metz of Charles Town Tuesday in K. 1,240,437 Can Cast Votes In Md. Primary

BALTIMORE (AP)—There will be 893,751 Democrats and 346,686 Republicans eligible to vote for their candidates in next Tuesday's Maryland primary elections.

While the number of registered voters for both parties is higher than for the comparable elections in 1958, they show a decline from the 1960 general.

Party affiliation showed little change with the Democrats maintaining more than a 2-1 advantage. The number of registered Democrats fell 30,406 from the 1960 general while the Republicans have 25,406 fewer.

Registration in Baltimore, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Kent, Montgomery, Washington, Wicomico and Worcester counties as well as Baltimore City is less than two years ago for the November elections.

Queen Annes and St. Marys have fewer eligible voters than four years ago.

The total number of registered voters at this time is 1,268,891, but 28,454 of them will not be able to cast ballots next Tuesday because they declined to specify if they were Democrats or Republicans.

There were 1,329,279 registered last November and all were eligible to vote including the 32,532 who were not identified as either Democrat or Republican.

The total in the 1958 primary was 1,224,236 of which 27,625 were ineligible.

In only two counties, Allegany and Garrett, will the registered Republicans continue to outnumber the Democrats.

Braddock Got To Fort Here 207 Years Ago

Today is the 207th anniversary of the arrival of British General Edward Braddock at Fort Cumberland.

Thomas and Williams' History of Allegany County describes the event as follows:

"Crossing Will's Creek at the ford, which was a little southeast of the Fort, he (General Braddock) reached the latter about noon on the 10th of May, 1755, and was received with a thundering salute of 17 guns from the Fort, and the garrison drawn up in line ready for inspection."

General Braddock had been an officer in the Cold Stream Guards for nearly 45 years, having joined the army in 1710. He had won many promotions for gallantry and bravery. He left England on board the Norwich on December 21, 1754, and arrived at Hampton Roads, Va., on February 20, 1755.

With General Braddock's arrival the forces at Fort Cumberland numbered 2,190 men, according to the county history. The Fort stood where Emmanuel Episcopal Church now stands. Braddock's fatal march to the west began June 7.

Ballet Group To Appear At Local School

Les Grands Ballets Canadiens, hailed as "the most exciting company of young dancers on the North American continent today," will come here next season as one of five attractions to be presented by the Tri-State Community Concert Association.

They will appear at Fort Hill High School auditorium in their course of their second tour of the United States.

The company made its debut in this country in August 1959 at the mecca of ballet and modern dance of the North American continent—the famed Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival.

Next season the company's second American tour will be highlighted by a guest appearance in October on television's "Bell Telephone Hour" in which part of the ensemble will perform the immortal Pas de Trois from "Swan Lake."

George Balanchine, choreographer of the New York City Ballet, has given the company permission to re-create one of his ballets and its Canadian premiere will take place in Montreal this year.

Special Deputy Gets Thanks For Thoughtful Act

A Pittsburgh man who was befriended Sunday by a special deputy of Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein has written a letter of thanks to the Sheriff.

Charles L. Wyndham of 525 William Penn Place, Pittsburgh, wrote that his car was stranded on Martin Mountain for about an hour Sunday until Roy Hawkins of Flintstone, a special deputy, came along.

Mr. Hawkins drove the Pittsburgh man down to Flintstone where they obtained the services of a mechanic who made the necessary repairs so the car could continue westward to Pittsburgh.

Jewell Hurls 5-Hitter For Sentinels

Hardinger Paces Attack; Chaney's Homer Beats Aggies

Wayne Jewell tossed a five-hitter and fanned seven yesterday as he pitched the Fort Hill High Sentinels to a 5-1 triumph over Bruce High's Bulldogs in a County Baseball League game at Fort Hill. The win was the third in five starts for Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's defending champions.

Homer Hardinger paced Fort Hill's 11-hit assault against the Bulldogs with a double and a three-bagger while Jan Withrow collected a single and double and Jewell chipped in with a pair of singles.

Sentinels Tie Score

Bruce took a short-lived 1-0 lead in the opening inning, scoring on Donnie Raines' two-bagger. Fort Hill tied the score in the second when Homer Hardinger doubled home the tally. Singles by Harold Hardinger and Withrow plated two more runs in the third to give Fort Hill a lead it never relinquished.

Homer Hardinger's three-bagger opened the fourth and the first sacker scored on Cross's safe blow.

Raines had two hits for the Bulldogs who lost for the fourth time in five games.

Beall High's Mountaineers bounced back from their 14-1 loss earlier this week to LaSalle by edging Flintstone's winless Aggies, 4-2 yesterday at Frostburg.

Scores Fourth Win

The win was the fourth in five games for Coach Moose Arnone's Mountaineers while the Aggies have dropped four in a row this season.

Jim Diehl allowed only three hits in picking up his initial win of the campaign. He struck out 11 and walked three in going the route for Beall.

John Chaney's three-run homer in the third was the margin of Victory for the Frostburg nine. The long blast came after Tom Wilson reached first safely on an error and Jim Diehl singled.

Flintstone rallied for two runs in the fifth, the tallies coming on an error and a passed ball, but Diehl settled down to blanked the Aggies the rest of the way.

Throneberry Sold To New York Mets

CHICAGO (AP)—Marv Throneberry, 28-year-old first baseman-outfielder, was purchased by the New York Mets Wednesday from the Baltimore Orioles. Throneberry will report to the Mets Friday in time for the home game with Milwaukee.

At that time the Mets will have to lop off another player to stay within the 25-man limit.

Throneberry, originally a product of the New York Yankee farm system, was traded to Kansas City Dec. 11, 1959 in a multi-player deal that brought Roger Maris to the Yanks. The Athletics sent Throneberry to Baltimore, June 8, 1961 for outfielder Gene Stephens.

Rudolph Hurls Nats To 9-3 Win Over White Sox

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southpaw Don Rudolph paid off a quick trade dividend for the Washington Senators Wednesday night by pitching them to a 9-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Rudolph, who came to the Senators in a trade with Cleveland last Thursday, scattered eight White Sox hits — one of them Jim Landis' eighth homer of the year in the eighth inning.

However, the 30-year-old veteran, who was tried but found wanting many times by the White Sox, was supported by a vigorous 11-hit Senator attack that included two homers by Gene Woodling and another by Dale Long.

Wright Favored To Cop Western

34th Women's Open Event Begins Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Mickey Wright, the blonde Texan who puts Palmer-power into her drives, was the odds-on favorite to take the 34th annual Women's Western Golf Open beginning here Thursday over the sprawling Montgomery Country Club.

Miss Wright has never won the crown worth $7,500 in 10 tries. Last year the 27-year-old sweet-swinger from Dallas tied for third with Louise Suggs behind Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga. Miss Suggs has entered the tourney but may not be able to play because of illness.

Mickey is considered the present queen of the Ladies Professional Golf Association. So far this year she has captured six tournaments, including the Titleholders at Augusta, Ga. with her long drives and distance irons. Last year Miss Wright won 10 of 23 tournaments and finished in the first five in 18 events.

Expected to press Miss Wright is Patty Berg, the dean of the proettes from Chicago. Miss Berg banged in an eagle three on the 18th hole here five years ago to take top silver out of the hands of Wiffi Smith who was waiting confidently at the trophy table. Patty has won six Westerns.

Postponed By Cold

CHICAGO (UPI)—The game between the New York Mets and the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field was postponed Wednesday because of cold weather. The temperature was in the 40s.

Rec Softball Loop Resets Deadline To Enter New Teams

The Rec Softball League met last night and accepted six teams in the circuit for the coming year. The loop also moved its deadline for entry back until next Wednesday when it will meet again at 7:30 p. m. at City Hall.

Last night the circuit decided to use umpires in the Tri-State Association and elected Buck Frantz as umpire-in-chief.

The six teams entered for the coming season are Sports Shoppe, Bill Briner; Old Germans, Jim Dunn; Old Exports, Bob Shelley; Potomac Edison, John Crone; Post's Playground, Basil Williams; and Snyder's Grocery, Dave Lechliter. Several other teams have expressed interest in entering the loop which will be limited to 10 teams this season.

The playoffs will be the Shaughnessy type with the semi-finals and finals to be best-of-three series. The league will open play on May 21.

Entry fees, team rosters and player contracts of all teams must be turned in by next Wednesday's meeting.

Ridan To Work Out At Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ridan, the Kentucky Derby favorite who finished third, will work out at Washington Park Thursday and a decision may be made on whether or not he will run in the Preakness May 19.

A spokesman for trainer Leroy Jolley said it was not definite whether Ridan would work, but he might go on the track. If he does not work out, no attempt will be made to decide future plans.

1,240,437 Can Cast Votes In Md. Primary

BALTIMORE (AP)—There will be 893,751 Democrats and 346,686 Republicans eligible to vote for their candidates in next Tuesday's Maryland primary elections.

While the number of registered voters for both parties is higher than for the comparable elections in 1958, they show a decline from the 1960 general.

Party affiliation showed little change with the Democrats maintaining more than a 2-1 advantage. The number of registered Democrats fell 30,406 from the 1960 general while the Republicans have 25,406 fewer.

Registration in Baltimore, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Kent, Montgomery, Washington, Wicomico and Worcester counties as well as Baltimore City is less than two years ago for the November elections.

Queen Annes and St. Marys have fewer eligible voters than four years ago.

The total number of registered voters at this time is 1,268,891, but 28,454 of them will not be able to cast ballots next Tuesday because they declined to specify if they were Democrats or Republicans.

There were 1,329,279 registered last November and all were eligible to vote including the 32,532 who were not identified as either Democrat or Republican.

The total in the 1958 primary was 1,224,236 of which 27,625 were ineligible.

In only two counties, Allegany and Garrett, will the registered Republicans continue to outnumber the Democrats.

Braddock Got To Fort Here 207 Years Ago

Today is the 207th anniversary of the arrival of British General Edward Braddock at Fort Cumberland.

Thomas and Williams' History of Allegany County describes the event as follows:

"Crossing Will's Creek at the ford, which was a little southeast of the Fort, he (General Braddock) reached the latter about noon on the 10th of May, 1755, and was received with a thundering salute of 17 guns from the Fort, and the garrison drawn up in line ready for inspection."

General Braddock had been an officer in the Cold Stream Guards for nearly 45 years, having joined the army in 1710. He had won many promotions for gallantry and bravery. He left England on board the Norwich on December 21, 1754, and arrived at Hampton Roads, Va., on February 20, 1755.

With General Braddock's arrival the forces at Fort Cumberland numbered 2,190 men, according to the county history. The Fort stood where Emmanuel Episcopal Church now stands. Braddock's fatal march to the west began June 7.

Ballet Group To Appear At Local School

Les Grands Ballets Canadiens, hailed as "the most exciting company of young dancers on the North American continent today," will come here next season as one of five attractions to be presented by the Tri-State Community Concert Association.

They will appear at Fort Hill High School auditorium in their course of their second tour of the United States.

The company made its debut in this country in August 1959 at the mecca of ballet and modern dance of the North American continent—the famed Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival.

Next season the company's second American tour will be highlighted by a guest appearance in October on television's "Bell Telephone Hour" in which part of the ensemble will perform the immortal Pas de Trois from "Swan Lake."

George Balanchine, choreographer of the New York City Ballet, has given the company permission to re-create one of his ballets and its Canadian premiere will take place in Montreal this year.

Charles L. Wyndham of 525 William Penn Place, Pittsburgh, wrote that his car was stranded on Martin Mountain for about an hour Sunday until Roy Hawkins of Flintstone, a special deputy, came along.

Mr. Hawkins drove the Pittsburgh man down to Flintstone where they obtained the services of a mechanic who made the necessary repairs so the car could continue westward to Pittsburgh.

Palmer To Seek Third Straight Win In Colonial

$40,400 Golf Event Will Begin Today

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Muscular Arnold Palmer, master of about everything but the Colonial golf course, heads a field of 58 into the first round of the $40,400 National Invitation Tournament Thursday.

Palmer, the tour's leading money winner and holder of five current titles, will be seeking his third straight crown and a first-place paycheck of $7,000.

Winner of the Texas Open and the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions on successive weekends, the handsome Pennsylvanian is favored to make it three straight against the strongest field in Colonial's 17-year history.

The man with the fabled finishes moved into contention through 54 holes last year but wilted in the final round and wound up in a tie for sixth place, his best showing yet over the 7,112-yard, par 70 Colonial course.

He and Player, last year's leading money winner, move out in the second twosome behind Lloyd Mangrum and Byron Nelson, who traditionally cracks the first lick to open the 72-hole event.

Monbouquette Is Victim Of 7th Inning Outburst

Howard's Three-Run Double Decides Tilt; Ford Is Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Monbouquette's streak of 6 1-3 hitless innings was broken by rookie Tom Tresh's bunt single Wednesday and the New York Yankees followed up with four runs in the seventh for a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Monbouquette retired the first 13 Yanks to face him before he walked Yogi Berra in the fifth. Then he made Elston Howard hit into a double play.

The Yanks had no more baserunners until Tresh bunted a little fly ball over Monbouquette's head for the first base hit with one out in the seventh. Gary Geiger than dropped Roger Maris' liner for an error. Monbouquette struck out Mickey Mantle for the third straight time but walked Berra on four pitches, filling the bases.

Hal Johnson Threatens To Quit Title Bout

Dispute Over Purse Is Aired In Court

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)— NBA light-heavyweight boxing champion Harold Johnson threatened Wednesday to withdraw from his scheduled nationally - televised world title bout against Doug Jones of New York here Saturday night if his purse for the fight is held back by court order.

Johnson's threat came in a 3½ hour court hearing before Judge Eugene C. Alessandroni on a suit filed by manager Pat Olivieri for an injunction to hold Johnson's purse for the 15-round fight in escrow until a court decides their contract dispute next month.

Olivieri also sought an injunction to prevent Johnson from signing for any future fight without Olivieri's consent. Johnson testified in court Wednesday that his "new manager," George Gainford, had put up $2,500 in an agreement with Bubi Scholz for Johnson to engage in a bout in Germany for $50,000 in June.

Judge Alessandroni recessed arguments late in the afternoon and asked Pennsylvania Athletic Commissioner Alfred Kelin to try to negotiate an agreement with Olivieri and Johnson on the matter of Saturday night's purse.

Robinson Belts Grand-Slam Homer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Brooks Robinson tied a major league record with his second grand slam homer in two games Wednesday night as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Kansas City Athletics 6-3, ending a 4-game losing streak.

The 365-foot drive by Robinson barely cleared the left field fence which has been moved in closer to home plate this season. It capped Baltimore's 6-run rally in the second inning against loser Ed Rakow (3-2).

Milt Pappas (3-1) struck out 13 batters, including 5 of 6 during one stretch, and allowed 5 hits. He retired the last 16 batters in a row after the Athletics scored twice in the fourth on a walk, a single by Haywood Sullivan and a double by Dick Howser.

Jewell Hurls 5-Hitter For Sentinels

Hardinger Paces Attack; Chaney's Homer Beats Aggies

Wayne Jewell tossed a five-hitter and fanned seven yesterday as he pitched the Fort Hill High Sentinels to a 5-1 triumph over Bruce High's Bulldogs in a County Baseball League game at Fort Hill. The win was the third in five starts for Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's defending champions.

Homer Hardinger paced Fort Hill's 11-hit assault against the Bulldogs with a double and a three-bagger while Jan Withrow collected a single and double and Jewell chipped in with a pair of singles.

Sentinels Tie Score

Bruce took a short-lived 1-0 lead in the opening inning, scoring on Donnie Raines' two-bagger. Fort Hill tied the score in the second when Homer Hardinger doubled home the tally. Singles by Harold Hardinger and Withrow plated two more runs in the third to give Fort Hill a lead it never relinquished.

Homer Hardinger's three-bagger opened the fourth and the first sacker scored on Cross's safe blow.

Raines had two hits for the Bulldogs who lost for the fourth time in five games.

Scores Fourth Win

The win was the fourth in five games for Coach Moose Arnone's Mountaineers while the Aggies have dropped four in a row this season.

Jim Diehl allowed only three hits in picking up his initial win of the campaign. He struck out 11 and walked three in going the route for Beall.

John Chaney's three-run homer in the third was the margin of Victory for the Frostburg nine. The long blast came after Tom Wilson reached first safely on an error and Jim Diehl singled.

Flintstone rallied for two runs in the fifth, the tallies coming on an error and a passed ball, but Diehl settled down to blanked the Aggies the rest of the way.

Throneberry Sold To New York Mets

CHICAGO (AP)—Marv Throneberry, 28-year-old first baseman-outfielder, was purchased by the New York Mets Wednesday from the Baltimore Orioles. Throneberry will report to the Mets Friday in time for the home game with Milwaukee.

At that time the Mets will have to lop off another player to stay within the 25-man limit.

Throneberry, originally a product of the New York Yankee farm system, was traded to Kansas City Dec. 11, 1959 in a multi-player deal that brought Roger Maris to the Yanks. The Athletics sent Throneberry to Baltimore, June 8, 1961 for outfielder Gene Stephens.

The triumph enabled Corriganville to win the final series, 201 to 107, for a 94-point victory. Geneva Geiger paced the Auxiliary team with 27 points in last night's match. Irene Stevens was high for Ruth's with 12 points.

Rudolph Hurls Nats To 9-3 Win Over White Sox

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southpaw Don Rudolph paid off a quick trade dividend for the Washington Senators Wednesday night by pitching them to a 9-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Rudolph, who came to the Senators in a trade with Cleveland last Thursday, scattered eight White Sox hits — one of them Jim Landis' eighth homer of the year in the eighth inning.

However, the 30-year-old veteran, who was tried but found wanting many times by the White Sox, was supported by a vigorous 11-hit Senator attack that included two homers by Gene Woodling and another by Dale Long.

Allegany High School, leader of the Eastern Division in the Allegany County High School Baseball League, goes after its fifth straight victory today when it plays Valley High's Black Knights at 4 p.m., at Campobello.

Two Potomac Valley Conference games appear on today's slate. Keyser High, the league leader, plays Southern's Highlanders at Oakland while Romney High School's Pioneers entertain Fort Ashby's Eagles.

Hyndman High School's Hornets and Chestnut Ridge tangle today at Hyndman in a Bedford County League game. Chestnut Ridge copped the first game of this series by the score of 3-2. Hyndman will be making its ninth start of the season, having won one and lost seven.

Western Maryland Trounces American U.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Maryland, paced by Lane Klein's pitching and the hitting of Charley Walter, trounced American University 11-4 Wednesday in a Mason-Dixon Conference baseball game.

Klein, in posting his sixth triumph against one loss, permitted no runs until the eighth when the Eagles scored all their four counters. Walter drove in five runs with two doubles and a single. Roy Terry and Charley Brown also banged out three hits each for the visitors.

Wright Favored To Cop Western

34th Women's Open Event Begins Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Mickey Wright, the blonde Texan who puts Palmer-power into her drives, was the odds-on favorite to take the 34th annual Women's Western Golf Open beginning here Thursday over the sprawling Montgomery Country Club.

Miss Wright has never won the crown worth $7,500 in 10 tries. Last year the 27-year-old sweet-swinger from Dallas tied for third with Louise Suggs behind Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga. Miss Suggs has entered the tourney but may not be able to play because of illness.

Mickey is considered the present queen of the Ladies Professional Golf Association. So far this year she has captured six tournaments, including the Titleholders at Augusta, Ga. with her long drives and distance irons. Last year Miss Wright won 10 of 23 tournaments and finished in the first five in 18 events.

Expected to press Miss Wright is Patty Berg, the dean of the proettes from Chicago. Miss Berg banged in an eagle three on the 18th hole here five years ago to take top silver out of the hands of Wiffi Smith who was waiting confidently at the trophy table. Patty has won six Westerns.

Postponed By Cold

CHICAGO (UPI)—The game between the New York Mets and the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field was postponed Wednesday because of cold weather. The temperature was in the 40s.

Rec Softball Loop Resets Deadline To Enter New Teams

The Rec Softball League met last night and accepted six teams in the circuit for the coming year. The loop also moved its deadline for entry back until next Wednesday when it will meet again at 7:30 p. m. at City Hall.

Last night the circuit decided to use umpires in the Tri-State Association and elected Buck Frantz as umpire-in-chief.

The six teams entered for the coming season are Sports Shoppe, Bill Briner; Old Germans, Jim Dunn; Old Exports, Bob Shelley; Potomac Edison, John Crone; Post's Playground, Basil Williams; and Snyder's Grocery, Dave Lechliter. Several other teams have expressed interest in entering the loop which will be limited to 10 teams this season.

The playoffs will be the Shaughnessy type with the semi-finals and finals to be best-of-three series. The league will open play on May 21.

Ridan To Work Out At Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ridan, the Kentucky Derby favorite who finished third, will work out at Washington Park Thursday and a decision may be made on whether or not he will run in the Preakness May 19.

A spokesman for trainer Leroy Jolley said it was not definite whether Ridan would work, but he might go on the track. If he does not work out, no attempt will be made to decide future plans.

Jaipur Heads Field Of 10 In Withers Mile

NEW YORK (AP) — George D. Widener's Jaipur, the colt rated with the best chance of stopping Decidedly's quest for a 3-year-old triple crown, will head the line-up Saturday in the $50,000-added Withers Mile at Aqueduct.

Jaipur wasn't eligible for the Kentucky Derby, won by California-bred Decidedly last Saturday at Louisville. His owner elected to save him for the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico in Baltimore May 19, and the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes June 9 in New York.

Jaipur should be an odds-on choice in the Withers, which has been won by 11 horses who have doubled up with a Preakness victory. Jaipur easily defeated Sunrise County, Admiral's Voyage, Mister Pitt and Prego who were also-rans in the Derby in the $58,500 Gotham Stakes April 7 at Aqueduct.

Majors Cut Rosters To 25 Players

Milwaukee Sells Don McMahon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major league baseball clubs were trimming their rosters Wednesday with the teams limited to 25 players after the midnight deadline.

Several teams already were down to the player limit although each had been allowed to carry 28 men for the first 30 days of the season.

Milwaukee sold Don McMahon, veteran relief pitcher, to the Houston Colts of the National League in a straight cash deal. The transaction came as no great surprise because the 32-year-old McMahon told newsmen he wanted a change of scenery while he was involved in a holdout campaign last winter.

Casey Stengel pared the New York Mets' roster by optioning Sherman (Roadblock) Jones to the Syracuse farm of the International League. Jones, 26, had an 0-4 record with the Mets after showing promise in spring training. Last year with the Cincinnati Reds, Jones had a 1-1 record.

The Orioles made room for the return of pitcher Jack Fisher from the disabled list by selling first baseman-outfielder Marv Throneberry to the Mets in a cash deal. Throneberry will join the Mets in New York Friday. At that time the Mets will have to cut one player.

Ellis, 21 worked in four games and compiled a 1-1 record and an earned run average of 12.52.

Palmer To Seek Third Straight Win In Colonial

$40,400 Golf Event Will Begin Today

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Muscular Arnold Palmer, master of about everything but the Colonial golf course, heads a field of 58 into the first round of the $40,400 National Invitation Tournament Thursday.

Palmer, the tour's leading money winner and holder of five current titles, will be seeking his third straight crown and a first-place paycheck of $7,000.

Winner of the Texas Open and the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions on successive weekends, the handsome Pennsylvanian is favored to make it three straight against the strongest field in Colonial's 17-year history.

The man with the fabled finishes moved into contention through 54 holes last year but wilted in the final round and wound up in a tie for sixth place, his best showing yet over the 7,112-yard, par 70 Colonial course.

He and Player, last year's leading money winner, move out in the second twosome behind Lloyd Mangrum and Byron Nelson, who traditionally cracks the first lick to open the 72-hole event.

Monbouquette Is Victim Of 7th Inning Outburst

Howard's Three-Run Double Decides Tilt; Ford Is Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Monbouquette's streak of 6 1-3 hitless innings was broken by rookie Tom Tresh's bunt single Wednesday and the New York Yankees followed up with four runs in the seventh for a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Monbouquette retired the first 13 Yanks to face him before he walked Yogi Berra in the fifth. Then he made Elston Howard hit into a double play.

The Yanks had no more baserunners until Tresh bunted a little fly ball over Monbouquette's head for the first base hit with one out in the seventh. Gary Geiger than dropped Roger Maris' liner for an error. Monbouquette struck out Mickey Mantle for the third straight time but walked Berra on four pitches, filling the bases.

Fort Hill Wins Class A Junior High Track Meet

Little Sentinels Easily Defeat Allegany, 88-22

Winning every event except two relays, Coach Charley Lattimer's Fort Hill Junior High thinclads easily defeated Allegany Junior High to win the Class A county track meet title yesterday at Fort Hill stadium. The score was 88 to 22.

The triumph was the seventh straight for the Little Sentinels who are undefeated this season.

Allegany's two victories came in the Junior Unlimited Division where the 440 and 880-yard relay teams scored over Fort Hill. The Fort Hill 440 team was disqualified in its loss.

Vets And Caseys In RCL Feature

Rain wiped out two of the four games scheduled Tuesday in the Rocking Chair Softball League but the eight teams are hopeful of playing today.

The big battle is between the V.F.W., perennial champions, and the Caseys, who battled it out in the finals of the playoffs last season. Last season the Caseys held the Vets even in four games during the regular season, and in the playoffs the boys from Henry Hart Post took three out of four games.

The V.F.W.-Caseys game is set for Post Field.

Ritter A. C. plays Celanese A. A., at Celanese Field, Pittsburgh Plate Glass opposes C. & P. Telephone Company at Stitcher Field and the Loyal Order of Moose and B.P.O. Elks do battle at Allegany Field.

All games will get under way at 6:15 p. m.

Braves Plan Practice

Hal Johnson Threatens To Quit Title Bout

Dispute Over Purse Is Aired In Court

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)— NBA light-heavyweight boxing champion Harold Johnson threatened Wednesday to withdraw from his scheduled nationally - televised world title bout against Doug Jones of New York here Saturday night if his purse for the fight is held back by court order.

Johnson's threat came in a 3½ hour court hearing before Judge Eugene C. Alessandroni on a suit filed by manager Pat Olivieri for an injunction to hold Johnson's purse for the 15-round fight in escrow until a court decides their contract dispute next month.

Olivieri also sought an injunction to prevent Johnson from signing for any future fight without Olivieri's consent. Johnson testified in court Wednesday that his "new manager," George Gainford, had put up $2,500 in an agreement with Bubi Scholz for Johnson to engage in a bout in Germany for $50,000 in June.

Judge Alessandroni recessed arguments late in the afternoon and asked Pennsylvania Athletic Commissioner Alfred Kelin to try to negotiate an agreement with Olivieri and Johnson on the matter of Saturday night's purse.

Orioles Down Athletics, 6-3

Robinson Belts Grand-Slam Homer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Brooks Robinson tied a major league record with his second grand slam homer in two games Wednesday night as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Kansas City Athletics 6-3, ending a 4-game losing streak.

The 365-foot drive by Robinson barely cleared the left field fence which has been moved in closer to home plate this season. It capped Baltimore's 6-run rally in the second inning against loser Ed Rakow (3-2).

Milt Pappas (3-1) struck out 13 batters, including 5 of 6 during one stretch, and allowed 5 hits. He retired the last 16 batters in a row after the Athletics scored twice in the fourth on a walk, a single by Haywood Sullivan and a double by Dick Howser.

Stock Market Plummets On Wide, Heavy Selling

NEW YORK (UPI)—Widespread heavy selling battered an already deflated stock market Wednesday pushing the popular indicators to their lowest level in about 14 months. The loss erased another $6.3 billion from market values.

The Dow-Jones industrial average plummeted 9.20 to 654.70—its lowest level since the 655.60 of Feb. 24, 1961. This average has lost 16.50 points during three days of trading this week. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tumbled 0.91 to 64.26, its lowest point since March 16,1961.

A total of 1,278 issues were traded of which 884 declined and only 208 advanced. Of these 245 hit new 1962 lows and 12 hit new highs.

Steels weakened with U.S. Steel off 1¼ and Republic . In the chemicals DuPont tumbled 4¾, Eastman Kodak 2⅛, Union Carbide 2½, and Commercial Solvents 1⅞. Autos moved lower with Chrysler down 1¼ and Ford 1⅜.

Other blue chips to soften included American Can off 1⅜, American Telephone 2⅝, Swift 1¼, and Woolworth 1.

The D-J rails were off 1.40 chiefly reflecting a loss of 2 in Norfolk & Western. Utilities lost 1.43 reflecting partly a drop of 1⅞ in Consolidated Natural Gas and 1¾ in Houston Lighting.

Also checking in as a possibility for the mile and three-sixteenths race was Christiana Stable's Smart.

Greek Money, owned by Brandywine Stable and winner of the Chesapeake Stakes at Laurel, is expected to be given a tune-up in the Preakness Prep Saturday.

Jaipur Heads Field Of 10 In Withers Mile

NEW YORK (AP) — George D. Widener's Jaipur, the colt rated with the best chance of stopping Decidedly's quest for a 3-year-old triple crown, will head the line-up Saturday in the $50,000-added Withers Mile at Aqueduct.

Jaipur wasn't eligible for the Kentucky Derby, won by California-bred Decidedly last Saturday at Louisville. His owner elected to save him for the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico in Baltimore May 19, and the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes June 9 in New York.

Ten may start in the Withers, which is certain to produce several candidates for the Preakness, middle jewel of the elusive Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown.

Decidedly, owned by George A. Pope, Jr., of San Francisco, already is at Pimlico with other Derby colts awaiting the 1 3-16 miles Preakness.

Jaipur should be an odds-on choice in the Withers, which has been won by 11 horses who have doubled up with a Preakness victory. Jaipur easily defeated Sunrise County, Admiral's Voyage, Mister Pitt and Prego who were also-rans in the Derby in the $58,500 Gotham Stakes April 7 at Aqueduct.

Several days later Jaipur developed a bruised hoof, and missed the Wood Memorial, but is in top form again for the Withers.

Other possible Withers starters include Bruce Campbell's Dedimoud, Darby Dan Farm's Clover Leaf, Charles Engelhard's Nassau Hall, Greentree Stable's Cyrano, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Daddy R., Mrs. E. D. Jacobs' Lucky Uncle, Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Green Ticket, Gustave Ring's Stinson Beach, J. W. Rodgers' duc d'Or, and Tartan Stable's Western Warrior.

Majors Cut Rosters To 25 Players

Milwaukee Sells Don McMahon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major league baseball clubs were trimming their rosters Wednesday with the teams limited to 25 players after the midnight deadline.

Several teams already were down to the player limit although each had been allowed to carry 28 men for the first 30 days of the season.

Milwaukee sold Don McMahon, veteran relief pitcher, to the Houston Colts of the National League in a straight cash deal. The transaction came as no great surprise because the 32-year-old McMahon told newsmen he wanted a change of scenery while he was involved in a holdout campaign last winter.

McMahon had an 0-1 record, pitching only three innings for the Braves.

Casey Stengel pared the New York Mets' roster by optioning Sherman (Roadblock) Jones to the Syracuse farm of the International League. Jones, 26, had an 0-4 record with the Mets after showing promise in spring training. Last year with the Cincinnati Reds, Jones had a 1-1 record.

The Orioles made room for the return of pitcher Jack Fisher from the disabled list by selling first baseman-outfielder Marv Throneberry to the Mets in a cash deal. Throneberry will join the Mets in New York Friday. At that time the Mets will have to cut one player.

The Cincinnati Reds cut their roster to 25 by optioning rookie pitcher Sammy Ellis to San Diego, subject to recall on 24 hours notice.

Ellis, 21 worked in four games and compiled a 1-1 record and an earned run average of 12.52.

Chisox Top Nats In Second, 7-6

Darlene Hard Wins At Rome

Reaches 3rd Round In Tennis Tourney

ROME (UPI) — Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., and Donna Floyd of Arlington, Va., America's 1st and 10th ranked women players, advanced Wednesday to the third round of the Rome International Tennis Tournament.

Miss Hard, U. S. singles champion, had trouble in the middle set of her match with Francesca Gordigiani of Italy but recovered for a 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 second round victory.

Ronnie Barnes of Brazil and Martin Mulligan of Australia scored upset triumphs in men's singles. Barnes eliminated eighth-seeded Ingo Buding, of Germany, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3 while Mulligan ousted Italian Davis Cupper Orlando Sirola, 6-4 6-0, 6-1.

Wimbledon champion Rod Laver of Australia reached the fourth round with a four-set victory over Ecuador's Miguel Olvera, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

In Memoriam

In memory of loved ones, father, Charles Smith, April 7, 1943. Mother, Mary Smith, May 10, 1947. Brothers Joseph Smith, March 4, 1951, Richard Smith, Aug. 16, 1953. Sister Jennie Harris, Nov. 1, 1954. Husband, Jessie Yates, May 22, 1958.
God saw the road was getting rough,
And the hills were hard to climb,
He gently closed their loving eyes,
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
Their ever patient, worn out frames,
LINA YATES AND FAMILY.

Stock Market Plummets On Wide, Heavy Selling

NEW YORK (UPI)—Widespread heavy selling battered an already deflated stock market Wednesday pushing the popular indicators to their lowest level in about 14 months. The loss erased another $6.3 billion from market values.

Trading, which ran behind the tape many times during the day, piled up a total of 3,670,000 shares, 650,000 more than the previous session.

The Dow-Jones industrial average plummeted 9.20 to 654.70—its lowest level since the 655.60 of Feb. 24, 1961. This average has lost 16.50 points during three days of trading this week. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tumbled 0.91 to 64.26, its lowest point since March 16,1961.

A total of 1,278 issues were traded of which 884 declined and only 208 advanced. Of these 245 hit new 1962 lows and 12 hit new highs.

Steels weakened with U.S. Steel off 1¼ and Republic . In the chemicals DuPont tumbled 4¾, Eastman Kodak 2⅛, Union Carbide 2½, and Commercial Solvents 1⅞. Autos moved lower with Chrysler down 1¼ and Ford 1⅜.

Other blue chips to soften included American Can off 1⅜, American Telephone 2⅝, Swift 1¼, and Woolworth 1.

The D-J rails were off 1.40 chiefly reflecting a loss of 2 in Norfolk & Western. Utilities lost 1.43 reflecting partly a drop of 1⅞ in Consolidated Natural Gas and 1¾ in Houston Lighting.

In memory of loved ones, father, Charles Smith, April 7, 1943. Mother, Mary Smith, May 10, 1947. Brothers Joseph Smith, March 4, 1951, Richard Smith, Aug. 16, 1953. sister Jennie Harris, Nov. 1, 1954. Husband, Jessie Yates, May 22, 1958.
God saw the road was getting rough,
And the hills were hard to climb,
He gently closed their loving eyes,
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
Their weary hours, their days of pain
Their ever patient, worn out frames,

Area Praised For Part In Space Work

Dr. Bonner Speaks At C Of C Meeting

Residents of Cumberland were told last night they can be proud of the part they have already played in the exploration of space.

The statement was made by Dr. Lyman G. Bonner, director of development in the Explosives department of Hercules Powder Company, at the annual dinner of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

And the former ABL scientist predicted that Cumberland people will continue to be proud of their role in future conquest of space.

Dr. Bonner served for 11 years at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, beginning in 1944 when it was operated by George Washington University and remained as technical director when the rocket center was turned over by the Navy to Hercules for operation.

Praise ABL

In his talk, "Power for Space," he indirectly paid tribute to ABL by commenting that there are more spent cases from rockets made in this area floating in space than from the rest of the country.

"Space is close," he said, "but the road to it is uphill all the way," he said in commenting on the difficulties encountered by man in his desire to explore the universe.

He said early explorations of space in the next decade or two will be to the planets as trips to the moon may be "old hand by 1970."

It was the development of the rocket, with its built in supplies of fuel and oxydizer, he said, which makes it possible to contemplate the exploration of space beyond atmospheric limits.

Progress To Follow

Dr. Bonner took his audience on the possible course of an early exploratory mission in 1970.

The vehicle, he said, will be almost 400 feet high and weigh almost 15 million pounds and be capable of taking a three-man crew to a landing on a neighboring planet and bringing them safely back to earth.

The first stage, he said, may be an enormous solid propellant rocket, constructed on the launching pad, capable of moving the space vehicle on the first lap of its voyage. The next four stages would be of the liquid fuel type.

The trip began to become real as Dr. Bonner told how the vehicle would be placed in a "parking orbit" while calculations needed for the rest of the trip were made.

He predicted that following the course of early space exploration, vehicles will become more sophisticated as nuclear power is used for propulsion.

Principals At Chamber Dinner

Officials of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and their guests chat prior to the annual meeting last night in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. They are, left to right, C. M. Sanner, civic affairs chairman; Dr. Lyman G. Bonner, director of development for Hercules Powder Company, speaker for the dinner; J. William Hunt, retired editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, who received the civic affairs award; Karl W. Bachman, Chamber president, and C. S. Catherman Jr.

Earl Manges Only Delegate To GOP Parley

Committee Fails To Fill Slate

Allegany County Republicans are mighty thankful these days that Earl E. Manges, local attorney, took the trouble on the night of March 5 to trudge through the snow to the Court House and file his candidacy with the County Board of Election Supervisors as a delegate to the State Republican Convention just before the deadline.

No one else bothered to do it.

State election laws stipulate that whenever a political party lacks candidates for certain political offices it is up to the party's State Central Committee to fill the vacancies 15 days before the primary election.

There had been no candidates filing for the Democratic State Convention. As result, the Democratic State Central Committee met before April 30 and selected as delegates to the convention F. Patrick Allender, Baltimore Pike; Thomas G. Barton, Cresaptown; Edwin C. Hoffman, city; Simon F. Reilly, Midland; Mrs. Alice S. Ryan, Frostburg; William C. Walsh, city, and Edward V. Welsh, city.

However, apparently through an oversight, the Republican State Central Committee took no such action.

Matthew J. Mullaney, chairman of the County Board of Election Supervisors, explained yesterday that the board has no authority to waive the 15-day deadline for such filing of the names of convention delegates.

There is no doubt that Mr. Manges is properly qualified as a delegate. Mr. Mullaney believes it will be up to the credentials committee of the State Republican Convention to determine whether Mr. Manges will be able to cast only one vote for himself or seven, the total number to which Allegany County is entitled.

The significance of these state conventions lies in the fact that the nomination of candidates for state-wide office is determined by unit votes similar to the presidential electoral college. The candidates who carry Allegany County will be entitled to all seven of this county's unit votes. In a close race, nomination might hinge on whether Mr. Manges could cast one or seven votes for the candidates carrying this county.

J. William Hunt Given Civic Affairs Award

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night presented its second Civic Affairs Award to J. William Hunt, retired former editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times.

The award was presented by C. M. Sanner, chairman of the civic affairs committee, during the annual dinner meeting in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The plaque was presented before some 215 members of the club and their wives and guests on Mr. Hunt's 70th birthday. The citation noted his distinguished service to the citizens of the community.

In recounting Mr. Hunt's accomplishments, Mr. Sanner noted that he had sponsored the first concert program in the area, was the first secretary of the Cumberland Fair Association and was a charter member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

During his career, he sponsored the marbles tournament here for many years, was vice president of the city's Sesquicentennial and co-chairman of its Bicentennial celebrations.

He was the first editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, a post he held for 32 years.

Moved deeply at the honor, Mr. Hunt related a day's busy schedule in the life of a retired newspaperman. Included were requests for a Muisc Week editorial and for reviews of three stage productions.

Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, gave the invocation and the benediction.

Karl W. Bachman, president, welcomed guests and said "The Greater Cumberland Chamber of Commerce is on the move with Cumberland," adding the Chamber, as spokesman for the business community, has contributed to the area's progress.

Guests were introduced by C. S. Catherman Jr., toastmaster.

TB Seal Sale Gets $17,492 For 1961-62

The Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association has announced it received $17,492.14 during its 1961-62 Christmas Seal Campaign.

The figures on the seal campaign were included in the association's financial statement for 1961-62.

On March 31, 1961 the association had $254,255.01 and liabilities during the year totaled $15,064.63. A breakdown of the liabilities shows $4,514.35 went for health education; $622.47 for clinics; $780.84 for case finding; $361.55 for rehabilitation; $482.30 for administration; $4,382.13 for the seal sale drive, and $3,880.99 to the National and Maryland TB Associations for research.

As of March 31, 1962, the association had $26,682.52 on hand. This included the money received from the seal campaign and $9,190.38 from the general fund balance.

Money collected during last year's Christmas Seal drive was used to purchase file cabinets to be used for filing X-rays in the Allegany County Health Department and toward part payment for a "Collinator" for the Garrett County Health Department to assist in the protection of clinic patients.

Money also was used for ambulance fare for patients to Victor Cullen Hospital and for automobile transportation for other patients to TB hospitals. The association also supplied clothing to hospitalized TB patients. Support also was extended to the occupational therapy program at Mt. Wilson for the two county TB patients who are patients there.

Association funds also supported the mobile chest X-ray unit in the two counties in cooperation with the health departments, for research and for health education materials for doctors, nurses, hospitals, industries, students and others upon request.

Democrats Making Final Primary Plans

Rally Scheduled Friday Night

Members of the Tawes ticket campaign committee met yesterday to review plans on the final stages of the primary election campaign, according to Richard J. Stakem, chairman.

The final public rally of Democrats and their supporters will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 on the ground floor of the Knights of Columbus building, 13 North Mechanic Street here, Mr. Stakem said.

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan, candidate for that office on the Tawes ticket, will speak in behalf of his candidacy and for his running mates.

All county candidates will be introduced and several other Democratic leaders are scheduled to speak. Poll workers, poll watchers and checkers will receive their instructions and literature.

Decisions were made on several other projects to be completed before next Tuesday.

Members of the committee, along with local candidates who have endorsed Gov. J. Millard Tawes and his running mates on the state ticket, expressed confidence after the meeting that Tawes will easily carry this county. Reports from all sections of the county and from all precinct leaders indicate that there is unanimity among the party, Mr. Stakem declared.

Baltimore Street Is Resurfaced

County To Get New Chapter Of Purple Heart

Headquarters of the newly chartered chapter is Midland. Temporary commander is William Baer, Barton. Adjutant is Howard Marsh, Midland, and Robert Clise is trustee.

Adjutant Hacker said the local chapter is the sponsoring organization of the new unit, designed to provide a chapter in the Georges Creek Region for Purple Heart veterans. He stated 12 have already been signed to the new chapter, five more will be admitted Sunday and additional applications are being processed and accepted.

Contested Office:

Only Two Persons Seek County Treasurer Post

Although there will not be a primary election race for the position of treasurer for Allegany County, a contest is assured in the general election in November.

Seeking the office of treasurer is James W. Bishop, a Republican, and Carl H. Ruffo, a democrat from Frostburg.

A county treasurer is elected every four years and there are no specific requirements for the position, other than that a candidate must be a qualified voter in the county he is seeking to represent. His annual salary is $2,000.

The term of office for treasurer begins on April 1 after the November election and a treasurer must furnish a bond for $50,000 with the State of Maryland.

He is subject to removal from office by the County Commissioners for neglect of office or misbehavior in office. In the event of removal by death, resignation or otherwise, the power of appointments rests with the County Commissioners.

Treasurer's Duties

The treasurer is responsible for all bookkeeping and the maintenance of all records pertaining to the duties of the county commissioners. He also is required by law to make bank deposits of all monies received from every source.

Quarterly financial statements must be rendered to the county commissioners and these statements also must be published in one or more papers in the county.

A county treasurer must sign all checks issued for payment of obligations of the county which have been approved by the county commissioners, including all county payroll checks issued twice a month.

Books Open To Board

All books and records which come under the jurisdiction of the county treasurer are subject to examination at any time by the county commissioners, members of the grand jury or by any taxpayer in Allegany County.

There are no specific requirements for the job as treasurer and he is not required by law to spend any certain amount of time in his office.

The law does state, however, the treasurer's office be open daily from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and Allegany County exceeds this time limit by being open from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The office of the treasurer has four employes—an auditor, two bookkeepers and a stenographer—who handle the finances of the county. For the coming fiscal year the budget approved by the county commissioners amounts to $5,961,952.83.

Man To Face Jury Action

Richard Miller, 43, of RD 3, Bedford, Pa. who waived a preliminary hearing Monday before a Bedford justice of the peace on a charge of resisting arrest May 6 was taken to the county jail there in default of $500 bond pending action of the grand jury during the next term of court.

On Monday he pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Pennsylvania authorities who investigated the case in the Beans Cove section where Miller was reported to have been creating a disturbance along the highway.

Miller was sent to the county jail in default of $10 fine and court costs, according to police.

New Army Recruiter

SFC Jack Wheeler has assumed the duties of Army recruiter for Allegany County, stationed at the local Post Office Building. He replaces M/Sgt. Thomas C. Walbert who has been reassigned to Okinawa. Sgt. Wheeler, a native of Pittsburgh, has been in the Army 12 years, and was last stationed as a recruiter at Connellsville, Pa., for two years. Before being assigned recruiting duties he was an airborne combat engineer serving in four countries in Europe and in the states.

The Campaign:

Hume Declares Tawes Unfair To Hilgenberg

BALTIMORE (AP)—Democratic gubernatorial aspirant David Hume accused Gov. Tawes Wednesday night of blackening the name of the late William Hilgenberg, a former treasurer of the Democratic Party in Maryland.

Hume said Tawes now has confessed to political dealings with Baltimore political boss Jack Pollack, but "says that he refused Pollack's demand for patronage and further, he says, he gave the money to the campaign treasurer and blackens the name of William Hilgenberg, who died two years ago."

Tawes has admitted accepting money from Pollack, but said he turned the funds over to Hilgenberg "would have reported this and the record clearly shows that it was not reported.

"For thousands of Baltimoreans who knew Bill Hilgenberg well, I ask how much longer must this shame continue?" Hume asked.

Levin Hits Hume For Endorsing Goldstein

BALTIMORE (AP) — Marshall Levin, running for Democratic nomination to comptroller on the ticket headed by gubernatorial hopeful George P. Mahoney, denounced another candidate for governor Tuesday night.

Levin levelled his attack against David Hume, an independent Democrat running against Mahoney and Gov. Tawes. At the same time, Levin made indirect parries at his chief opponent in the May 15 primary — Louis L. Goldstein, who is running on the ticket headed by Tawes. Hume has endorsed Goldstein for the comptroller's spot.

"Does Mr. Hume know it was Louis Goldstein himself who, as state senator from Calvert County, introduced the bill which made slot machines legal in his own county?" Levin questioned.

Hume has been a staunch foe of slot machines and legalized gambling in the Southern Maryland counties. He has said he would do all he could to abolish gambling if he is elected governor.

Afro-American Backing Tawes

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Afro-American newspaper has endorsed the bid by Gov. Tawes for renomination in next Tuesday's Democratic primary election.

"The things the governor has done so far outweigh his omissions that his record should commend him to the voters," the newspaper said in a front-page editorial.

The editorial said Tawes was in "error not to have pushed harder for the public accommodations bill, but such a measure will be passed next time."

Because a poll of 4th District voters showed 36 per cent to be undecided, the newspaper said, "it is our obligation to say where we stand and why."

The endorsement could be crucial in the Negro areas of the district, where there are two full slates of candidates. The organization of Jack Pollack has endorsed the George P. Mahoney ticket. The ticket headed by Del. Verda Welcome, a candidate for State Senate, is backing Tawes.

Pollack Asks Some Questions

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore political boss Jack Pollack reiterated four questions Wednesday night that he had put to Gov. Tawes' campaign manager Herbert R. O'Conor last week.

Pollack, who has endorsed George P. Mahoney in the Democratic primary race for governor, asked O'Conor if it was not true that he (Pollack) had supported O'Conor's father in all his election bids.

"Did I not support your father for state's attorney, attorney general, governor and senator?" Pollack asked.

"Didn't your father speak about me in glowing terms and state that he would take my word over those of my severest critic?" he asked.

The younger O'Conor has been a severe critic of Pollack since the Baltimore politico endorsed Mahoney.

He refused comment on the questions.

Paper Company Wins Injunction Against Co-Op

Violence Is Banned, Pickets Restricted

A preliminary injunction against the Tri-State Pulpwood Cooperative Association Inc. was granted to West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company yesterday in U. S. District Court, Baltimore, by Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen.

The injunction was sought by the company on the basis that the association had acted illegally in preventing independent producers who hold contracts with the company from delivering pulpwood to its Luke mill.

A temporary restraining order directing the association to stop preventing deliveries of pulpwood to the Luke mill was signed by Judge Thomsen on April 30. The preliminary injunction, in effect, continues this order until August 27, when a hearing will be held to determine whether a permanent injunction should be issued against the association.

Restrictions Ordered

The court order, to which the cooperative agreed yesterday, prohibits any attempts by the association to induce pulpwood producers, other than its own bona fide members, not to sell or deliver wood to the company; prohibits violence and threats of violence; and restrict picketing activities.

Pickets cannot be posted within 100 yards of any entrance to any company property, or on the road leading from Maryland 135 to the Luke mill's woodyard at Beryl, W. Va.

The injunction bans any interference "with free and uninterrupted ingress to and egress from" any company property, and orders the association to refrain from "interfering with, molesting, obstructing or preventing the use by any producers . . . of any street, highway or any public or private way, or entering the premises of such producers for the purpose of threatening, intimidating or attempting to coerce" the producers not to do business with the company.

Judge Thomsen also ordered the association to send a copy of the injunction to each of its members.

Company Cites Concern

The company said in its request for the injunction that the activities of the association had caused it inconvenience and extra costs. The company also expressed concern that many of its normal suppliers had been involuntarily deprived of their source of livelihood by the association's acts, and that important sources of income for nearby communities had been destroyed.

David Carliner, attorney for the association, told Judge Thomsen that the organization is a legally organized agricultural cooperative and is exempt from some provisions of anti-trust laws. William H. Geppert, attorney for the paper company, said the association is violating anti-trust laws and is not a legitimate agricultural organization.

A windup of the parent-child study program for the 1961-62 school year will be a general workshop for leaders, participants and all other parents in the school community at the Cresaptown School on Wednesday, May 23, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county schools.

The program for May 23, which will run from 9:30 a. m. until 2 p. m., will be divided into four segments.

First, Miss Esther M. Carter, a visiting teacher, will summarize the last two years in the cultural or socialization area bringing together the basic concepts. Then, Glenn U. Hanna, another visiting teacher, will introduce the physical area for the program next school year. Thirdly, Eugene J. Hopkins, also a visiting teacher, will summarize the highlights of the workshop held recently with Dr. Daniel Prescott.

Finally, Mr. Higgins will summarize the highlights of Dr. Prescotts' television program, "High School Youth."

School principals are requested to notify Mr. Higgins' office on or before May 17 concerning the number of parents from each school expected so that Cresaptown can make proper arrangements for feeding them at lunch.

During the summer, the Pupil Personnel Department hopes to obtain consultant service from the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland to aid in training leaders for next school year's program in the physical area.

Area Praised For Part In Space Work

Dr. Bonner Speaks At C Of C Meeting

Residents of Cumberland were told last night they can be proud of the part they have already played in the exploration of space.

The statement was made by Dr. Lyman G. Bonner, director of development in the Explosives department of Hercules Powder Company, at the annual dinner of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

And the former ABL scientist predicted that Cumberland people will continue to be proud of their role in future conquest of space.

Dr. Bonner served for 11 years at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, beginning in 1944 when it was operated by George Washington University and remained as technical director when the rocket center was turned over by the Navy to Hercules for operation.

Praise ABL

In his talk, "Power for Space," he indirectly paid tribute to ABL by commenting that there are more spent cases from rockets made in this area floating in space than from the rest of the country.

"Space is close," he said, "but the road to it is uphill all the way," he said in commenting on the difficulties encountered by man in his desire to explore the universe.

He said early explorations of space in the next decade or two will be to the planets as trips to the moon may be "old hand by 1970."

It was the development of the rocket, with its built in supplies of fuel and oxydizer, he said, which makes it possible to contemplate the exploration of space beyond atmospheric limits.

Progress To Follow

Dr. Bonner took his audience on the possible course of an early exploratory mission in 1970.

The vehicle, he said, will be almost 400 feet high and weigh almost 15 million pounds and be capable of taking a three-man crew to a landing on a neighboring planet and bringing them safely back to earth.

The first stage, he said, may be an enormous solid propellant rocket, constructed on the launching pad, capable of moving the space vehicle on the first lap of its voyage. The next four stages would be of the liquid fuel type.

The trip began to become real as Dr. Bonner told how the vehicle would be placed in a "parking orbit" while calculations needed for the rest of the trip were made.

He predicted that following the course of early space exploration, vehicles will become more sophisticated as nuclear power is used for propulsion.

Principals At Chamber Dinner

Officials of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and their guests chat prior to the annual meeting last night in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. They are, left to right, C. M. Sanner, civic affairs chairman; Dr. Lyman G. Bonner, director of development for Hercules Powder Company, speaker for the dinner; J. William Hunt, retired editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, who received the civic affairs award; Karl W. Bachman, Chamber president, and C. S. Catherman Jr.

Earl Manges Only Delegate To GOP Parley

Committee Fails To Fill Slate

Allegany County Republicans are mighty thankful these days that Earl E. Manges, local attorney, took the trouble on the night of March 5 to trudge through the snow to the Court House and file his candidacy with the County Board of Election Supervisors as a delegate to the State Republican Convention just before the deadline.

No one else bothered to do it.

State election laws stipulate that whenever a political party lacks candidates for certain political offices it is up to the party's State Central Committee to fill the vacancies 15 days before the primary election.

There had been no candidates filing for the Democratic State Convention. As result, the Democratic State Central Committee met before April 30 and selected as delegates to the convention F. Patrick Allender, Baltimore Pike; Thomas G. Barton, Cresaptown; Edwin C. Hoffman, city; Simon F. Reilly, Midland; Mrs. Alice S. Ryan, Frostburg; William C. Walsh, city, and Edward V. Welsh, city.

However, apparently through an oversight, the Republican State Central Committee took no such action.

Matthew J. Mullaney, chairman of the County Board of Election Supervisors, explained yesterday that the board has no authority to waive the 15-day deadline for such filing of the names of convention delegates.

There is no doubt that Mr. Manges is properly qualified as a delegate. Mr. Mullaney believes it will be up to the credentials committee of the State Republican Convention to determine whether Mr. Manges will be able to cast only one vote for himself or seven, the total number to which Allegany County is entitled.

The significance of these state conventions lies in the fact that the nomination of candidates for state-wide office is determined by unit votes similar to the presidential electoral college. The candidates who carry Allegany County will be entitled to all seven of this county's unit votes. In a close race, nomination might hinge on whether Mr. Manges could cast one or seven votes for the candidates carrying this county.

J. William Hunt Given Civic Affairs Award

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce last night presented its second Civic Affairs Award to J. William Hunt, retired former editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times.

The award was presented by C. M. Sanner, chairman of the civic affairs committee, during the annual dinner meeting in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The plaque was presented before some 215 members of the club and their wives and guests on Mr. Hunt's 70th birthday. The citation noted his distinguished service to the citizens of the community.

In recounting Mr. Hunt's accomplishments, Mr. Sanner noted that he had sponsored the first concert program in the area, was the first secretary of the Cumberland Fair Association and was a charter member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

During his career, he sponsored the marbles tournament here for many years, was vice president of the city's Sesquicentennial and co-chairman of its Bicentennial celebrations.

He was the first editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, a post he held for 32 years.

Moved deeply at the honor, Mr. Hunt related a day's busy schedule in the life of a retired newspaperman. Included were requests for a Muisc Week editorial and for reviews of three stage productions.

Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, gave the invocation and the benediction.

Karl W. Bachman, president, welcomed guests and said "The Greater Cumberland Chamber of Commerce is on the move with Cumberland," adding the Chamber, as spokesman for the business community, has contributed to the area's progress.

Guests were introduced by C. S. Catherman Jr., toastmaster.

TB Seal Sale Gets $17,492 For 1961-62

The Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association has announced it received $17,492.14 during its 1961-62 Christmas Seal Campaign.

The figures on the seal campaign were included in the association's financial statement for 1961-62.

On March 31, 1961 the association had $254,255.01 and liabilities during the year totaled $15,064.63. A breakdown of the liabilities shows $4,514.35 went for health education; $622.47 for clinics; $780.84 for case finding; $361.55 for rehabilitation; $482.30 for administration; $4,382.13 for the seal sale drive, and $3,880.99 to the National and Maryland TB Associations for research.

As of March 31, 1962, the association had $26,682.52 on hand. This included the money received from the seal campaign and $9,190.38 from the general fund balance.

Money collected during last year's Christmas Seal drive was used to purchase file cabinets to be used for filing X-rays in the Allegany County Health Department and toward part payment for a "Collinator" for the Garrett County Health Department to assist in the protection of clinic patients.

Money also was used for ambulance fare for patients to Victor Cullen Hospital and for automobile transportation for other patients to TB hospitals. The association also supplied clothing to hospitalized TB patients. Support also was extended to the occupational therapy program at Mt. Wilson for the two county TB patients who are patients there.

Association funds also supported the mobile chest X-ray unit in the two counties in cooperation with the health departments, for research and for health education materials for doctors, nurses, hospitals, industries, students and others upon request.

Democrats Making Final Primary Plans

Rally Scheduled Friday Night

Members of the Tawes ticket campaign committee met yesterday to review plans on the final stages of the primary election campaign, according to Richard J. Stakem, chairman.

The final public rally of Democrats and their supporters will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 on the ground floor of the Knights of Columbus building, 13 North Mechanic Street here, Mr. Stakem said.

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan, candidate for that office on the Tawes ticket, will speak in behalf of his candidacy and for his running mates.

All county candidates will be introduced and several other Democratic leaders are scheduled to speak. Poll workers, poll watchers and checkers will receive their instructions and literature.

Decisions were made on several other projects to be completed before next Tuesday.

Members of the committee, along with local candidates who have endorsed Gov. J. Millard Tawes and his running mates on the state ticket, expressed confidence after the meeting that Tawes will easily carry this county. Reports from all sections of the county and from all precinct leaders indicate that there is unanimity among the party, Mr. Stakem declared.

Street Paving Ordinances To Be Introduced

Ordinances calling for the improvement of three streets bounding Jane Frazier Village will be introduced at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Plans for the work were made this week as city officials met with representatives of the Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland.

The ordinances will call for the grading, draining and paving of these streets:

East First Street, from Memorial Avenue to Somerville Avenue; Memorial Avenue, from First Street to a point 122 feet south of its intersection with Second Street, and Somerville Avenue, from First Street to 200 feet south of the intersection with Second Street.

The projects will include the improvement of over 1,800 feet of street.

School principals are requested to notify Mr. Higgins' office on or before May 17 concerning the number of parents from each school expected so that Cresaptown can make proper arrangements for feeding them at lunch.

During the summer, the Pupil Personnel Department hopes to obtain consultant service from the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland to aid in training leaders for next school year's program in the physical area.

New Army Recruiter

SFC Jack Wheeler has assumed the duties of Army recruiter for Allegany County, stationed at the local Post Office Building. He replaces M/Sgt. Thomas C. Walbert who has been reassigned to Okinawa. Sgt. Wheeler, a native of Pittsburgh, has been in the Army 12 years, and was last stationed as a recruiter at Connellsville, Pa., for two years. Before being assigned recruiting duties he was an airborne combat engineer serving in four countries in Europe and in the states.

Contested Office:

Only Two Persons Seek County Treasurer Post

This is the eighth in a series of articles on some of the most important offices that will be at stake in this year's elections.

Although there will not be a primary election race for the position of treasurer for Allegany County, a contest is assured in the general election in November.

Seeking the office of treasurer is James W. Bishop, a Republican, and Carl H. Ruffo, a democrat from Frostburg.

A county treasurer is elected every four years and there are no specific requirements for the position, other than that a candidate must be a qualified voter in the county he is seeking to represent. His annual salary is $2,000.

The term of office for treasurer begins on April 1 after the November election and a treasurer must furnish a bond for $50,000 with the State of Maryland.

He is subject to removal from office by the County Commissioners for neglect of office or misbehavior in office. In the event of removal by death, resignation or otherwise, the power of appointments rests with the County Commissioners.

Treasurer's Duties

The treasurer is responsible for all bookkeeping and the maintenance of all records pertaining to the duties of the county commissioners. He also is required by law to make bank deposits of all monies received from every source.

Quarterly financial statements must be rendered to the county commissioners and these statements also must be published in one or more papers in the county.

A county treasurer must sign all checks issued for payment of obligations of the county which have been approved by the county commissioners, including all county payroll checks issued twice a month.

Books Open To Board

All books and records which come under the jurisdiction of the county treasurer are subject to examination at any time by the county commissioners, members of the grand jury or by any taxpayer in Allegany County.

There are no specific requirements for the job as treasurer and he is not required by law to spend any certain amount of time in his office.

The law does state, however, the treasurer's office be open daily from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and Allegany County exceeds this time limit by being open from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The office of the treasurer has four employes—an auditor, two bookkeepers and a stenographer —who handle the finances of the county. For the coming fiscal year the budget approved by the county commissioners amounts to $5,961,952.83.

Man To Face Jury Action

Richard Miller, 43, of RD 3, Bedford, Pa. who waived a preliminary hearing Monday before a Bedford justice of the peace on a charge of resisting arrest May 6 was taken to the county jail there in default of $500 bond pending action of the grand jury during the next term of court.

On Monday he pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Pennsylvania authorities who investigated the case in the Beans Cove section where Miller was reported to have been creating a disturbance along the highway.

Miller was sent to the county jail in default of $10 fine and court costs, according to police.

The Campaign:

Hume Declares Tawes Unfair To Hilgenberg

BALTIMORE (AP)—Democratic gubernatorial aspirant David Hume accused Gov. Tawes Wednesday night of blackening the name of the late William Hilgenberg, a former treasurer of the Democratic Party in Maryland.

Hume said Tawes now has confessed to political dealings with Baltimore political boss Jack Pollack, but "says that he refused Pollack's demand for patronage and further, he says, he gave the money to the campaign treasurer and blackens the name of William Hilgenberg, who died two years ago."

Tawes has admitted accepting money from Pollack, but said he turned the funds over to Hilgenberg "would have reported this and the record clearly shows that it was not reported.

"For thousands of Baltimoreans who knew Bill Hilgenberg well, I ask how much longer must this shame continue?" Hume asked.

Levin Hits Hume For Endorsing Goldstein

BALTIMORE (AP) — Marshall Levin, running for Democratic nomination to comptroller on the ticket headed by gubernatorial hopeful George P. Mahoney, denounced another candidate for governor Tuesday night.

Levin levelled his attack against David Hume, an independent Democrat running against Mahoney and Gov. Tawes. At the same time, Levin made indirect parries at his chief opponent in the May 15 primary — Louis L. Goldstein, who is running on the ticket headed by Tawes. Hume has endorsed Goldstein for the comptroller's spot.

"Does Mr. Hume know it was Louis Goldstein himself who, as state senator from Calvert County, introduced the bill which made slot machines legal in his own county?" Levin questioned.

Hume has been a staunch foe of slot machines and legalized gambling in the Southern Maryland counties. He has said he would do all he could to abolish gambling if he is elected governor.

Afro-American Backing Tawes

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Afro-American newspaper has endorsed the bid by Gov. Tawes for renomination in next Tuesday's Democratic primary election.

"The things the governor has done so far outweigh his omissions that his record should commend him to the voters," the newspaper said in a front-page editorial.

The editorial said Tawes was in "error not to have pushed harder for the public accommodations bill, but such a measure will be passed next time."

Because a poll of 4th District voters showed 36 per cent to be undecided, the newspaper said, "it is our obligation to say where we stand and why."

The endorsement could be crucial in the Negro areas of the district, where there are two full slates of candidates. The organization of Jack Pollack has endorsed the George P. Mahoney ticket. The ticket headed by Del. Verda Welcome, a candidate for State Senate, is backing Tawes.

Pollack Asks Some Questions

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore political boss Jack Pollack reiterated four questions Wednesday night that he had put to Gov. Tawes' campaign manager Herbert R. O'Conor last week.

Pollack, who has endorsed George P. Mahoney in the Democratic primary race for governor, asked O'Conor if it was not true that he (Pollack) had supported O'Conor's father in all his election bids.

"Did I not support your father for state's attorney, attorney general, governor and senator?" Pollack asked.

"Didn't your father speak about me in glowing terms and state that he would take my word over those of my severest critic?" he asked.

The younger O'Conor has been a severe critic of Pollack since the Baltimore politico endorsed Mahoney.

He refused comment on the questions.

Violence Is Banned, Pickets Restricted

A preliminary injunction against the Tri-State Pulpwood Cooperative Association Inc. was granted to West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company yesterday in U. S. District Court, Baltimore, by Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen.

The injunction was sought by the company on the basis that the association had acted illegally in preventing independent producers who hold contracts with the company from delivering pulpwood to its Luke mill.

A temporary restraining order directing the association to stop preventing deliveries of pulpwood to the Luke mill was signed by Judge Thomsen on April 30. The preliminary injunction, in effect, continues this order until August 27, when a hearing will be held to determine whether a permanent injunction should be issued against the association.

Restrictions Ordered

The court order, to which the cooperative agreed yesterday, prohibits any attempts by the association to induce pulpwood producers, other than its own bona fide members, not to sell or deliver wood to the company; prohibits violence and threats of violence; and restrict picketing activities.

Pickets cannot be posted within 100 yards of any entrance to any company property, or on the road leading from Maryland 135 to the Luke mill's woodyard at Beryl, W. Va.

The injunction bans any interference "with free and uninterrupted ingress to and egress from" any company property, and orders the association to refrain from "interfering with, molesting, obstructing or preventing the use by any producers . . . of any street, highway or any public or private way, or entering the premises of such producers for the purpose of threatening, intimidating or attempting to coerce" the producers not to do business with the company.

Judge Thomsen also ordered the association to send a copy of the injunction to each of its members.

Company Cites Concern

The company said in its request for the injunction that the activities of the association had caused it inconvenience and extra costs. The company also expressed concern that many of its normal suppliers had been involuntarily deprived of their source of livelihood by the association's acts, and that important sources of income for nearby communities had been destroyed.

David Carliner, attorney for the association, told Judge Thomsen that the organization is a legally organized agricultural cooperative and is exempt from some provisions of anti-trust laws. William H. Geppert, attorney for the paper company, said the association is violating anti-trust laws and is not a legitimate agricultural organization.
